There are two ſorts of them, the one call'd Pacos, which are woolly, the others are ſmoother, but better for Burden. They are all bigger than our largeſt Sheep, and ſomewhat leſs than large Calves, their Neck is long like a Camel's, and they have need of it to graze, being very tall. Some are quite white, others quite black, others grey. Their Lambs are the beſt Meat in the World. Theſe Sheep are drove in Flocks of 100, 500, or 1000 together, like Pack-Horſes, with their Loads of all ſorts of Commodities; and it is they that carry all the Silver from the Mines of Potoſi to Arica, which is 70 Leagues; and formerly they carry'd it to Arequipa, which is 150 Leagues. Every Sheep commonly carries about an hundred Weight, or an hundred and a half; but if they are to travel far, they go but 2, 3, or at moſt 4 Leagues a day; if it be but for one day's Journey, one of theſe Sheep will carry two hundred Weight, or more, and will travel between 8 and 10 Leagues. They naturally affect Cold, and therefore live moſt on the Mountains, and die often with Heat in the Plains. The ſmooth Sheep will ſometimes ſtop on a ſudden, and ſtand a long time gazing a Man in the Face, that it will make one laugh to ſee them; but now and then they will take a fright, and run away to the Mountain, ſo that not being able to overtake them, they are forc'd, for fear of looſing the Plate, to ſhoot them. The Pacos, or woolly Sheep ſometimes take pet under their Burden, and lye down, and then they may kill them ſooner than make them riſe. The way the Indians uſe to get them up, is to ſtop, and ſitting down by them, to ſtroke, and make much of them till their Anger is over, which is ſometimes two or three hours. *F. Joſ. Acoſt. Nat. Prov. La buéna Mádre no díze quiéres, A good Mother does not ſay will you have this, that is, good generous People, if they deſign to give any thing, muſt not ask whether they will have it, but give without asking.

Prov. Mádre, y bíja víſten úna camíſa, The Mother and the Daughter wear, the ſame Shift, that is, they are both alike, they have both the ſame Qualities, ſignify'd by the Shift that is next to them. Or as we ſay, Like Mother, like Daughter; like Maſter, like Man.

Prov. Mádre no viſte, pádre no tuviſte, diáblo te bizíſte, You ſaw no Mother, you had no Father, and you became a Devil. A Saying of Baſtards, who ſometimes never ſee their Mothers, being put out to nurſe as ſoon as born, to ſave Reputation, and never know their Father, who is aſham'd to own them; and therefore having no Parents to breed them up, their Education is lewd, and they become Devils.

Prov. Mádre Ardída háze bija tullída, A buſy Mother makes a lame Daughter. When a Mother does every thing, and lets her Daughter ſit idle, ſhe makes her fit for nothing, which is as bad as being lame. The ſame is ſaid of Maſters who keep idle Servants, and do their Buſineſs themſelves; and of Maſters who ask their Scholars Queſtions, and anſwer themſelves.

Prov. Mádre piadósa cría bíja merdósa, A tender Mother breeds a naſty Daughter, becauſe, when ſhe is an Infant, ſhe will not waſh and clean her for fear ſhe ſhould cry, and when grown up, ſhe will not ſuffer her to put her hand to any thing, and by that means ſhe grows lazy, and conſequently a Slut.

Prov. Quién tiéne Mádre muéraſele tárde, May he who has a Mother be long before he louſes her, becauſe Mothers are moſt tender in their Affections, and always ſtudying their Childrens good, therefore the Proverb wiſhes them long Life for the benefit of their Children.

Prov. Traſſegálla porqué no ſepa a la mádre, Rack her off that ſhe may not taſte of the Mother. This Advice, one young Man gave to another who had complain'd to him that his Wife had many ill Habits which ſhe had learn'd of her Mother. The Husband underſtood it not, till one day he ſaw him rack off his Wines, and turn them out of one Cask into another, ſtill leaving the Lees behind, when perceiving his meaning, he went home and remov'd houſe far from his Wife's Mother and Acquaintance, and then found he could manage her, and ſhe ſoon forgot all the Ill her Mother and others taught her. It is good Advice in general to remove all Youth from that Company that teaches them any Ill.

Prov. Váſe mi Mádre, maldya quién mas hiláre o Púta ſéa quién mas hiláre. My Mother is going, a Curſe on her that will ſpin any longer. Or may ſhe be a Whore who ſpins any longer. This they ſay to ſuch as will not work or mind Buſineſs any longer than there are Eyes over them.

Prov. Quién mádre tiéne en villa, ſiéte vézes ſe amortéce cáda día. She that has a Mother in the Town ſwoons away Seven times a day. This they ſay of lazy Wenches, who are put out to Service, and pretend Sickneſs and fainting Fits that their Mothers may take them home; and of impertinent young Wives, who when their Husbands diſpleaſe them pretend Indiſpoſition, that their Mothers may be ſent for.

Prov. Quién no tiéne mádre, no tiéne quién le láve, o le alábe. He who has no Mother has no Body to waſh him, or praiſe him. This is only to denote the great Tenderneſs of Mothers, for no Body does ſo praiſe, or ſerve Children as good Mothers do.

Maguey, is the Tree of Wonders, for it yields Water, Wine, Oyl, Vinegar, Honey, a ſort of Muſt like that of New Wine boyl'd, Thread and Needles, beſides many other things. It is therefore much valu'd in New-Spain, and grows Wild, and is alſo cultivated. The Leaves of it are broad and courſe, ending in a ſharp, ſtrong Point, which ſerves either for a Pin, or to ſew with, and this is the Needle; and from the Leaf they draw out Threads, which are its Fibres. The Body or Trunk of the Tree being large, when it is young and tender, they cut a Hollow in it, to which the Sap or Moiſture riſes from the Root, and this they drink inſtead of Water, being cool and ſweet; this Liquor boyl'd, is like Wine, letting it ſour, it ſerves for Vinegar. Being boyl'd to a Conſiſtence it is Honey, and half boyl'd it is like the Muſt above mention'd, well taſted and wholſome, and in my opinion better than that which is made of Grapes. So that according as they boyl it there comes from it ſeveral ſorts of Liquors, and the Quantity the Tree yields is great, as ſeveral Quarts every Day for ſome time. Maná, the kind, eaſy, and medicinal Manna found in the Province of Uſbeck in Perſia, and thence ſent to Ormuz, and all over India. There are five ſorts of it in those Parts, one white, small, in Grains like Comfits, and sweet as Honey, and this, some say, is a Dew that falls on those Trees, whence they gather it, and they keep it in Glass-Vessels well stopp'd from the Air. Others say, it is a Gum coming from the same Tree. Another sort, they say, grows on Thistles, whence they draw it, beating them with Staves; it is of a ruddy Colour, and of the bigness of a Coriander-Seed. This, some think to be the Fruit, others, the Gum of those Thistles; and the Persians reckon it better and wholsomer than the other. The third sort is in bigger pieces, and mix'd with some Leaves, white, and like the Manna of Calabria, this most us'd, and deares. Another sort is sold about India, liquid in Skins and Pots, like white Honey, but soon decays. All these purge with ease, and without danger. Another sort in bits bigger than that of Calabria, and not white, is sold at Ormuz, and in several Parts of India. This purges more violently, and therefore the common sort reckon it the better, as also because it is cheaper; but this is a Composition: It is so safe a Medicine, that it is given to Children, and Women with Child. Christ. Acost. Hist. E. Ind.

Prov. Séa Maridíllo, ſi quiéra de lodíllo, or ſea ſapíllo, Be it but an Husband, tho he be but of Dirt, or tho he be a Toad. Said to Women who, ſo they are marry'd, care not what their Husband is.

Marído, an Husband. Lat. Maritus.

Prov. Maríde, no credys lo que viéredes, ſiné lo que yo os dixére, Husband don't believe what you ſee, but what I tell you. This is generally apply'd to thoſe who would perſwade others out of their Knowledge, and what they actually ſee. As an ill Woman, who, tho her Husband diſcovers her ill Courſes, would not have him believe his own Eyes, but give credit to her Inſinuations.

Prov. Por ſi, o por no Maríde ſeñór, pónéos la capílla, Whether it be ſo or no, Husband, pull on your Hood. A Husband told his Wife that there was a new Law that every Cuckold ſhould wear a Hood to hide his Horns, under ſevere Penalties, and therefore deſir'd to know whether he had any occaſion to wear one. The Wife ſeem'd very angry at the Queſtion, and as he repeated it, ſtill chid him for his Miſtruſt; but as he was going out, for fear of the Penalty, ſhe call'd after him, bidding him, whether he was ſo or no, to put on his Hood. This is Advice, in doubtful Caſes, ever to take that courſe which is ſafeſt.

Prov. Penſé que no tenía maríde, y comíme la ólla, I thought I had no Husband, and I eat up the meat. They ſay, A Country-woman having dreſs'd the meat for her Husband that was at work, becauſe he ſtay'd later than ordinary, fell to and eat it up. He coming when ſhe had done, and asking her what ſhe meant, ſhe anſwer'd, ſhe thought ſhe had no Husband, and eat up the Meat. This is apply'd to all that commit great Faults, and then make fooliſh Excuſes, ſaying, I thought, or I did not think, and therefore we ſay, Thought lay abed and beſhit himſelf.

Prov. Por mas que me digádes, mi Maríde es el paſtór, Say what you will, the Shepherd is my Husband. A good VVoman VVife to a Shepherd heard her Neighbbours talk ill of all Shepherds, and call her by way of Contempt the Shepherd's VVife, and ſhe not valuing their ill Tongues, ſtill anſwer'd, Say what you will, the Shepherd is my Husband. This ſhows, that whatſoever ill Tongues can ſay, no VVife ſhould be aſham'd of her Husband, nor no Man of his Profeſſion, and that nothing can divide thoſe whom a Faithful Love has united.

Prov. Mi Maríde va a la mar chírlos mírlos a buſcár, My Husband goes to Sea ſeek Chirlos mirlos,, a fram'd VVord to ſignify nothing, or what is nothing to the purpoſe. Apply'd to thoſe who live idle, and range about from place to place to bring home nothing but idle Stories and Lyes.

Prov. Al Maríde málo cegállo, con las gallínas de par del gállo, Blind a bad Husband with the Hens that run with the Cock. Hens, or Pullets ſignify good Feeding, and therefore a VVoman is advis'd, if ſhe has a bad Husband, to make ſo much of him, and be ſo kind, that he may ſee no no Faults, and that will make him good. Or in another ſenſe, If the VVife is falſe to her Husband, ſhe is advis'd to be very loving to him, that he may not diſcover her buſineſs.

Prov. Quién no múda, Maríde no médra veſtído, She that does not change Husbands, does not improve in Cloaths. A Saying of VVomen, who, having been ill us'd by their firſt Husbands, live well with a ſecond. It is alſo us'd by lewd VVomen, who call their Gallants Husbands, and changing them often, get variety of Garments. Apply'd in another ſenſe to thoſe who thrive by removing from one place to another, or leaving an Employment for a better.

Prov. Prométen Maríde, y quítan veſtído, They promiſe a Husband, and take away Cloaths. A Maid was taken into Service upon promiſe to marry her after ſuch a Term as was agreed on, which when expir'd, Inſtead of finding her Husband, they took away ſome of the Cloaths they had given her, whereupon ſhe utters this Proverb, which is apply'd to all thoſe who promiſe mighty Favours, and at the ſame time take ſomething from thoſe they were to aſſiſt.

Prov. Maríde tras del lar, mal de bijár, A Husband by the Fire-ſide is as bad as a pain in the Side, that is, It is a great Affliction to a VVife to ſee her Husband ſitting in the Chimney-corner, when he ſhould be abroad following his Buſineſs and providing for his Family.

Prov. Aſſí es el Maríde ſin bécho, cómo caſa ſin técho, A Husband without Action is like a Houſe without a Roof. By Action is meant the conjugal Duty, or paying the Marriage-Debt; for if that be not perform'd, the end of Matrimony fails, even as a Houſe is of no uſe that has no Roof.

Prov. Al tu Maríde, o eſpóſo muéſtrate, mas no del tódo, Show your ſelf to your Husband or Spouſe, but not altogether, that is, Be not coy to your Husband, or too preciſe, but at the ſame time do not forget Modeſty.

Prov. Comé Maríde pan, y cebólla, que porqué ſóys ruyn no os póngo ólla, Husband, eat Bread and Onion, for I don't hang on the Pot becauſe you are a baſe Fellow. This, they ſay, a Country-woman us'd to ſay to her Husband, providing no better for him to eat, becauſe he did not anſwer her expectation. And in theſe terms a Husband upbraids his VVife, when he finds ſhe does not take care to have his Meat dreſs'd whilſt he is abroad about his buſineſs.

Prov. Andándo, y hablándo Maríde a la hórca, Walking and Talking on Husband to the Gallows. They ſay, A Woman walking by her Husband as he was going to the Gallows to be hang'd, he talk'd to her by the way, and ſometimes ſtood to inculcate ſomething to her. The Good-woman, who had a mind to be rid of him, every time he ſtopp'd, us'd the Words of this Proverb, meaning that he might talk and walk on to the Gallows. It is apply'd to any that wiſh another dead, or haſten him on to his Ruin.

every

Prov. Al marído ſírvelo cómo a Señór, y guárdalo del cómo de un traydór. Serve your Husband as your Lord, and be as cautious of him as you wou'd be of a Traytor; that is, honour and obey your Husband, as you are enjoyn'd in Matrimony, and at the ſame time be as cautious of offending him, as if he were the moſt dangerous Traitor.

Prov. A la que ſu Maríd o en-cornúda, Señór, y tu le ayúda. Lord do you help her that cuckholds her Husband. It does not mean that God ſhould help her in her Wickedneſs, but that God would protect her Life, which is in ſuch imminent Danger, it being a thing too frequent in Spain, for Husbands to kill their Wives when they take them in Adultery.

Prov. El Maríd o ántes con un ójo, que con un híjo. A Husband rather with one Eye, than with a Son. It is Advice to Women rather to chooſe a Husband that has but one Eye, than the compleateſt Man that has a Son already.

Prov. Eſperándo Maríd o cavalléro, dánme las tétas abáxo del pécho. Waiting for a Gentleman for a Husband, my Breaſts hang below my Stomach. The Complaint of a Woman, who looking for a Husband above her, was grown old; ſignified by her Breaſts hanging down. A Misfortune we ſee often enough among thoſe who ſoar too high, and becauſe they cannot get what is above them, pretend they will not marry. It is apply'd to all that ſlip the time of providing for themſelves according to their Rank, by aſpiring to thoſe things that are above them.

Prov. La que mal Maríd o tiéne en el tocádo ſe le paréce. She that has an ill Husband ſhows it in her Dreſs. Becauſe generally Women that have ill Husbands live diſcontented, and do not care to take the Pains to dreſs themſelves.

Prov. Maríd o cornúdo ſodés. Mejór es que inchár ódres. Husband you are a Cuckold. It is better than filling of Skins. A poor Fellow that dreſs'd Hog-skins to carry Wine in, having a handſome Wife, neglected his Trade, and ſhe got their Living as ſhe could, which he conſented to; whereupon ſhe took the Freedom to tell him he was a Cuckold, and he anſwers, It is better be a Cuckold and live at Eaſe, than to work at ſuch a poor Trade. Apply'd to ſuch Men as value not Honour or Conſcience, ſo they live idly.

Prov. Maríd o, y mugér, compáñia ſin bien. Husband and Wife unhappy Company. This they ſay is ſo if they have no Children nor Servants; becauſe Children are the End of Matrimony; and if they have no Servants they muſt be forc'd to ſerve themſelves, which ſometimes cauſes Uneaſineſs. But Proverbs are not always infallible, for many live happier without Servants than ſome that have many, and Children do not always prove a Bleſſing.

Prov. Llevád vos Maríd o la artéſa, &c. Vid. Artéſa.

Prov. He aquí Maríd o cómo nos perdémos, tu pára póco, y yo pára ménos. Thus it is, we are ruin'd Husband, becauſe you are good for little, and I for leſs. Said when two People meet, who are fit for no Buſineſs, and all things go to rack between them.

Medína, the name of ſeveral Towns in Spain, ſignifying in Arabick a chief City, or Metropolis.

Medína céli, a Town in the Kingdom of Old Caſtile, in Spain, 4 Leagues from Siguénça, ſeated on a high Hill, not far from the Source of the River Xalón, it has ſtrong ancient Walls, and a Caſtle of the ſame ſort, as alſo a noble Palace for its Dukes, its Territory abounds in Game, all ſorts of Cattle, Fowl and Corn. Its Inhabitants are not above 300, under one Collegiate Pariſh with a miter'd Abbot; it was formerly call'd Eccleſia, Auguſtobriga, Mediolum, and & Seconia vetus; it ſtands on a Hill near the River Xalón, 31 Leagues North-Eaſt of Madrid, and 34 South-Weſt from Zaragóza. King Henry the II. of Caſtile made it an Earldom and a Dukedom by Férdinand and Iſabel, King and Queen of Caſtile and Aragon. Both theſe Titles came ſucceſſively to the moſt illuſtrious Family of la Cerda, in whom the Dukedom ſtill continues. Theſe Dukes are deſcended from Ferdinand Son and rightful Heir to Alonſo the X. King of Caſtile, but unjuſtly put by his Right by his Uncle Sancho the IV. who uſurp'd the Crown and left it to his Heirs. Prince Ferdinand took the name of la Cerda from ſome Briſtly Hair he had on his Breaſt, Cerdas in Spaniſh ſignifying Briſtles. Elizabeth de la Cerda Heireſs of this noble Family was marry'd to Moſen Bernard Earl of Bearne and Faux, , from whom the preſent Dukes of Medinaceli are deſcended, being one of the nobleſt Families in the World, as lawfully deſcended from the antient Kings of Spain on the one ſide, and from the illuſtrious Family of Faux on the other. His Eſtate is ſuitable to his Nobility, being valu'd at near 80000 Pounds per Annum, his Arms quarterly, the 1ſt and 4th Party per pale of Caſtile and Leon, the 2d and 3d of France.

King John the II. of Caſtile erected it into a Dukedom in the Year 1445, conferring that Title on D. John Alonſo de Guzman, III. Earl of Niebla, in whoſe Iſſue it continues to this time. The Family of Guzman is of antient and great Nobility; ſome will have it to be deſcended from Gundemarus King of the Goths, others from Gurban King of Britany in France; and indeed its Antiquity is ſingular; but this we have for certain, that it deſcends lineally from the famou famous Alonſo Perez de Guzman, who about the Year 1292, defended Tarifa with the utmoſt Bravery againſt the Moors; who becauſe he would not ſurrender, murder'd his Son before his Face, for which he had the Sir-Name of el Bueno, or the Good given him, which his Iſſue ſtill keep up. His Grandſon was created Earl of Niebla, by King Henry II. of Caſtile, and the Earl's Grandſon, Duke of Medina Sidonia, by King John II. Their Eſtate is ſuitable to their Nobility, being valu'd at 60000 Pounds per Annum; their Arms, Parti per Saltier, in Chief and Baſe Azure, a Kettle Checkie, Or and Sanguine; with Three Snakes ſticking out on each Side the Handle; the dexter and ſiniſter Sides Argent, with Five Black Spots of Ermin; the whole within an Orle of Caſtile and Leon. The Situation of the Town is on a ſteep Hill, very ſtrong by Nature; but the Territory about it is for the moſt part Rich Paſture; the Inhabitants amount to about 1500; 2 Pariſhes, 4 Monaſteries of Friars, and 1 of Nuns.

Tomár la múger en cuéros. To take a Woman naked. We ſay, to take her in her Smock.
Prov. A la múger báylár, y al áſno rebuznár, el diábloſe lo devió de moſtrár It was ſurely the Devil taught Woman to dance, and the Aſs to bray. Becauſe the Conſequences of Dancing are often ſo ſcandalous, and an Aſs's Braying ſo odious.
Prov. De tu múger, y de tu amígo expério, no créas ſino lo que ſupiéres de ciérto. Do not believe any thing of your Wife, and of a try'd Friend, but what you are ſure of. Good Advice not to credit idle Reports, or vile Whiſperers, who endeavour to ſow Diſcord between Friends, and married People.
Prov. A la múger cáſta, Dióſ le báſta. God is ſufficient for a chaſt Woman. Other Women put their Confidence in their Friends or their Wealth, or other worldly Dependances, but a chaſt, virtuous Woman, may put her Truſt in God, who will provide for, and reward her. An Encouragement to good Women, who are deſtitute of worldly Helps.
Prov. Al que tiéne múger hermóſa, o caſtillo en frontéra, o viña en carréra, nunca le fálta guérra. He that has a beautiful Wife, or a Caſtle on the Frontiers, or a Vineyard on the Road, is never without War; that is, has always Quarrels. The beautiful Wife the Proverb ſuppoſes will be ſought after by others, which will make her Husband jealous, and then Quarrels enſue; a Caſtle on Frontiers, is always expos'd to the Enemy, and a Vineyard by the Highway is ſubject to be pull'd by all that paſs, which the Owner cannot bear patiently.
Prov. A la múger mála póco le aprovécha guárda. It is to little purpoſe to watch a wicked Woman. This Proverb ſerves all Men, for if they have good Wives there is no need of watching them, and if they are bad, the Devil will inſtruct them how to be too hard for their Husbands.
Prov. Aunqué con tu múger téngas barájas, no métas en tu caſa pájas. Tho you quarrel with your Wife, do not bring Straw unto your Houſe; that is, do not keep Servants that carry Tales backwards and forwards, or admit any others to be any ways concern'd between you, for that is like bringing Straw into the Houſe, which will ſoon take Fire, and raiſe a Conflagration that cannot be quench'd.

Prov.

Prov. Al que yó bién quiéra, la mugér ſe le muéra, la mála, que no la buéna. The Man that I love may his Wife dye, the bad one, but not the good one. A friendly Wiſh that a Man may be rid of an ill Wife, ſince there is no way but Death to part them.

Prov. Con la mugér y el dinéro, no te búrles compañéro. Do not jeſt with a Wife and Money. It does not mean that a Man ſhou'd not be eaſie with his Wife ſo as to jeſt with her, but that he ſhould not as ſome do, utter leud Jeſts of her abroad, which is below a Man of Honour, and expoſe her to Contempt; and in another Senſe that none ſhould preſume to jeſt upon another Man's Wife; but that a Wife and Money ought both to be chearily kept; for as we ſay, It is ill jeſting with edg'd Tools.

Prov. A la mugér, y a la gallína, tuércele el cuéllo, y dáte ba la vida. Wring your Wives and your Fowls Neck and they will give you Life; that is, wring the Neck of your Fowl, which eaten, is good Nouriſhment, and correct your Wife if ſhe deſerves it, which will make you eaſie, and that will give you Life; for good Nouriſhment and living eaſie make a Man live long.

Prov. A la mugér y a la Picáza, lo que viéres en la pláza. To a Woman and a Magpye, what you ſee in the Market-place; that is, tell Women and Magpies nothing but what is publick, or may be ſo, and do not entruſt them with any Secrets, leaſt they reveal them.

Prov. A quién tiéne mála mugér ningún bién le puéde venir, que bién ſe puéda dezír. He that has a bad Wife can have no good befall him that can be call'd good. Becauſe his Misfortune is ſo great in having an ill Wife, that no Happineſs can any way mitigate it, but his greateſt Proſperity is drowned under his Affliction. And therefore follows the ſame Proverb revers'd.

Prov. A quién tiéne buéna mugér, ningún mal le puéde venir, que no ſéa de ſufrír. He that has a good Wife can have no Ill befall him but what is tolerable. Becauſe a good Wife alleviates all Sorrows, and helps a Man to bear a Part of them.

Prov. A la mugér veníanéra, tuércele el cuéllo, ſi la quiéres buéna. Wring a Womans Neck that loves gazing at the Windows, if you would make her good for any thing. Theſe Proverbs are not to be taken in the literal Senſe, for it is not here meant that a Woman ſhould be murder'd for looking out of a Window, but that ſhe ſhould be corrected and reprov'd, and broke of it, when ſhe is always gadding and gazing abroad, ſo as to neglect her Houſehold Affairs, or give Scandal.

Prov. El que no tiéne mugér cadá dia la mata, mas el que la tiéne, bién ſe la guárda. He that has no Wife kills her every Day, but he that has, takes good care of her. We ſee daily Men very fierce before they are married, and threaten how they will rule and command their Wives, who when they have them, commonly prove the tameſt Husbands. We ſay not unlike it, Maids Children and Batchelors Wives, are well govern'd.

Prov. A la mugér brava, dálle la ſóga lárga. Give an unruly Woman much Rope; that is, do not let her go, but give her time to play, as you do with a Trout, and then take her up. We ſay, Give her Rope enough and ſhe'll hang her ſelf. Some take this Rope in another Senſe, and ſay that a New-married Woman fell a ſcolding ſo violently, that her Husband was for the preſent, forc'd to get out of the Houſe till the Storm was over. When he came home, the Wife being cool, begg'd his Pardon, alledging, it was in her Nature, and ſhe could not forbear ſcolding, but her Paſſion was ſoon over. Then he took a good Rope's End, and gave her plentiful Correction, which done, he begg'd her Pardon, pleading, it was his unhappy Temper ſo to do, but when it was over, he ſhould be as tame as an Aſs. This ſome ſay, is giving a Wife Rope enough.

Prov. A la mugér cáſadá, no le des de la bárba. Do not nod your Head to a married Woman; that is, do not make private Signs and Tokens to allure her, for when you leaſt think of it, her Husband may be in Sight, and revenge the Wrong that threatens him.

Prov. La mugér en cáſa, y la pierna quebráda. A Woman at Home and her Leg broken; that is, Women ought to keep Home, as if their Legs were broken, and not to be continually gadding, for nothing is more ſcandalous than to ſee a Woman always ranging the Streets.

Prov. La mugér quinzéna, y el bómbre de tréynta. The Woman at Fifteen, the Man at Thirty; that is, they ſhould marry at thoſe Years, and this not on account of the common miſtaken Notion, that Spaniſh Women will not bear Children if they marry late, for then the Husbands ought to marry younger, for it is certain they can get Children ſooner. But the reaſon is, becauſe when the Wife is ſo young, the Husband may mould her to his Mind, and teach her to comply with him, and ſubmit to his Will, which is not ſo well done when Women are more in Years; and the Man at Thirty is grown more ſtay'd, riper in Judgment, and fitter to rule his Family.

Prov. La mugér y la ſalſa, a la mâno de la lanſa. The Wife and the Sauce on the Hand of the Lance; that is, place them on your Right Hand, which is the Hand that uſes the Lance, the Wife to give her due Honour, and the Sauce that it may be readier for Uſe.

Prov. La priméra mugér eſcóba, y la ſegúnda ſeñóra. The Firſt Wife a Broom; that is, a Drudge, and the Second a Lady. This Proverb ſignifies that for the moſt part, he who uſes his Firſt Wife ill, and Lords it over her too much, meets with a Second Wife of a high Spirit, who plays the Lady, and keeps him as humble as he did the Firſt Wife.

Prov. La mugér del hidálgo, póca hazíenda, y gran trenádo. A poor Gentleman's Wife has but a little Eſtate, and a great Role of Hair; that is, poor Gentry, tho they want many Conveniencies of Life, and even Cloaths, ſtill endeavour to wear ſomething that may diſtinguiſh them from the common ſort, which in Spain, us'd formerly to be a great Head of Hair breaded.

Prov. La mugér del ciégo, pára quién ſe aſéna. For whom does the Blind Man's Wife paint, or dreſs herſelf up? It cannot be for him who cannot ſee her Ornaments, and therefore the Queſtion is very proper, and may ſerve not only in caſe of a Blind Man, but in a Husband's Abſence, and in other caſes allegorically.

Prov. La mugér del viéjo reſémbra cómo eſpéjo. The Old Man's Wife ſhines like a Looking-glaſs; that is, Old Mens Young Wives are generally paſſionately belov'd by them, who take all the care in the World to pleaſe and pamper them, and therefore they thrive, living contented, and ſhine with gay Cloaths and Ornaments. This is the true Senſe, but ſome Enemies to Women will have it to denote, That Old Mens Young Wives dreſs themſelves as fine as they can to pleaſe Young Men.

Prov. La mugér del Eſcudéro gránde la bólſa y póco el dinéro. The poor Squire's Wife has a great Purſe and and little Money in it. This is applicable to all things that make much Show and are of little Value; and not unlike our Saying, like Shearing of Hogs, A great Cry and little Wooll.

Prov. La mugér del viñadéro, buén Otóño y mal inviérno. The Keeper of Vineyard's Wife, has a good Autumn and a bad Winter. There are Men hir'd in Spain to look to the Vineyards, which laſts only during Autumn till the Vintage, and theſe are poor Fellows, who during that time can maintain their Wives with what is allow'd them, and a few Grapes they carry Home, but when Winter comes they are diſcharg'd, and then both Man and Wife in Winter muſt ſhift for another Livelyhood.

Prov. La mugér del paſtor, a la nóche ſe compón. The Shepher's Wife dreſſes herſelf at Night. Becauſe her Husband is abroad all the Day with his Flock, and comes Home at Night, when his Wife dreſſes herſelf to receive him.

Prov. La mugér artéra, el marído por delantéra. A cunning VVoman puts her Husband before; that is, when ever ſhe has a mind to refuſe any thing ſhe pleads her Husband will be angry, and ſo ſtill alledging Obedience to her Husband, can offend no Body with her Refuſal.

Prov. La mugér caſá da en el monte es álvergáda. A married VVoman finds Entertainment on a Mountain; that is, a virtuous, good VVoman is ſafe, tho ſhe be expos'd on a Mountain, for even there, her Virtue will protect her, as if ſhe were in the midſt of a City.

Prov. La mugér compuéſta, a ſu marído quíta de puérta agéna. A VVife that is dreſs'd draws her Husband from another Body's Door; that is, when a VVoman keeps herſelf clean and decently dreſs'd, her Husband does not run after other VVomen, but is pleas'd with her; not like ſome Sluts, who think it good Houſewifery to be naſty, and when reprov'd for it, ſay, they are married, as if there were no Regard to be had to a Husband when married; which is the reaſon that ſome Men loathing the Naſtineſs they always ſee at Home, cannot endure their Houſe.

Prov. El que no tiéne mugér múchos ojós ha menéſter. He who has no VVife has need of many Eyes. Becauſe he who has a VVife, has one he can confide in to look to all his Houſhold Affairs, and take care he be not cheated by Servants or others; whereas he who has no VVife, has all the Care and Trouble upon himſelf.

Prov. La mugér maridáda, no víva descuidáda. The married VVoman muſt not not lead a careleſs Life; it is her buſineſs to be watchful not only over her Husband's Honour, but over all his Houſhold Affairs, and to take care that he does not ſuffer through her negligence.

Prov. La mugér ſéa yguál, o menór, ſi quiéres ſer ſeñór, Your Wife must be your Equal, or Inferior, if you deſign to be Maſter. It is Advice to Men to marry their Equals, or elſe ſomething below their degree, rather than above, becauſe a Woman, who, by Birth, is much above her Husband, will not eaſily ſubmit to him, but rather endeavour to keep him under as her Inferior.

Prov. La mugér buéna coróna es del maridó, A good Wife is her Husband's Crown, that is, A good Woman crowns all her Husband's Happineſs. It is taken out of Scripture. Prov. 12.

Prov. Muéſtrame tu mugér, dezírte he que maridó tiéne, Show me your Wife, and I'll tell you what a Husband ſhe has. It is eaſy to gueſs by a Woman's Garb, Countenance, and Behaviour, how her Husband uſes her.

Prov. Mugér de cínco ſuéldos, maridó de dos meajas, A Wife of five Sueldos, a Husband of two Meajas. A Sueldo was an antient Piece of Money worth 18 Maravedies; a Meaja was the ſmalleſt Piece of Money in Spain; therefore when they ſee the Wife very fine, and the Husband but poorly clad, they uſe this Proverb. As if we ſhould ſay, A Wife of five Pounds, and a two-penny Husband.

Prov. Mugér no te las cuénto, mas dóze morcíllas háze un puérco, Wife, I don't reckon them to you, but a Hog makes twelve Puddings. It is the cuſtom of Spain to make ſo many; neither more or leſs, when they kill a Hog. So this is telling a Woman that cannot give a good account of what ſhe is entruſted with, that the Husband knows what there ought to be, tho he will not ſtand to call her to an account.

Prov. Mugér caſéra, el maridó ſe le muéra, The VVoman that is a good Houſe-keeper, may her Husband die. This is not a Prayer that a good VVoman ſhould looſe her Husband, but only ſhows that ſhe is better to live, in caſe the Misfortune ſhould befal her, than a gadding idle VVoman, who, if her Husband dies, knows not how to do any thing.

Prov. Ni mugér de ótro, ni coz de pótro, Neither another Man's VVife, nor the Kick of a Colt, that is, It is as bad to have to do with another Man's as to receive a Kick of a Colt, and the danger is as great in following a marry'd VVoman, as in following a Colt that will kick.

Prov. No es bráva la mugér que cábe en cáſa, She is not an unruly VVife, if the Houſe holds her. A Man complain'd to a Friend that his VVife was untoward and unruly, the Friend inquiring into the matter, found the VVoman liv'd very retir'd, and only reprov'd her Husband for neglecting his Buſineſs, whereupon he ſaid to the Man the VVords of this Proverb, to ſignify that ſhe was no untoward, turbulent VVife, who minded her buſineſs, and only chid him, becauſe he did not.

Prov. No ay mugér bermóſa el día de la bóda, No VVoman is beautiful on the VVedding-day. The meaning of it is, that all the VVomen at a VVedding are ſo adorn'd with rich Cloaths, painted and patch'd, that no Man can tell what natural Perfections they have; and therefore none can be call'd a Beauty but ſhe that appears ſo without all thoſe helps.

Prov. Pára tu mugér empreñár no déves á ótro búſcar, You muſt not look for another to get your VVife with Child. This is plain Doctrine enough, but it ſignifies that Men muſt not, as they ſay, ſome do, take Advice how to get their VVifes with Child, or conſult Doctors, or Conjurers, for that which is only in themſelves. But it is apply'd in any other caſe, to inform a Man that he muſt mind his own buſineſs, and not truſt to others.

Prov. La mugér y la viña, el hómbre la háze garrída, The Man makes the Wife and Vineyard fine. The Vineyard muſt always be carefully prun'd, and look'd after, or elſe it will become like VVilderneſs, all Buſhes; and ſo the VVife muſt be cheriſh'd and taken care of by the Husband, which will make her gay and pleaſant, and conſequently handſome and more taking.

Prov. Quién quiſiére mugér bermóſa, el ſábado la eſcója, He that will have a beautiful VVife, muſt chooſe her on a Saturday, becauſe on Saturdays they are generally undreſs'd, and if they then appear handſome, no doubt but they will be ſo much more when ſet off to the beſt advantage.

Prov. Quién mála mugér cóbra, ſiérvo ſe tórna, He who gets a bad VVife, becomes a Slave, that is, lives in Slavery, Trouble, Confuſion and Diſorder. Others ſay, Ciérvo ſe tórna, He becomes a Stag, if ſhe cuckolds him. The VVords are the ſame in ſpeaking, and only vary one letter in writing.

Prov. La múgér caſéra, núnca fálta de parléra, The VVoman that is a great Houſe-keeper never fails of being talkative, that is, VVomen who value themſelves upon their great Houſwifry, are always apt to prate more than others deſire to hear; for there is no body in this VVorld without ſome Fault; and commonly thoſe that have this good Quality, never ceaſe tormenting every body with their Abilities; ſo that very often a Man had better have a VVoman that can do nothing, than endure the Plague of a VVife that is always talking of her Houſewifry.

Prov. A la mugér y a la múla, por el píco la bermoſúra, A Woman and a Mule muſt have their Beauty put in at their Mouths, that is, Nothing contributes more to make them beautiful than good keeping, for as no rich Furniture will make a poor Horſe or Mule handſome, ſo no Cloaths, Painting, or Patching will make a Woman beautiful, but good Feeding makes her fair and comely, and puts better Colour into her Cheeks than all the Portugueſe Diſhes, or Spaniſh Wool.

Prov. A la mugér primeríza, antes ſe le paréce la preñez en el pécho, que en la bárriga, The Woman that is with Child the firſt time ſhews it in her Breaſts before her Belly, becauſe their Breaſts are apt to riſe and ſwell before their Belly grows big.

Prov. A la mugér lóca mas le agráda el pandéro que la rúeca, A mad Woman is better pleas'd with a Pandero than with her Head-cloaths. A Pandero is a ſcurvy Inſtrument in Spain, us'd by the meaner ſort, being only two pieces of Parchment ſtretch'd on a Hoop with Horſe-bells between, which they hold in one Hand, and beat with the other to make a hideous noiſe to dance to. The Proverb ſignifies, that mad Women had rather be dancing and ranting than minding their buſineſs; and this is apply'd to any that neglect their Duty for their pleaſure.

Prov. A la mugér caſta, pobréza le háze hazér feéza, Poverty obliges a chaſte Woman to do a ſhameful thing. Want has ſuch force, that it overcomes all things, and therefore no wonder, if ſometimes it prevails on Women, otherwiſe chaſte, to expoſe themſelves for the neceſſary Supports of Life.

Prov. Compuéſta no ay mugér féa, When dreſs'd, no Woman is ugly. This only means, that fine Feathers make fine Birds; and perhaps it ſignifies, that all Women fancy themſelves handſome when dreſs'd, or at beſt, that ſome body likes them then. Some Faces are ſo bad, that all the Dreſſing in the world can never make them tolerable, but only Vertue, which is the beſt of Ornaments.

Prov. En el andár, y en el bevér, ſe conóce la mugér, A Woman is known by her going and drinking, that is, You may gueſs at a Woman by her going, viz. by her going much or little, if ſhe is given to gadding and rambling, and to drinking, you may be ſure, ſhe is good for nothing; but if ſhe loves home, and is a Friend to Sobriety, they are very good Tokens.

Prov. La mugér que póco véla, tárde há̃e luénga téla, The Women that watches little is a long time making a long Web. This is apply'd to all Perſons who would compaſs great matters with little labour, or application.

Prov. La mugér mála, cáuta, y no infamáda, An ill Woman muſt be cautious, and ſhe'll not be infamous, that is, If Women that will be bad, would but be cautious of expoſing themſelves too openly, they might at leaſt ſave themſelves the infamy of a bad Name, and would do leſs harm in not giving ſo much Scandal to others.

Prov. La mugér y la gallína, por andár ſe piérde ayna, The Woman and the Hen are loſt by gadding. A Hen, when it once ſtrays from home, is ſoon loſt: And ſo a Woman, when ſhe gives her ſelf to much gadding and company, ſeldom fails of being loſt in her Reputation, for few have fortitude enough to withſtand the Temptations they run themſelves into.

Prov. La mugér lóca por la liſta cómpra la tóca, A hair-brain'd Woman buys the Head-cloaths by the Liſt, that is, By the Lace, or little Ornament about them, without minding whether they are good or bad. The ſame may be ſaid of all who ſuffer themſelves to be impoſ'd upon in the main, by only regarding frivolous Additions, as he who buys an ill Houſe for the ſake of a handſom Front, a faulty Garment for a little Embroidery, an ill Book for its good binding, or takes a bad Wife for a good Portion.

Prov. La mugér algaréra núnca háze lárga téla, A ſcolding, or a prating Woman never makes a long Web, that is, Such ſort of Women are never at leiſure to mind their buſineſs, their Tongues take up all their time, and the Work is laid aſide to prate.

Prov. La mugér placéra díze de tódos, y tódos délla, The Woman that haunts the Market, has ſomething to ſay of every body, and every body of her, which is no more, than that a Woman, who is always abroad, is ever railing railing at her Neighbours, and finding Faults, and conſequently they have all enough to ſay of her.

Prov. La mugér que cría, ni hárta ni límpia, A Woman that ſuckles is neither ſatisfy'd, nor clean. Nurſes are apt to have good Stomachs, and are often hungry, beſides they cannot be well dreſs'd, and are always cleaning the Children, which makes them not very clean themſelves. This Proverb is applicable to all thoſe who are ſo intent upon whatſoever they have in hand, that they forget to take the neceſſary care of themſelves, as particularly in ſome Scholars, who involve themſelves ſo deeply in their Books, that they neglect all Decency in their Perſons, and even ſometimes forget they are to eat.

Prov. De mala mugér te guárda, y de la buéna no fíes náda, Take heed of an ill Woman, and truſt a good one with nothing. This is a general Advice to be cautious of Women, to have nothing to do with the bad ones, and not confide too much in good ones, becauſe of the danger there is that they may be deluded.

Prov. La mugér, y el Fráyle mal parecén en la cálle, Women and Friars look ill in the ſtreet, that is, they ought not to be ſeen there any more than is neceſſary; they ought to live retir'd.

Prov. La mugér viéja, ſi no ſírve de ólla, ſírve de cobertéra, An old Woman, if ſhe does not ſerve for a Pot, ſerves for a Pot-lid, that is, If a Woman be too old to be lewd, ſhe will ſerve to be a Bawd.

Prov. La mugér hermóſa, o lóca, o preſumtuóſa, A beautiful Woman is either mad, or haughty. This needs little expounding; it is but too natural for Women to be proud and conceited of a little Beauty, and very often their Pride to ſwell to ſuch a degree, that it makes them mad.

Prov. La mugér y el vidrio ſiémpre eſtán en peligro, A Woman and a Glaſs are always in danger, the Glaſs oft being broken, and the Womau oft being deluded by the falſe Oaths and Promiſes of Men.

Prov. La mugér, y el vino ſácan al hómbre de tíno, Women and Wine put Man out of his Wits. Little need be ſaid of this, where we daily ſee the Effects of Drunkenneſs, and how many Men commit the greateſt of Follies and Extravagancies on the account of Women. The fault is neither in the Wine, nor the Women, but in the Men, who have no government of themſelves.

Prov. La mugér négra trementína en élla, There is Turpentine in a black Woman. The meaning of it is, That black Women are ſound, healthy, and ſweet.

Prov. Mugér labrandéra púta, o cantonéra, A Needle-woman is either a Whore, or a Thief. This is rather a Reflection on thoſe who imploy them, than thoſe unfortunate Women; for it ſignifies, that they get ſo little for their Work, that it will not give them Bread, and therefore they are forc'd either to be Whores, or Thieves.

Prov. Mugér, viénto, y ventúra préſto ſe múda, Woman, Wind, and Fortune ſoon change; there is no relying on them; for as we ſee nothing more fickle than the VVind, ſo nothing can be more uncertain than Fortune; and VVomen in all Countries have the ill Fate to be compar'd to the VVind.

Prov. No ruégues a mugér en cáma, ni a la cavállo en el água, Do not intreat a VVoman in Bed, nor a Horſe in the VVater. If you have prevail'd ſo far as to be in Bed with a VVoman, it is needleſs then to pray and intreat; and a Horſe in the VVater muſt be kept up with VVhip and Spur, or elſe perhaps, if you uſe him gently, he may lye down with you.

Prov. Quándo eſtuviéres con tu mugér viénte con viénte, no le dígas quánto te viniére a la miénte, VVhen you are with your Wife Belly to Belly, do not tell her all that comes into your Head, be not at that time too open-hearted, ſo as to diſcover any Secrets you would not reveal at another time; talk of Perfections in her, or find Faults in others, and ſo forth.

Prov. Quién a ſu mugér no hónra, aſi míſmo deſhónra, He who does not honour his Wife, diſhonours himſelf. All the Honour of the Wife redounds to the Husband; and therefore thoſe are moſt ſtupidly baſe, who treat their Wifes without any Reſpect; and as too many do talk of them abroad, as they would do of the moſt infamous Harlots, all which is no Shame to a vertuous Woman, but the greateſt Shame and Diſhonour a Man can be guilty of.

Prov. La mugér y la gallína háſta en caſa la vezína, A Woman and a Hen muſt go as far as their next Neighbours, that is, They muſt not gad far from home.

Prov. La mugér y la péra, la que cálla es buéna, The ſilent Woman and Pear is good. Of the Woman, it needs no explaining; for the Pear it ſignifies that which is not harſh, or does not make a noiſe when you cut, or bite it, for ſuch as do, are never good.

Nuégado, A ſweet Paſty, made with Hony and Nuts, or elſe with Almonds, Small Nuts, Pine-apple kernels, and toſted Hempſeed.

Nuéra, A Daughter in Law, a Son's Wife. Lat. Nurus.

Prov. En quánto fuí núéra, núnca túve buéna ſuégra. Whilſt I was a Daughter-in-Law, I never had a good Mother-in-Law. It is a general Obſervation that Daughters and Mothers-in-Law are ſeldom very loving, and thence the ſaying, but in general it ſhews we are ſubject to be ever finding of fault with others.

Prov. Quien es mi nuéra? La de los pendoléros en la ruéca. Which is my Daughter-in-Law? She that has the Flax hanging looſe in Tufts about her Diſtaff. It is natural for the Mother-in-Law to find fault with her Daughter-in-Law, which this Saying expreſſes, ſignifying, as much as that the Mother calls the Daughter an idle Slattern, for having the Flax ſhe was to ſpin, hanging looſe in Tufts.

Prov. La nuéra por la ſuégra, ſe cágan a la puérta. Betwixt the Mother and the Daughter-in-Law, they ſhit at the Door. That is, whilſt they quarrel no body does the Work, and the Houſe is kept naſty.

Prov. La ſuégra ha de ſer rogáda, y la ólla repoſáda. The Mother-in-Law muſt be intreated, and the Pot muſt be let ſtand. That is, a Mother-in-law to make her good, muſt have reſpect ſhew'd her, and the Pot with the Meat after it is boil'd, muſt ſtand a while off the Fire, which tenders the Meat, and mends the Broth.

Prov. Arremangóſe mi nuéra, y traſtórnoen el fuégo la caldéra, My Daughter-in-Law tuck'd her ſelf up, and overturn'd the Kettle in the Fire. To ſhew her unhandineſs, as all Spaniſh Sayings of Mothers-in Law are unlucky. This is us'd when any body takes much pains, and does things very ill.

Nuéva Galícia, New Galicia, a Province of North America, otherwiſe call'd Guadalajára, from its capital City of that name, and by another name, Xalíſco from the principal Diſtrict in it. On the Eaſt and North, it is divided from New Spain, by the Moraſs of Chiapála; and on the Weſt, it extends to the Sea of California; towards the North and North-Weſt, its Bounds are not ſettled as running out among the ſavage Nations. The Part inhabited by the Spaniards extends about 300 Leagues in length, and 100 in breadth. Under this Government are the Provinces of Guadalajára, Xalíſco, Zacatécas, Chiamétla, Culuacán, Cinalóa, Nuéva Biſcáya, and the Frontiers of California, Quivíra, and New Mexico. The Climate is temperate and ſerene, yet ſubject to Thunder and Earthquakes; the Land more mounrainous than plain, and has rich Mines of Silver and Copper, but none found as yet of Gold.

Nuéva Inglatérra, New England, a large Country in North America, firſt enter'd by the Engliſh in 1584; it lies along the Ocean, on which it has good Harbours; the Air is wholeſome, but the the Weather very uncertain; it abounds in wild Fowl, Wild Beasts, and Timber, and produces Flax, Hemp, Corn, Furs, Amber and Iron. In it are seven good Towns, the chief of them Boston.

Nuéva México, New Mexico, a large Province of North-America, to the North of New Spain, its Bounds not well known; but its principal City is Santa Fe, its Air Temperate, Pleasant and Wholesom, its Soil Fruitful, and Rich in Mines of Silver.

Nuéva Plimouth, New Plimouth, an English Colony in New England.

Nuévo Réyno de Granáda. The new Kingdom of Granada, in South America; It is in length 130 Leagues, and about 30 in breadth. On the East it borders on the Province of Venezuéla, on the North upon that of Santa Maria, on the West upon the Province of Popayan, and towards the South on in-land Countries, as yet not well known. It is subject to great Rains, and full of vast Woods, which abound in black Cattle and Horses, abundance of the latter being sent hence to Peru. Its principal Provinces are Bogóta, and Tunia, both of them have Gold Mines and Emerands, but especially Tunia. The Air is temperate and equal, making a continual Summer.

Nuéva Valéncia, New Valencia, a Spanish Town in the Province of Venezuéla, in South America, 25 Leagues from the City of Santiago, and 7 from the Port of Burburóta, and 60 from Coro, the Metropolis.

Nueva Xerés, New Xérés, a Spanish Colony in the Province of Venezuela, in South America, 15 Leagues South of New Valencia, 21 from New Segovia, and 60 from Córo the Metropolis.

Nuéz de la garganta, The nut or knot in the Throat.

Nuéz de ballésta, The nut of the Cross-bow.

Nuéz de espécia, The well known Spice call'd nutmeg. The Tree is about the bigness of a Pear-tree, the Leaf roundish, but pointed. It grows best in Banda, such as Maluco and Ceilon produce, being less, and not valu'd. The outward Rind is fleshy and hard, which the Natives eat with Salt and Vinegar, and is of a pleasant aromatick taste. The Portugueses preserve the whole Nutmeg before it is full ripe. The Nut is much us'd by the Brachman Physicians for all cold Distempers in the Brain, for the Palsy, and other Distempers that effect the Nerves, and for Diseases in the Matrix. The outward Rind when thorough ripe, is taken off, and is the Spice we commonly call Mace, which is hot and dry in the third Degree, it is believ'd that the ancients knew neither the Mace, nor Nutmeg. In Banda they call the Nutmeg Pali, in Arabick Iauziband, in Latin Nux Myristica, or Nux Moscata, in Italian Noce Moscata, in French Nois Muscade, and in Portuguese Nos Moscada. Nutmeg corrects and cures a stinking Breath, clears the Eye-sight, comforts the Stomach, digests Meat, and expels Wind; strengthens the Liver and Milt, and provokes Urine. Christ. Acosta, Nat. Hist. East. Ind.

Nuézes en garcecíllas, Many are of opinion these are the same sort of Walnuts we have in Europe, and that if transplanted, they would come to good; whereas, as they now grow wild, there is scarce any coming at the Kernel, and therefore they call them encarceladas, that is, imprison'd. *F. Plata, Silver. The Metal next in value to Gold. It is generally found in Mines on stony desert Mountains, tho' some little has been found in the plain. There are two sorts of Veins, one whereof they call loose, the other fixt. The loose are only pieces of Oar found in some chance place, which once taken away there is no more. The fix'd Veins, or those which spread out every way in depth, and on all sides, like the Body of a Tree and its Branches. The Indian way of Refining the Oar was by melting, which makes the Metal run one way, and the Dross another. To this purpose at Petosi they made little Earthen Fire-pans, which they call Guairas, with holes all round them, on which they plac'd the Crucible, and setting these Pans on the tops of the Mountains, the Wind that blows there constantly melted the Oar, which could not be made to run with any Bellows whatsoever. The Silver of the Mines of Porco runs better with Bellows. But the Method most in use now is to separate the Silver from the Dross with Quick-silver, thus: They pound the Oar to Dust in Mills, and sift it as we do Rubbish to make Mortar. Then they steep that fine Dust in Brine made of Salt, that the Salt may loosen the Earth from the Metal. Then through a fine Cloth they squeeze the Quick-silver out upon that Mass, so that it falls like a Dew, which they work up, mould, and incorporate with it. Thus it us'd to lye together, and was moulded over several times for 20 Days, till the Quicksilver had wrought its Effect; but now making Fires in Vaults under it, they find it is prepar'd in 5 Days by the Heat. When the Quicksilver has drawn all the Metal to it, they put this Mass into great Troughs of Water, where they wash it till all the Dross runs off, and the pure Metal remains behind. The clean Silver they squeeze in a Cloth, which fetches out all the Quicksilver that is not incorporated in it. The rest of the Mass made like a Sugar-loaf, is cover'd over with an Earthen Pan of that shape, and a great Fire being made about it, all the Quicksilver runs out at a Pipe, like distil'd Water from a Limbeck, and the Silver remains in the same shape, and as big as it was put in, but only the fifth part in weight of what it was, being all like a Honey-comb, where the Quicksilver has been extracted. Then it is cast into Bars, and carry'd to the King's Stamping-house, where it is try'd, and the Mark set upon it according to its Fineness. F. Jos. Acost. Nat. Hist. W. Ind. Chap. 5. & Sequen.

Pláta vírgen, Virgin Silver, that is, fine and pure, without any allay.

Pláta natúral a módo de esédrcha, natural Silver, so small that it looks like Hore frost, and is some small matter that drops out from among the Oar. Acosta Nat. Hist. W. Ind.

Plátano, the common Plane Tree, Lat. Platanus.

Platáno, or rather Plantano. The Plantan, is a Tree in the West-Indies, which had this Name given it by the Spaniards, but for what reason is not known, since there is not the least resemblance betwixt this and the Plane Tree of Europe. This Indian Plantan has one Body, or Root in the Ground, from which many Shoots run up without touching one another, but every one grows up, and becomes as it were a distinct Tree, with Leaves so large that one of them will cover a Man almost from Head to Foot, of a very fine glossy Green. When it is a Fathom and a half, or two Fathoms high it bears one only cluster of Plantans, sometimes more, sometimes less in number, and I have told 300 upon one cluster. Every Plantan is above a span long, more or less, and two or three Inches thick, tho' they vary very much. The Rind is easily taken off, and all the rest is a solid tender Pulp, very good to eat, being wholsome and nourishing, and rather cold than hot. Sometimes the Branches are gather'd green, and ripen in great Jars close cover'd with an Herb peculiar for that purpose. If they let them ripen on the Tree they are better relish'd, and smell like choice Pippins. They last almost all the Year, for new Shoots are continually running up from the Trunk of the Plantan, and when one has done, another begins to bear, another is half grown, another shoots out anew, so that they succeed one another all the Year about. As soon as the cluster is gather'd, they cut down that

Branch

Branch, or Shoot, for it never bears more than one, and once, but the Trunk, or Root remains and ſhoots afreſh till it is ſpent, which is for ſeveral Years. It requires much Moiſture and Heat. They throw Aſhes on the Root to improve it, and there are Woods of Plantans which are very profitable, becauſe it is the Fruit moſt generally us'd in the Weſt-Indies. They make Wine of it, and eat it raw, roaſted, ſeveral ways dreſs'd and preſerv'd. The Branches are neither good for Fire, nor any other Uſe, but the Leaves may ſerve to write on in caſe of neceſſity. F. Joſ. Acoſt. Nat. Hiſt. W. Ind. Lib. 4. Chap. 21. Pag. 247.

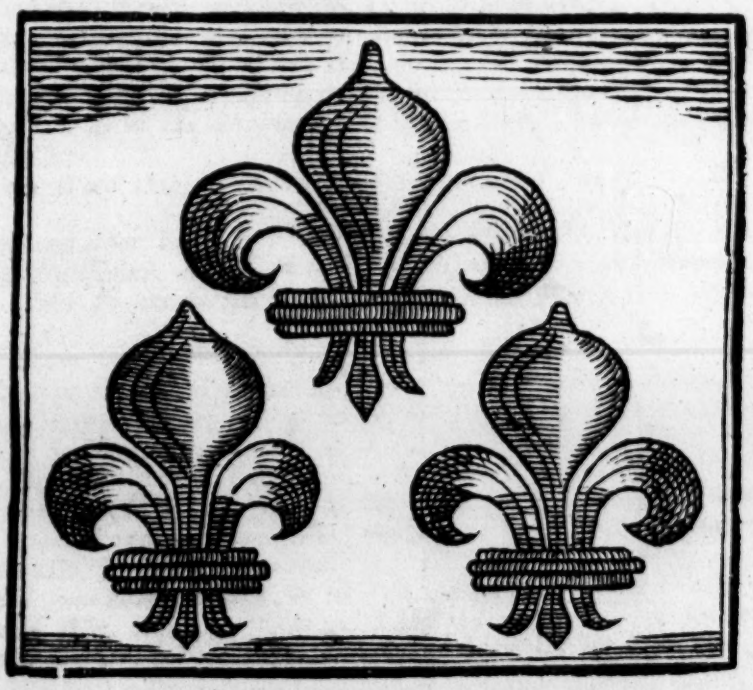
REMARKS

UPON

SYNTAX.



LONDON,

Printed for George Sawbridge, at the Three Golden Flower-de-luces in Little-Britain, 1706.

A

NEW SPANISH GRAMMAR.

Of the LETTERS and the MANNER of Pronouncing, and uſing them in Writing.

I THINK it needleſs to trouble the Reader with the Definition and Diviſion of Grammar, and therefore ſhall enter immediatly upon the Spaniſh Alphabet, which is as follows.

A, b, c, ç, d, e, f, g, h, i, j, l, ll, m, n, ñ, o, p, q, r, s, t, u, x, y, z.

The Spaniards properly have but 22 Letters, which are all the ſame as ours, only omitting k and w, and tho' here be Twenty Six ſet down. The Reader may obſerve that Eight of them are only Four Letters varied, becauſe of the different Pronunciation, or Sound they give to Words, as ſhall be explain'd, they are c, and ç, i and j, l and ll, n and ñ,

A, is pronounc'd, as in French and Italian, opening the Mouth, and as in the Engliſh Words Wall, Hall, Ball, &c. ſo in Spaniſh Máno, a Hand, Pálo, a Stick, &c.

B, differs not from the Engliſh, or other Languages in the Pronunciation, but in Writing the Spaniards often confound it with the V Conſonant, which is Sounded exactly like it, of which an Account ſhall be given under that Letter. Two b's, or the double b, are not us'd in Spaniſh Orthography, unleſs ſome will write Abbad, Abbadeſſa, Abbadia and Abbadengo, which is not frequent, and never in any other Word. B, is always writ before the Conſonants l and r, and never v Conſonant, as in Blas, Cábra, &c. Except only the Word Avré, Avrás.

C, Follows the Engliſh Sound, for before, a, o and u, it is like a k, as in Cára, a Face, Cóco, a Coco-Nut, Cuchára, a Spoon; but before e and i, it is ſofter than the ſ, as in Cecína, Salt-Meat, Ciélo, Heaven, in which Words it is as with us in Certain, Civil. But ç Thus Mark'd with a Daſh under it, call'd in Spaniſh ç Cedílla, and by our Printers Ceceril, is pronounc'd before a, c, and u, as the plain c is before e, and i, that is much ſofter than an s, as in the Words çaraguéles, great Hoſe, çoçobras, Troubles, çurrón, a Scrip, &c.

Ch, in Spaniſh is always Pronounc'd as in the Engliſh Words Chaſe, Check, Chick, Choke, Chuf, ſo in Spaniſh Chapéta, a Plate of Metal, Corchete, a Hook for Cloaths, Chiſpa, a Spark of Fire, Choça, a Cottage, Lechuga, a Lettice, &c.

D, has the ſame Sound as in Latin, French and Engliſh, at the Beginning, or in the Middle of a Word, but at the end when it follows a, is wholly omitted, and only adds an Emphaſis to the laſt Vowel, as Caſtidád, Chaſtity, is ſounded Caſtidá, ſtrong on the laſt; After e, i, and ú, it retains its Sound, tho' not altogether ſo ſtrong as in Engliſh, as in Sed, Thirſt, Lid, Strife, Ataud, a Coffin. Two d's, or double d is never us'd in Spaniſh.

E, is as in Latin and French, and as in the Engliſh Words Bend, Send, Lend, ſo in Spaniſh they ſay Bendezír, to bleſs, Deſſeár, to deſire, Beſár, to Kiſs, &c.

When Two e's are together in a Word they are both diſtinctly Pronounc'd, as in the Words Leer to read, Creér to believe, &c.

F, Is the ſame as in Engliſh and other Languages, only this may be obſerv'd, that the Spaniards generally uſe it inſtead of Ph, for they write Filóſopho, a Philoſopher, and ſo in other Words, even in proper Names as Felipe, Philip.

G, Before a, and o, has the ſame Pronunciation as in Engliſh, in the Words Gall, and Gold, ſo the Spaniſh Gáto, a Cat, Góta, a Drop.

Before u, when a Conſonant follows, it is Pronounc'd in the ſame Manner, as Gúla, Gluttony, Guſáno, a Worm. But if an a follows the u, then gu, takes the Sound of the Engliſh w, as in Guánte, a Glove, Agua, Water, read Wánte, Awa. Except only the Word Méngua, Decreaſe, where the g retains its force, and it is Pronounc'd as if writ Mengwa, and ſo in its Derivatives. But if e, or i, follows the u, then is it Pronounc'd like the French Guerre, Guide, &c. Or like the Engliſh Get, or Giddy, ſo the Spaniſh Guérra, War, Guía, a Guide. Except in the following Words Guéro, Addle, Aguéro, an Omen, Ciguéña, a Stork, Pediguéño, given to Begging, Siguença, a City in Spain, Verguénza, Shame, Deguéllo, a Beheading, Regueldo, a Belch, Unguénto, Ointment, which read as if Writ in Engliſh Wero, Awero, Ciwéña, Pediwéño, Siwenza, Verwenza, Dewello, Reweldo, Unwénto.

G, Before e, and i, is ſounded ſomewhat guttural, or like an Aſpiration, coming from the Roof of the Mouth, not unlike the Engliſh Words Whey, and Why, as to the Guttural Sound in theſe, not that the Spaniſh Partake any thing of the w, ſo Gemír, to groan, Gingíbre, Ginger, here the g's are brought from the Roof of the Mouth next the Throat, like a gentle Blowing in the Throat.

H Before n, is always loſt as Ignomínia, Ignominy, Ignorancia, Ignorance, read Inomínia, Inorância, and ſo in others.

H, Which is rather a Note of Aſpiration, than a Letter, tho' never to be omitted in Writing many Spaniſh Words, is never Pronounc'd in the leaſt, as in theſe Words Hámbre, Hunger, Hémbra, a Female, Hijo, a Son, Hómbre, a Man, Hurto, a Theft, read, Ambre, Embra, Ijo, Ombre, Urto. After T, it is always omitted, for they write Teologo, a Divine, not Theologo. So alſo after P, it is rarely found, but inſtead of ph, they uſe F, as Filóſofo, a Philoſopher, and not Philoſopho. When ue follows h, it is ſounded like our w, ſo for Huéſped, an Hoſt, or Gueſt, ſay, Wéſped, for Huéſo, a Bone, Wéſſo, for Huérta, an Orchard, Wérta. After c, it is ſounded as in Engliſh in the Words Chalk, Cheſt, Chiſſel, Cholen, Church, ſo in Spaniſh ſay Chato, Flat, China, a Pebble, Choça, a Cottage. Lechúça, an Owle.

I, In Spaniſh, is ſounded as in all other Languages except Engliſh, or as in Engliſh in the Words Viſible, Terrible, or the like. This is as to the I Vowel, but the

J Conſonant call'd in Spaniſh J Jota, differs from all other Languages, and is Pronounc'd in the Throat, being taken from the Arabick. It is a Sound hard to be deſcrib'd, becauſe every Language has not the ſame, yet ſome are not without it. The Dutch have it in ch as in Acht, Eight, Nacht, Night, the Welch in Ll, as in the Name Lloyd, which we improperly pronounce Floyd, neither is the Engliſh without this Guttural Sound, which frequently occurs in wh, what, where, why, &c. which is the true Sound of the Spaniſh J Conſonant, or J Jota. I am ſenſible, this will hardly give every Reader a true Notion of this Pronunciation, but there are ſomethings that cannot be made out in Writing, and eſpecially Sounds are the hardeſt to expreſs. Some will ſeem to expreſs it by gh, but that will not exactly come up to it, yet it has much of the h, ſpoke harſh in the Throat, as in the Engliſh words above mention'd. Something has been already ſaid of this Sound in the Letter g, before e and i, to which the Reader may turn to avoid Repetition, becauſe it is the ſame exactly with that there deſcrib'd, inſomuch that ſome, tho' improperly uſe either g, or j Conſonant, indifferently before e, which is a Fault, for before e, it ſhould be always G, and not J Conſonant, except in proper Names, as Jeſús, Jeruſalém, Jerónimo, &c. tho' the laſt is often writ with a g. Tho' the Pronunciation be the ſame, and ſo before I, but before a, o, and u, J Conſonant is always us'd. as Járro, Joſef, Júſto, and ſo Género, Gingibre. The x, as ſhall be ſaid in its Place, ſometimes has the ſame Sound, and therefore is frequently confounded with the J Conſonant in the Middle of a Word, but more of it ſhall be ſaid there.

K, Is no Spaniſh Letter, and therefore needs not be mention'd, but is ſometimes, tho' ſeldom found, in Forreign proper Names, or in the Greek Kalendas, and pronounc'd as with us.

L, When ſingle, differs nothing from the Engliſh, and all other Languages, but when double, as Ll, is pronounc'd as the Italian gl, or the French ll, which ſomewhat reſembles our li, yet ſo that the i muſt be joyn'd to the following Vowel, like a Diphthong, as in the Words Lláve, a Key, Llevár, to carry, Llovér, to rain; ſpeak them as in the Italian Mōglie Figli, or the French Fille, Coquille, &c. or as if writ in Engliſh Liave, Lievár, Liover, Liuvia, making as was beforeſaid, a ſort of Diphthong of the ia, ie, io, and iu. And for this Reaſon all Latin Words, that have a double l, are written in Spaniſh with a ſingle one, to avoid altering the Sound, Illuſtris in Spaniſh Ilúſtre, Syllaba, Sílaba, Collegium, Colegio, and ſo in all others. Obſerve that at the end of a Word, l is never doubled, but often in the Middle, as Querella, a Quarrel, or Complaint, Parrilla, a Gridiron, &c. where it is pronounc'd as above.

M, Is pronounc'd as in Engliſh and other Languages, but is never at the end of any Spaniſh Word.

N. Is alſo ſounded as in Engliſh, and never doubled in Spaniſh, and therefore all Latin Words having a double n, are writ with a ſingle one in Spaniſh, as Tyrannus, Tyrano, &c. But the Spaniſh n, with a Daſh over it thus ñ, call'd in Spaniſh n Tilde, is pronounc'd like the Italian, or the French gn, or almoſt like our ni, joyning the i, as was ſaid above off the double ll to the following Vowel, like a Diphthong, ſo Níño, a Child, Montáña, a Mountain read as you would if Italian Nigno, Montagna, or according to the Engliſh, as Nínio, Montania, contracting the io, and ia, into one Syllable or Diphthong, as has been ſaid.

O, Is pronounc'd as in Latin, French, Italian, and other Languages, and as in Engliſh in the Words Hope, Scope, Trope, and the like, but never as in the Words Long, Strong, Prong, &c. which ſound more like the Spaniſh a, the o by them always preſerving its full Sound as above.

P, No way differs from the Engliſh, but is never doubled in Spaniſh, and therefore all Latin Words that have it double, when made Spaniſh, muſt be writ with it ſingle, as Appetitus, Apetíto, Apparatus, Aparáto, &c.

Q. Before ua, is pronoun'cd as in Latin and Engliſh in the words Quantity, Quality, or the like, ſo in Spaniſh Quartána, Quándo, Qual, &c. But before ue, or ui, the u is in a manner loſt, and it is like the Italian Ch, or the French Que, Qui, or as the Engliſh Ke, Ki, ſo the Spaniſh Words Queſtión, a Queſtion, or Quarrel, Quiéto, Quiet, muſt be read Keition, Kieto. However, before en at the beginning, or in the Middle of a Word, the u is pronounc'd as we do in Engliſh, as in the Words Conſequencia, a Conſequence, Eloquencia, Eloquence; but at the end of Words it is ſunk again, as Tóquen, Repíquen, &c.

R, Is pronounc'd as in Engliſh and other Languages, but obſerve that at the beginning of Words, it is ſounded ſtrong as harſh, as if it were a double rr, as in Róma, Rome, Réy, and King, Ríma, a Rhime, Rubio, Fair, &c. In the Middle of a Word, when ſingle, it is pronounc'd as ſoft, as the Nature of it will bear, as in Ara, an Altar, Herége, an Heretick, Móro, a Moor; but when doubled, there cannot be too great a Streſs or Harſhneſs lay'd on it, as in Bárro, Clay, Pérro, a Dog, &c.

S, In the beginning of Spaniſh Words is like the Latin, Italian and French, and like the Engliſh in the Words Sand, Set, Sin, Sod, Sudden, ſo in Spaniſh Sabér, to know, Sembrár, to ſow, Silvár, to whiſtle, Sobrár, to be over and above, Sudár, to ſweat.

But a ſingle s in the Middle of a Word, contracts a Harſhneſs like our z, as it does in the French Egliſe, a Church, &c. and in the Engliſh Cauſe and the like; ſo in the Spaniſh give that harſh Sound to Cáuſa, a Cauſe, Caſa, a Houſe, Uſo, Cuſtom. But if there be a double ſſ in the Middle of a Word, then the Harſhneſs is loſt, and it is ſpoke ſharp as in the Engliſh Word Toſs'd, Croſs'd, &c. ſo the Spaniſh Gruéſſo, thick, Tieſſo, ſtiff, &c.

At the end of a Word it is ſoft and ſmooth, without any of the Harſhneſs above mention'd, as Cártas, Lettres, Péſas, weights, &c.

Note, That s never begins a Word in Spaniſh, when a Conſonant immediately follows, but has always an e ſet before it, tho' the VWords be deriv'd from the Latin, which begin with ſp, ſt, or ſc, for the Latin Spero, I hope, in Spaniſh is writ and ſpoke Eſpero, ſo Stella, a Star, Eſtrélla, Scribere, to write, Eſcrivir.

T, No way differs from Engliſh and other Languages, excepting only that in Spaniſh it is never us'd as in Latin and Engliſh to be pronounc'd as ci, when a Vowel follows J, as in Actio, an Action, Ambitio, Ambition, and the like, for in Spaniſh all ſuch VWords are writ with a c, as Ambición, Prudéncia, &c. The t always preſerving its own Sound before i, tho' another Vowel follows, as in Tía, an Aunt, Cantía, a Quantity, &c. Obſerve alſo that the Spaniards never write T before H, but inſtead of Theologia, Teología, for Theodoſius, Teodóſio, &c.

U, Vowel is not pronounc'd as in Engliſh, Stue, Brue, Crue, but like our ou, or rather like our double o, as Tu, you read Too, Buche, a Maw, read Booche.

V, Conſonant in Spaniſh is always pronounc'd like a b, inſomuch that they are often indifferently us'd in writing, but this muſt be done with Caution as being allowable, only in thoſe VWords, which are Originally Spaniſh, or thoſe that have the Latin p chang'd into b or v, as Cabeza, or Caveza, a Head from Caput, and theſe Allowances are but rare, for it is abſurd to believe what many ignorantly affirm, that b and v Conſonant may be indifferently us'd, becauſe pronounc'd alike. It is a general Rule without Exception that all VWords, which in Latin or other Languages from which they are deriv'd, are writ with v Conſonant, muſt be ſo writ indiſpenſably in Spaniſh, and the ſame of thoſe writ with b, and this, beſides Reaſon that pleads for it, is aſſerted by many Learned Spaniards, and among the reſt by Dr. Juan Perez de Montalvan, in his Play call'd, No ay vída cómo la hónra, towards the end of it; where he introduces the Viceroy of Valencia, blaming his Secretary for writing the VWord Vída, Life, with a b, which ſhould be an v Conſonant, in theſe VWords, Que vida con v ſe eſcrive, No Secretario con b. Thus we ſee it is againſt Orthography, to ſpell Vida, with a b, becauſe the Latin Vita, is ſpelt with v Conſonant, and the ſame is to be underſtood of all other VWords of that Nature Vaca, a Cow, Vena, a Vein, Vino, VWine, Voto, a Vow, Vulgo, the common People, &c. This ſame is aſſerted by F. Francis Peres de Naxera, in his Ortografia Caſtellana. Yet the Pronunciation is always as b, as for Vaca, pronounce Baca, for Avaro, Abaro, and ſo of all the reſt.

X, In Spaniſh call'd Equis, before all Vowels this Letter has the ſame Pronuunciation, as the Spaniſh J Conſonant, or J jota, and is therefore in ſome VWords indifferently us'd, as Xarave, or Jarave, Syrup, Bruxa, or Bruja, a VWitch. See the manner of pronouncing of it Guttural, or in the Throat in J Conſonant. This Rule is always obſerv'd when a Vowel follows it, and the VWord is merely Spaniſh, or deriv'd from the Arabick, and ſo when it ends a VWord, as Relox, a Clock, Box, &c. But in VWords deriv'd from the Latin x, is often pronune'd like an s, as in Exhortár, to exhort, pronounce Eſortar, for Eximír, to exempt, read Eſimír, for Exorbitánte, Exorbitant, Eſorbitánte. and ſo in others of this ſort. The ſame is to be obſerv'd, when a Conſonant follows x, as for Expérto, Expert, read Eſpérto, for Extérno, External, read Eſtérno, for Extrémo, Extreme, Eſtrémo.

Y, Is pronounc'd in the ſame manner as the I Vowel. Alone it ſignifies and. It is us'd before another Vowel, as in ya, already, yo, I, Ráya, a Line, alſo after a Vowel, and then the two make a ſort of Diphthong, as Náype, a Cord, Eſtóy, I am, Yégua, a Mare, Yelo, Froſt or Ice, &c. and generally it ought to be us'd in all VVords deriv'd from the Greek, and writ with Ypſilon, as Hydropico, Cyclope, &c, I ſay, it ought to be according to good Orthography, but Cuſtom, and the Ignorance of many have allow'd a Licenſe in this particular.

Z. In Spaniſh call'd Zéta, is pronunc'd very ſoft, without any of that Harſhneſs we give it in Engliſh, and has the very ſame Sound, as the ç call'd in Spaniſh C, Cedílla, which is ſweeter than the S.

Of Diphthongs.

A Diphthong, is the ſounding of Two Vowels together, as if they were but one, as in Engliſh Aid, Ailing, Audience, &c.

In Spaniſh, There are Twelve Diphthongs.

The Firſt in ai, or ay, as Gaíta, where a is moſt prevalent, Gáita, a Bag Pipe, Andáys, ye go, Cantáys, ye ſing.

The Second in ao, where a is moſt ſounded, as Saráo, a Bal or Dance, Bilbáo, the Town of Bilbao in Biſcay.

The Third in au, where a Prevails as Cáuſa, a Cauſe, Autór, an Author.

The Fourth in ei, or ey, where e is moſt prevalent, as, Rey, a King, Léy, a Law.

The Fifth in eu, where e ſounds moſt, as Féudo, A feof, Déudo, a Kinſman.

The Sixth in ia, or ya, where a ſounds moſt as Sáya, a Petticoat, Vaya, let it go, Prudéncia, Prudence.

The Seventh in ie, or ye, where e ſounds ſtrongeſt, as Viento, the VVind, Piédra, a Stone, Ciélo, Heaven.

The Eigth in io, or yo, where o prevailes, ay yo, I, Dió, he gave, Vió, he ſaw.

The Ninth in iu, where u is moſt ſounded as Ciudád, a City.

The Tenth in oi, or oy, where o prevails, as Sóy, I am, Dóy, I give.

The Eleventh in ué, where e prevails, as Fuérça, Strength, Muérte, Death.

The Twelfth in ui, or uy, where i, or y prevails, as Fuy, I was, or I meant, Cuidádo, Care.

Of Triphthongs.

A Triphthong, is the ſounding of Three Vowels together in one Syllable, of theſe there are Five Sorts.

The Firſt in iai, or yay, where the Streſs lyes upon a, as Vayáys, may you go, or that you may go.

The Second in iey, where e is ſounded ſtrongeſt, as Enzuciéys, may you foul, or that you may foul.

The Third in iue, where e is moſt pronounc'd, as Arroyuélo, a little Brook.

The Fourth in uai, or uay, where the a prevails, as Guáy, Alaſs.

The Fifth in uei, or uey, where e ſounds moſt, as Buéy, an Ox.

Of Accents.

H*Aving accented all the* Spaniſh Words throughout the Dictionary, the Learner will find where he is to lay the Streſs in every one, which is as much as is neceſſary, without deſcending to diſtinguiſh betwixt Acutes, Graves, and Circumflexes, for here only the Acute is us'd, which ſettles the Pronunciation at once, without perplexing the Memory.

It muſt be own'd, no certain Rule can be given for Accents, they vary ſo much, yet ſomething muſt be ſaid in general, which take as follows.

No Spaniſh VVords can end in any other Conſonants, but d, l, n, r, s, x, z, all which have the Accent on the laſt Syllable.

In d as, Ciudád, a City, Lealtád, Loyalty.

In l, as Animál, an Animal, General, General, or a General, Except in this Letter, A'ngel, A'bil, Apóſtol, A'rbol, Cárcel, Criſtóval, Cónſul, Débil, Difficil, Móbil, Dócil, Eſtéril, Eſtiércol, Fácil, Dátil, Frágil, U'til, Fértil, Máſtil, Mármol, Trébol.

In n, as Capitán, a Capitain, Fayſán, a Pheaſant. Except Jóven, Cármen, Crímen, Márgen, O'rden, Vírgen, Exámen, Volúmen, Imágen, Betúmen, Eſtévan.

In s, as Combés, the Deck of a Ship, Aragonés, an Arragonian. Except all Verbs ending in s, as A'mas, Lées, Dices, Andámos, Corríſteys, &c. and the Plural Number of Subſtantives, or Adjectives, as Caſas, Hómbres, Buénos, Málos, Grándes, &c. Except alſo Mártes, Juéves, Miércoles, Viérnes, and Entónces, but theſe have the Accent in the Penultima, becauſe of the Two Conſonants following together.

In r, as Mugér, Amór, Placér. Except A'nſar, A'mbar, Acíbar, Açúcar, Açófar, Alcáçar, Nácar, Cáncer, Mártyr.

In x, as Relóx, Carcáx.

In z, as Rapáz, Arraéz, Perdíz, Excepting Surnames of Families, as Martínez, A'lvarez, Rodríguez.

All VVords ending in i, have the Accent on the laſt, as Allelí, Perdí.

For the moſt part the Spaniſh VVords deriv'd from the Latin, preſerve their Accent, as Obediéncia, Benefício, Cúlpa, Dóte, Família. But we muſt except all that end in any of the Conſonants above mention'd, the Greek Names of Sciences as Filoſofía, Teología, Geografía, as alſo Antipatía.

Adverbs of Place have the Accent on the laſt Syllable, as Acá, Acullá, Allí.

All Diphthongs naturally claim the Accent on them, becauſe of the Contraction of the Two Letters into one, as Apláuſo, Niéto.

VVhen after a Vowel Two Conſonant follows, that Vowel of Courſe muſt have the Accent, as Baſtánte, Baſtárdo, Cuérdo.

This may ſuffice for Accents in general, what cannot be brought into theſe few Rules, being ſo uncertain, that it had better be left to Practice, for Abundance of Rules, and thoſe not infallible do rather amuſe than inſtruct.

OF

The Eight Parts of Speech, and firſt of the Noun.

In Spaniſh, as in Latin, there are Eight Parts of Speech.

Noun,	Declin'd	Adverb.	Undeclin'd.
Pronoun,		Conjunction,
Verb,		Prepoſition,
Participle.		Interjection.

A Subſtantive, is that which can ſtand by it ſelf, without an Adjective, as a Man, a Horſe. An Adjective is that which cannot ſtand by it ſelf as, a Learned Man, a mettleſome Horſe.

Of Nouns there are proper Names, ſignifying a thing determinate as Juán, John, Róma, Rome.

Appellatives, ſignifying things undeterminate, as Témplo, a Church, or Temple, Cáſa, a Houſe.

Diminutives, in which the Spaniſh exceeds all other Languages, there being no word but what admits of a Diminutive, and ſome of many. Theſe Diminutives are form'd by adding to the word, íllo, íco, íto, éte, íno, uélo, or éjo, and ſometimes óte.

For example, Hómbre. a Man, Forms, Hombrecíllo, Hombrecíco, Hombrecíto; Muchachó, a Boy, Muchachíllo, Muchachíco, Muchachíto, or Muchachuélo; where obſerve that the Diminutive in íllo, as Hombrecíllo is generally us'd in way of Contempt, and ſignifies a little pittiful Fellow, whereas thoſe in íco, or ito expreſs a liking or kindneſs as Juaníco or Juaníto, Johnny, or Jacky.

Diminutives in éte, or íno, as Móço, a Youth, Mocéte, a little Lad, Paloma, a Pigeon, Palomíno, a little young Pigeon; in éjo, as Cuchíllo, a Knife, Cuchilléjo, a little Knife, but this alſo implies ſomething of Contempt, or Diſlike; in óte as Hidálgo, a Gentleman, Hidalgóte, a ſmall Gentleman.

The ſame is us'd in Adjectives as Gránde, Great, Grandecíllo, Grandecíco, Grandezuelo, Grandéte, all which ſignify Greatiſh, or a little Great.

There are beſides Diminutives formed upon Diminutives, as from Chíco, ſmall, comes Chiquíto, ſmaller, and from that Chiquitico, &c.

As there are Diminutives, ſo there are Augmentatives, which increaſe a thing without any Degree of Compariſon. Theſe are form'd by adding to the Noun, ázo, or on, as Hombre, a Man, Hombrázo, a great luſty Man; Pérro, a Dog, Perrázo, a great large Dog. In on, as Sortíja, a Ring, Sortijón, a great Ring.

The Nowns Numeral or of Number, are as follows.

1	Uno	15	Quínze	90	Novénta	2000	Dos míl
2	Dos	16	Diés y séys	100	Cién, or Ciénto	3000	Tres míl
3	Tres	17	Diéz y siéte	101	Ciénto y uno	4000	Quátro míl
4	Quátro	18	Diéz y ócho	200	Doçiéntos or doziéntos	5000	Cínco míl
5	Cinco	19	Diez y nuéve	300	Treziéntos	6000	Séys míl
6	Seys	20	Véynte	400	Quatrociéntos	7000	Siéte míl
7	Siéte	21	Veinte y uno	500	Quiniéntos	8000	O'cho míl
8	O'cho	22	Veyntidos, &c.	600	Seyſciéntos	9000	Nuéve míl
9	Nuéve	30	Tréynta	700	Séteciéntos	10000	Diéz míl
10	Diéz	40	Quarénta	800	Ochociéntos	100:00	Cién míl
11	O'nze	50	Cincuénta	900	Nuéve ciéntos	1000000	Millón
12	Dóze	60	Seſénta	1000	Mil	2000000	Dos millónes
13	Tréze	70	Seténta	1500	Míl y quiniéntos	3000000	Tres millones.
14	Catórze	80	Ochénta

The Ordinals, which declare the Order of a Place or Time, As Priméro, Segúndo, Tercéro, Quárto, Quínto, Sexto, Septímo, or Seténo, Octávo, Nóno, or Novéno, Décimo, or Dezéno, Onzéno, Dozéno, Trezéno, Catorzéno, Quinzéno, Décimo séxto, Décimo séptimo, Décimo octavo, Décimo nóno, Veinténo, Treinténo, Quarenténo, Cincuenténo, Seſenténo, Setenténo, Ochenténo, Noventéno, Centéſimo, or Cienténo, Doſienténo Trezenténo, Quatrocienténo, Quinienténo, Seyſcienténo, Sietecienténo, Ochocienténo, Nuevecienténo, Miléſſimo.

Of Adjectives.

THE Spaniſh Adjectives Termination is generally in e, or o.

Thoſe that terminate in e, admit of no Variation in any gender, as in the Adjectives, Gránde, Great, Dúlce, Sweet, Terríble, Terrible, &c. we ſay lo gránde, what is great, Hómbre gránde, a great Man, Mugér gránde, a great Woman.

Thoſe ending in o, have the Feminine Gender in a, as Buéno, Good, Hombre Buéno, a good Man, Mugér Buéna, a good Woman.

There are ſome other Adjectives, which have their Termination in l, as Útil, uſeful, Débil, weak, Frágil, Frail, Fertil. Fruitful, and others in z, as Capáz, Capable, Rapaz, Ravenous, &c. And theſe keep their Termination in all Genders.

Note, That the Adjectives Gránde and Buéno, when placed before the Subſtantive often looſe their laſt Syllable, and ſo we ſay Gran Hómbre, Buen Hómbre, &c. But this does not happen always, and no certain Rule can be given for it, ſo that it muſt be left to be learnt by Practice. In like manner Santo, when it ſignifies a Saint, always has the laſt Syllable cut off, and we ſay San Pédro, San Andrés, &c. except only Santo Domingo, Santo Tomas, Santo Toribio, becauſe in theſe and ſuch like, the cutting off the Syllable to, would loſe the Sound of the Name, but in Santa no Letter is ever cut off.

Adjectives, have three Degrees, the Poſitive, the Comparative, and the Superlative. The Poſitive has been already ſpoken of. In Spaniſh there are no Comparatives form'd but their Defect is ſupply'd by adding to the Poſitive, the Articles Mas, more, or Ménos, leſs, as Claro, Bright, Mas cláro, Brighter, Vil, Baſe, Mas vil, Baſer.

The Superlatives are form'd, when the Poſitive ends in a Vowel, by changing it into iſſimo, as Cláro, Bright, Clariſſimo, moſt Bright, and if the Poſitive ends in a Conſonant, then iſſimo is added, as Vil, Baſe, Viliſſimo, moſt Baſe.

Except from theſe Rules the following Words:

Buéno, Good, Mejór, Better, Boníſſimo, Beſt of all.
Málo, Bad, Peór, worſe, Péſſimo, or Maliſſimo, worſt of all.
Gránde, Great, Mayór, Greater, Grandíſſimo, Greateſt of all.
Pequéño, little, Menor, leſs, Mínimo, or Pequeñíſſimo, leaſt of all.
Múcho, much, Mas, more, Muchíſſimo, moſt of all.
Poco, little, Ménos, leſs, Poquíſſimo, leaſt of all.

The

Of Genders.

ALL that have hitherto treated of Spaniſh Grammar, have differ'd about the Genders, ſome allowing but of Two ſome of Three, and others of more, as doubtleſs there are and will be here made appear. The Reaſon of doubting is becauſe there are but Two Articles to expreſs the Genders of Subſtantives, as El Hómbre, the Man, la Mugér, the Woman, but there is a Third, when Adjectives become Subſtantive, as lo Buéno, what is good, lo malo, what is bad.

Thus we ſee the Article El, expreſſes the Maſculine Gender, La, the Feminine, and Lo, the Neuter, and thus we have Three Genders.

Another Reaſon, why ſome do not admit of the Neuter Gender, is becauſe there are no Spaniſh Subſtantives of it, and therefore they Exclude it, but ſince it appears to be us'd at all, there is no Reaſon why it ſhould not be receiv'd. Beſides we have it Demonſtrative in the Articles Eſte Hómbre, this Man, Eſta Muger, this Woman, Eſto, this thing, anſwering to the Latin Hic, Hæc, Hoc, and ſo in other Caſes.

The Common of Two is found in Nouns, which under the ſame Termination ſignify both Man and Woman, or Male and Female, as Eſte Guárda, this Man Keeper, Eſta Guárda, this Woman Keeper.

The Epicene in thoſe which under the ſame Termination, ſignify both Male and Female, and have only the Maſculine or the Feminine Article to expreſs both kinds, as Eſta codorníz mácho, this Cock Quail, or Eſte çorçál hémbra, this Female Thruſh.

There are Words of the doubtful Gender, which have either the Maſculine or the Feminine Article prefixt, as Arte, Art, Canál, a Canal, Eclípſe, an Eclypſe, Embléma, an Emblem, Mar, the Sea, Orden, Order, Márgen, a Margent, Orígen, an Original, Téma, a Theme.

To know the Genders of Nouns, obſerve theſe Rules.

ALL Nouns ending in a, are of the Feminine Gender, as Pláça, a Square, or Market, Roſa, a Roſe, &c. Except Cométa, a Comet, Día, a Day, and Planéta, a Planet, Proféta, a Prophet, Evangeliſta, an Evangeliſt, Poeta, a Poet, Ateíſta, an Atheiſt, Calviniſta, a Calviniſt, Anabatíſta, an Anabaptiſt, Jeſuita, a Jeſuit, Alquimíſta, a Chimiſt. Alſo thoſe that come from the Greek, as Dógma, Probléma, and others, but Embléma, is of a doubtful Gender.

Nouns ending in e, are of the Maſculine Gender, as Diénte, a Tooth, Mónte, a Mountain. Except Azúmbre, a Liquid Meaſure of near Three Pints, Adárme, a Dram, Almágre, Red Oker, A'nade, a Duck, Alvayalde, Ceruſe, A've, a Fowl, Calámbre, the Cramp, Calle a Street, Cárne, Fleſh, Cláve, a Key of an Organ, Córte, when it ſignifies a Princes Court, for when it ſignifies cutting, ſhaping or contriving, it is Maſculin; Corriénte, a Current, Dóte, a Dowry, Eſpécie, a Species, Fe, Faith, Frente, the Forehead, Fuénte, a Fountain, Génte, People, Léche, Milk, Llave, a Key, Ménte, the Mind, Muérte, Death, Niéve, Snow, Nóche, Night, Núbe, a Cloud, Náve, a Ship, Puénte, a Bridge, Párte, a part, Serpiénte, a Serpent, Tróxe, a Granary. And Nouns ending in re, as Coſtúmbre, Cuſtom, Sángre, Blood, &c. yet from this Exception are again excepted Cóbre, Copper, Cófre, a Trunk, Enjámbre, a Swarm, Nómbre, a Name, and the Names of Months, as Setiembre, Otúbre, Noviémbre, Diziémbre, which are Maſculine.

Nouns ending in i, if Arabick are Maſculine, Alhelí, a Lilly; but if Greek, they are Feminine, as Sintáxi, Syntax, Paréntеſi, a Parenthеſis, is Maſculine.

Nouns ending in o, are Maſculine, as Cámpo, a Field, Témplo, a Church. Except Máno, a Hand, Náo, a Ship, Pro, Good.

Nouns in u, are Maſculine, as Eſpirítu, the Spirit, Impetu, Violence.

Nouns ending in y, are Feminine, as Léy, Law, Gréy, a Flock. Except Réy, a King.

Nouns ending in d, are of the Feminine Gender, as Caridád, Charity, except Céſped, a Turf, Huéſped, a Gueſt, or Heſt, Ardíd, a Stratagem, Adalíd, a Leader, Cenít, the Zenith, Almúd, a ſort of Meaſure, Ataúd, a Coffin, and Laúd, a Lute which are Maſculine.

Nouns in l, are Maſculine, as Pardál, a Sparrow, &c. Except Cal, Lime, Sal, Salt, Señál, a Sign, or Token, Cárcel, a Priſon, Hiél, Gaul, Miél, Honey, and Piél the Skin.

Nouns in n, are Maſculine, as Carbón, Cole, &c. Except Sién, the Temple of the Head, thoſe that are deriv'd from the Latin Termination in go, as Imágen, from Imago, Márgen, from Margo; alſo thoſe in ion, as Región, a Region, Elección, Election; and thoſe in açón, as Raçon, Reaſon, Sazón, Seaſon; but Coraçón, the Hart, and Taraçón, a Piece, are Maſculine.

Nouns in r, are Maſculine, as Amór, Love, &c. Except Segúr, an Axe, Flor, a Flower, and Labór, Work.

Nouns in s, are Maſculine, as Combés, the Deck of a Ship, &c. Except Miés, Harveſt, Res, a Head of Cattle, Tos, a Cough.

Nouns ending in x, are Maſculine, as Relóx, a Clock, Carcáx, a Quiver, &c.

Thoſe ending in z, are for the moſt part Feminine, as Paz, Peace, Niñéz, Childhood, Naríz, the Noſe, Hoz, a Sickle, Luz, Light. Except Agráz, Verjuice, Soláz, Comfort, Antitaz, a Veile, Almiréz, a Morter, Dobléz, a Fold, or Falſhood, Jaez, Furniture for a Horſe, Pez, a Fiſh, Axedréz, a Checker, or Draughtbord, Varníz, Vermiſh, Tapís, a Carpet, Matíz, a ſhaddowing in Painting, Voz, a Voice, Albornóz, a Mooriſh Coat, Arróz, Rice, and Altramúz, a Lupin.

To theſe Rules add, that all Nouns ſignifying the Male muſt be Maſculine, as Pedro, Peter, Dúque, a Duke, León, a Lion, Gallo, a Cock, and ſo thoſe that ſignify the Female are Feminine, as María, Mary, Condeſſa, a Counteſs, Leóna, a Lionneſs, Gallína, a Hen. This is as much as need be ſaid of Genders, there being ſcarce any Word, but what will be comprehended within theſe Rules.

Of the Declenſiors and the Articles.

THE Spaniards do not Decline by changing the Termination, as in Latin, but by adding and varying the Articles, as is done in Engliſh. They have but Two Numbers, the Singular, and the Plural, and Six Caſes, as in Latin. For the better underſtanding whereof, I will firſt ſpeak of the Articles

El, The Article of the Maſculine Gender, is always placed before Nouns Maſculine, as el Hombre, the Man; and ſometimes before the Feminine if they begin with a, which is done only Euphoníæ gratia, or for the better Sound, as El Agua, the Water, or El Anima, the Soul, becauſe it Sounds better than La Anima, or La Agua, yet this is not always done neither, for they often ſay and write La Antiguedád, and ſo in others.

This ſame Article el revers'd, which makes le, is often plac'd after a Verb, and is then Relative, as Llamadle, call him, Díle, tell him, It is alſo frequently Demonſtrative, as El que díze éſto, He that ſays this; and is us'd as a Pronoun Relative, as El me díxo éſto, he told me this.

La, The Feminine Article is plac'd before Nouns Feminine, as la Mugér, the Woman, except thoſe that begin in a, as was ſaid before. It is us'd after a Verb, like the Maſculine, but needs not reverſing as that does, for we ſay Llamádla, call her, Amádla, love her. Yet the Maſculine Article is often us'd in this Nature, tho' ſpeaking of a Woman, for we ſay Díle, tell her, or him, and never Díla.

Lo, Is the Neuter Article, and only us'd before Adjectives made Subſtantives, or taken in the Senſe of Subſtantives, as lo gránde, what is great, &c. It is alſo us'd before a Verb, as Quanto dixéres todo lo apruévo, All you ſay I approve off.

The Maſculine Article is thus Declin'd.

Sing.	Plur.
Nom. El, the	Nom. Los, the
Gen. Del, of the	Gen. De los, of the
Dat. A, or al, to the	Dat. A los, to the
Accuſ. El, the	Accuſ. Los, the
Ablat. Del, from the	Ablat. De los, from the.

The Feminine Article is Declin'd thus.

Sing,	Plur.
Nom. La, the	Nom. Las, the
Gen. De las, of the	Gen. De las, of the
Dat. A la, to the	Dat. A las, to the
Accuſ, La, the	Accuſ. Las, the
Ablat. De la, from the	Ablat. De las, from the

The Neuter Article thus:

Sing.
Nom. Lo, the	Accuſ. Lo, the
Gen. De lo, of the	Ablat. De lo, from the
Dat. A lo, to the	It has no Plural.

Of the Plural Number.

ALL Spaniſh Words which have their Termination in a Vowel, except y, in the Singular Number, form the Plural, by adding the Letter s, as Hómbre, a Man, Hómbres Men, Cavállo, a Horſe, Cavállos, Horſes, &c.

But all Words ending in Conſonants, which as was obſerv'd before, can be only d, l, n, r, s, x, and z, in the Singular, to form the Plural Number, add es, and the Words ending in y, follow the ſame Rule, as in the following Examples.

In d.

Perdíz, A Patridge.	Perdízes, Patridges.
Voz, A Voice.	Vózes, Voices.
Cruz, A Croſs.	Crúzes, Croſſes.

Theſe are certain Rules for forming the Plural Number, and for the Caſes it has been ſaid before, that they admit of no Variation in the Termination, but are declin'd by the Article, as in the following Examples.

Example of the Maſculine Gender.

Sing.	Plur.
Nom. El Pádre, The Father.	Nom. Los Pádres, The Fathers.
Gen. Del Pádre, Of the Father.	Gen. De los Pádres, Of the Fathers.

Ablat. Del Padre, From the Father.	Ablat. De los Pádres, From the Fathers.

Sing.	Plur.
Nom. La Mádre, The Mother.	Nom. Las Mádres, The Mothers.
Gen. De la Madre, Of the Mother.	Gen. De las Mádres, Of the Mothers.
Dat. A la Mádre, To the Mother.	Dat. A las Mádres, To the Mothers.
Accuſ. La Mádre, the Mother.	Accuſ. Las Mádres, the Mothers.
Voc. O Mádre, O Mother.	Voc. O Mádres, O Mothers.
Ablat. De la Mádre, From the Mother.	Ablat. De las Mádres, From the Mothers.

Adjectives,

Adjectives are declin'd after the ſame manner as Subſtantives, and therefore there needs no Example of them. Only obſerve that Adjectives made Subſtantives as was ſaid above, which are of the Neuter Gender, as lo buéno, lo grande, &c. are declin'd in the ſame manner with the Article lo, inſtead of el, or la, and have no Plural Number.

Of Pronouns.

Pronouns are certain Words put into the Place, or ſubſtituted inſtead of Nouns, ſerving to ſhow or expreſs the Perſon or thing, before nam'd without naming it over again, or a Perſon or thing not before nam'd.

There are ſeveral ſorts of Pronouns, ſome are call'd Primitives, or Perſonal, as Yo, I, Tu, you, ſi, he, or himſelf, No ſotros, or Nos, we, Voſótros, or Vos, ye.

Deritatives, or Poſſeſſives, as deriv'd from thoſe above, and ſignifying Poſſeſſion, as, Mío, mine, Túyo, yours, Súyo, his, Nuéſtro, ours, Vuéſtro, yours, and their Feminine Gender, Mía, Túya, Súya, Nuéſtra, Vuéſtra. Obſerve that before all Subſtantives for Mío, Túyo, Súyo, it muſt always be ſpoken and written, Mi, Tu, Su, as mi Pádre, my Father, tu Mádre, your Mother, ſu Aguélo, his Grandfather. But when a Queſtion is ask'd, then the Anſwer is Mío, Túyo, Súyo, mine, yours, his, as Cúyo es eſſe Guánte? Whoſe Glove is that? Anſwer, Túyo, yours. Cúyo es eſſe Cuchíllo? Whoſe Knife is that? Anſwer, Súyo, his. And the ſame in the Feminine Gender.

To make the Plural Number of Mío, Túyo, Súyo, Mi, Tu, Su, ad the s, as was ſaid in the Nouns, and you have Míos, Túyos, Súyos, Mis, Tus, Sus.

Demonſtratives, as éſte, éſta, éſto, This. Eſſe, éſſa, éſſo, that ſame, el, élla, éllo, he, ſhe, or that. E'ſte, éſta, éſſe, éſſa and el, are always plac'd before Nouns, as éſte Libro, this Book, éſſa Cárne, that Fleſh; but éſto, éſſo, and éllo, are ſpoken abſolutely. The Particles of the Caſes are generally contracted with thoſe Pronouns, as déſte, for de éſte, deſtos, for de eſtos.

Relatives, as Qual, which, Quién, who, and Qué, what.

For the Declining of Pronouns, ſee the following Examples.

The Firſt Perſon Yo, thus declin'd.

Sing.	Nom.	Yo.	Plu.	Nom.	Nos,	Noſótros.	Fem. Plu	Noſótras.
	Gen.	De mi.		Gen.	De nos,	de noſótros.		De noſótras.
	Dat.	A mi.		Dat.	A nos,	a noſótros.		A noſótras.
	Accuſ.	A mi.		Accuſ.	A nos,	a noſótros.		A noſótras.
	Ablat.	De mi.		Ablat.	De nos,	de noſótros.		De noſótras.

This Pronun in the ſingular Number ſerves as well for the Maſculine as Feminine Gender, ſo in the Plural does Nos. But Noſótros only to the Maſculine, and Noſótras to the Feminine.

The Spaniards in Speech and Writing uſe this Pronoun Nos with the Firſt Perſon Plural of the Imperative Mood, by taking away s, from the Verb, as Vámonos, for Vámos Nos, let us go: Dexémonos, for Dexémos Nos, let us leave.

The Second Perſon Tu, thus declin'd.

					Maſcul.	Fem.
Sing.	Nom.	Tu,	Plur.	Nom.	Vos Voſótros,	Voſótras.
	Gen.	De Ti,		Gen.	De Vos De Voſótros,	De Voſótras.
	Dat.	A Ti,		Dat.	A Vos Voſótros,	A Voſótras.
	Accu.	A Ti,		Accuſ.	A Vos, A Voſótros,	A Voſótras.
	Abl.	De Ti,		Ablat.	De Vos, De Voſótros,	De Voſótras.

Note, That the Spaniards generally join to the Infinitive Mood of any Verb, this Particle os, which is as much as vos, as Habláros, to ſpeak to you, Véros, to ſee you, Dezíros, to tell you.

The Third Perſon Si, thus

Nom.	Si.	Accuſ.	A ſi.
Gen.	De ſi.	Ablat.	De ſi
Dat.	A ſi.

And has no Plural Number, nor Fewinine Gender, unleſs you add Míſmo to it, for the Maſculine and Míſma for the Feminine Gender, and then it has Míſmos and Míſmas in the Plural.

The Poſſeſſives Mío, Túyo, and Súyo, mine, thine, and his, and Mi, Tu, Su, my, your, his, as alſo Nueſtro and Vueſtro, all following the ſame Rules without any Variation, it is needleſs to decline them here.

The Demonſtratives, E'ſte and El, thus.

Sing.	Nom.	éſte,	éſta,	éſto.	Plur.	Nom.	éſtos,	éſtas.
	Gen.	Déſte,	Déſta,	Déſto.		Gen.	Déſtos,	Déſtas.
	Dat.	A éſte,	A éſta,	A éſto.		Dat.	A éſtos,	A éſtas.
	Accuſ.	A éſte,	A éſta,	A éſto.		Accuſ.	A éſtos,	A éſtas.
	Abl.	Déſte,	Déſta,	Déſto.		Abl.	Déſtos.	Déſtas.

In the ſingular Number of this Pronoun, the firſt Words in e, as éſte, déſte, para éſte, &c. are of the Maſculine Gender: The Second, éſta, déſta, para éſta, &c. of the Feminine: The Third, as éſto déſto, &c. of the Neuter: But in the Plural, the firſt is the Maſculine and Neuter: The other the Feminine Gender.

In the Genitive Caſe, we ſay déſte, and déſtos, caſting away the firſt e, Euphoniæ gratia, that it may ſound the ſmoother, yet one may alſo ſay, de éſte, de éſtos.

Aquéſte, Aquéſta, Aquéſto, declin'd in the ſame manner, and ſo is éſte, éſte, éſto.

Aquél, and El, are declin'd both alike, but note that the Pronoun El, differs in declining from the Article El, eſpecially in the Plural Number, where this Pronoun makes Ellos, and the Article Los, as may be ſeen comparing them.

		Maſcul.	Fem.	Neu.		Maſc.	Fem.
Sing.	Nom.	El,	élla,	éllo.	Plur.	Nom. éllos.	éllas.
	Gen.	Dél,	Délla,	Délla,		Gen. Déllos,	Déllas.
	Dat.	A el,	A élla,	A éllo,		Dat. A éllos,	A éllas.
	Acc.	A el,	A élla,	A éllo,		Accu. A éllos,	A éllas.
	Abl.	Del.	Délla,	Délla.		Abl. Déllos,	Déllas.

Note, That the Spaniards uſe this Pronoun Le before a Verb thus, Le vino a la Memoria, it came to his Memory: Le dixo, he told him: Que del alma le ſalia, which came from his Soul: Dar le lo, to give him that: Le reſpondió, he anſwer'd him.

Alſo they uſe Le joyn'd to the Infinitive Mood of a Verb, by changing of the Infinitive into l, Euphoniæ gratia, as Hablárle, to ſpeak to him, Hablálle: Oýrle, to hear him, Oylle: Vérle, to ſee him, Velle.

The Relatives Que, Quien, Qual, thus.

Sing. and Plural.	Nom.	Qué.
	Gen.	De Qué.
	Dat.	A Qué.
	Accuſ.	Qué.
	Ablat.	De Qué.

In the ſame manner is Quien declined.

El qual.

		Maſc.	Fem.	Neut.		Maſc.	Fem.
Sing.	Nom.	El qual,	la qual,	lo qual.	Plur. Nom.	Los quales,	las quales.
	Gen.	Del qual,	de la qual,	de lo qual.	Gen.	De los quales,	de las quales.
	Dat.	Al qual,	a la qual,	a lo qual.	Dat.	A los quales,	a las quales.
	Accuſ.	El qual,	la qual,	lo qual.	Accuſ.	los quales,	las quales.
	Ablat.	Del qual,	de la qual,	de lo qual.	Ablat.	De los quales,	de las quales.

Thus much for the Pronouns.

Of Verbs.

Verbs may be divided into Active and Paſſive, as in Latin, but the Spaniſh Paſſive if only form'd by joyning the Auxiliary Verb Soy, I am, to the Participle, as in Engliſh, thus Soy Amádo, I am lov'd, Ser amádo, to be lov'd; or by adding the Particle Se, either before or after the Verb, as Se Dize, or Dízeſe, it is ſaid, and theſe are us'd in all Tenſes, Moods and Perſons, and therefore no more need be ſaid of the Paſſive.

Of Conjugations.

There are in Spaniſh but three Conjugations both for Regular and Irregular Verbs.
The firſt ends in ár, as, Amár, to love, Hablár, to ſpeak.
The Second in er, as, Perdér, to loſe, Caér, to fall.
The Third in ir, or yr, as Cumplír, to perform, Oýr, to Hear.

Of Moods.

The Moods are Five, as in Latin, viz. The Indicative, the Imperative, the Optative, the Subjunctive, and the Infinitive.

Of Tenſes.

The Tenſes may be ſaid to be Seven, viz. The Preſent, the Preter Imperfect, the firſt Preter Perfect, the Second Preſect, the Preter Pluperfect, the Firſt Future and the Second Future.

Indicative Mood.

THE Preſent Tenſe of the Indicative Mood of all Conjugations of Regular Verbs, is form'd by changing ar, er, or ir into o, as Amár, Amo, Veér, Véo, Cumplír, Cúmplo.

The Preterimperfect of the Indicative, of Verbs Regular, of the Second and Third Conjugation in ia, or ya, as Perdía, I did loſe: Caýa, I did fall, &c. Oýa, I did hear, Cumplía, I did accompliſh, &c. And of the Firſt Conjugation all in áva, as Miráva, I did behold: Habláva, I did ſpeak.

The Firſt Preterperfect in y, or i, as oý, perdí, I have heard, I have loſt: but of the firſt Conjugation all in é, as, Miré, I have beheld: Hablé, I have ſpoken.

The Second Preterperfect of all the Three Conjugations of all Verbes with this Verb Hé, and the Participle, as Hé mirádo, I have beheld: Hé leýdo, I have read: Hé oýdo, I have heard.

The Preterpluperfect thus, avía mirádo, leýdo, oýdo, I had beheld, read, heard.

The Future, of the Indicative of all Verbs Regular, and Irregular in ré, as Hablaré, I will ſpeak: Leeré, oyré, haré, podré, ſabré, Daré.

The Second Future with the Auxiliary Hé, or Téngo, and the Infinitive Mood, as He, or Téngo de Dár, de Léer de Oýr.

The Spaniards have the Gerund in Do, as Amándo, Leyendo, Loving, Reading, but no other Gerund, nor any Participle, unleſs the Paſſive Amádo, Lov'd, ſee more of the Participle in its Place.

Next follow the Examples for Conjugating of Regular Verbs, and after them the Irregular, firſt of the Auxiliary Verbs.

The declining of the firſt Auxiliary Verb Aver, to Have.

Indicative Mood.

	Yo hé,	I have.		Avía,
	Tu ás,	Thou haſt.		Avías,
	Aquel á, or há.	He hath.		Avía.
Preſ.	Plural.	Plural.	Preter Imperfect	Plur.	I had.
	noſótros Avémos, or Hémos.	We have.		Avíamos,	Thou hadſt, &c.
	voſótros Avéys.	Ye have.		Avíadeys,
	aquellos án, or hán.	They have.		Avían.

First Preter Perfect. { U'vé, Uvíſte, U'vo, or Húvo. / Uvímos, Uvíſteis, Uviéron, or Huviéron. } I have had, &c. — Preter Pluperfect Tenſe. { Avía, Avías, Avía. / Avíamos, Avíadeis, Avían. } Avído. — I ſhall or will have, &c.

Second Preter Perfect. { Yo He, Tu ás, Aquél á, or Ha. / Avémos. / Noſótros hémos, or Voſótros Aveys. / Aquéllos án, or hán. } Aví-do. — I have had, &c. — Futur. { Avré, Avrás, Avrá. / Avrémos, Avreys, Avrán. } — Have thou &c.

This will not admit of a Second Future.

Imperative Mood.

{ A'yas tu, or Aved vos. / A'ya aquel. / Ayámos noſótros, / Avéd voſótros, / A'yan aquéllos. } Have thou, &c.

The Spaniards uſe inſtead of this Imperative Mood, the Word Ten of Tengo, I have, or I hold: Which Tengo is often us'd for this Verb He.

This Imperative Mood, Ten of Tengo, ſo commonly us'd for áyas, áya, is thus declin'd.

Tén tu.	Hold thou.
Ténga aquel.	Let him hold.
Tengámus noſótros.	Hold we, or let us hold.
Tenéd voſótros.	Hold ye.
Téngan aquéllos.	Hold they, or let them hold.

See this Verb among the Irregular.

Nota, The Optative Mood is us'd with theſe Signs, Oxalá, or elſe O ſi, or Pluguiéſſe a Dios, would to God, I pray God, God grant. The Potential like the Latin, with theſe Signs, May, can, might, would, ſhould, or ought: Both declin'd like the Subjunctive following: But that the Optative and Potential, always make their Future Tenſe and Preſent Tenſe all alike, as Oxalá yo áya, I pray God I have: So in the Future, Oxalá yo áya, I pray God I have hereafter: Oxalá yo Revéle, God grant I reveal, Future tenſe alſo, Oxalá yo Revéle, God grant I reveal hereafter, and ſo of the reſt.

And becauſe the Optative and Potential, have their Future Tenſes all one with their Preſent; And the Subjunctive has two Futures, and both differing from the Preſent, I will decline the Subjunctive, by which the other Two are fram'd.

Subjunctive Mood.

Preſ. Como. { A'ya, Ayas, Aya. / Ayámos, Ayáys, A'yan. } When I had.

Preter Imperf. Como. { Auría, uviéra, uviéſſe. / Aurías, uviéras, uviéſſes, / Auría, uviéra, uviéſſe. / auríamos uviéramos, uviéſſemos / auríadeis, uviéradeis, uviéſſedeis, / Aurían, uviéran, uviéſſen, } When I had or did have, &c.

Or decline with H. Huviéra, Huviéſſe, or Oviéra, Oviéſſe.

Preter Perfec. Como. { A'ya, A'yas, A'ya. / Ayámos, Ayáys, A'yan. } Avído. — When I have had, &c.

Preter Pluper. Como. { Uviéra, or Uviéſſe. / Uviéras, or Uviéſſes. / Uviéra, or Uviéſſe. / Uviéramos, or Uviéſſemos. / Uviérades, or Uviéſſedeis. / Uviéran, or Uviéſſen. } When I had had, &c.

Firſt Future Como { Uviére, Uviéres, Uviére. / Uviéremos, Uviéredeis, Uviéren. } When I ſhall have hereafter, &c

Second Future Como. { Auré. / Auras, Aura, / Aurémos, Auréys, Aurán. } Avído, — When I ſhall have hereafter, &c.

All Verbs whoſe Infinitives end in ir, or yr, are declin'd in every Reſpect like this: Except thoſe in ir and yr, in the Irregulars following.

Of Verbs Paſſives.

The Spaniards as the Italian and French decline their Verbs Paſſives, with their Verb Soy, es, fue, and the Participle of the Preter Tenſe, as of Revelár, to reveal: Soy Reveládo, I am reveal'd.

The Spaniſh form the Participle Paſſive of the Firſt and Third Conjugation of their Infinitive Mood, by taking away r, and putting to do, as of Revelár, to reveal, Reveládo, Pedír, to require, Pedído, required, Oýr, to hear, Oÿdo, heard.

But in the Second Conjugation, they change er into ÿdo, or ído, as Leer, to read, Leydo: Entendér, to underſtand, Entendído.

Arrepntír, to repent, Arrepiénto.
Consentír, to consent, Consiénto.
Mentír, to lye, Miénto.

The Verbs Elegír, and Regír, to choose, and to rule, change eg into ij in the same Moods, Tenses, and Persons as above, Elegír, Elíjo, Regír, Ríjo, &c.

Fingír, to feign, and Ungír, to anoint, in the same manner, make Fínjo, and U'njo, and so in the other Moods, Tenses and Persons above mention'd.

Seguír, makes Sígo, Sigues, Sigue, Sigámos, Seguid, Sigán, and so in the other Moods, Tenses, and Persons as above: These that follow in the same Moods, Tenses, and Persons above mention'd conjugated, as here noted.

Conduzír, to conduct. Condúzgo, Condúzes, Condúze, Conduzímos, Conduzís, Condúcen. Preterperfect, Condúxe, Conduxísse, &c. Opt. and Subjunct. Pres. Condúzga. Pret. Imperf. Conduxéra, or Conduxésse. Fut. Conduxére. In the same manner, Introduzír, Induzír, Traduzír, and Produzír.

Salír, to go out, Sálgo, Sáles, Sále, Salímos, Salís, Salén. Imper. Sál, Sálga, Salgámos, Salid, Salgán. Opt. and Conjunc. Sálga, the rest Regular.

Of Verbs Impersonals.

THE Spanish Impersonals like the Latin, want the First and Second Person, and are declin'd only in the Third Person throughout all Mood and Tenses, as

Indicative Mood.

	Present. Ay,		There is.
	Imperfect. Avía,		There was.
1	Perfect. U'vo,		There was.
2	Perfect. á,	} Avído, {	There has been.
	Pluperfect. avía,		There had been.
	Future. Avrá.		There shall be, &c.
	Imperat. A'ya,		Let there be.

Subjunctive Mood.

Present. Aya,		When there is.
Imperfect. Uviéra, avría, uviésse.		When there was.
Perfect. Aya avído,		When there has been.
Pluperfect. Uviéra, or uviésse avído,		When there had been.
Future. Uviére, or avra avído.		When there shall have been.

Indicative Mood.

Present. Cúmple,		It behoves, or is fit.
Imperfect. Cumplía,		It did behove, or was fit.
1 Perfect. Cumplió,		It has behov'd, or has been fit.
2 Perfect. A Cumplído,
Pluperfect. Avía Cumplído,
Future. Cumplirá.

And so through the Third Person of the rest.

Indicative Mood.

Preſent.	Es meneſtér,	It behoves,
Imperfect.	E'ra meneſtér,	I did behove.
1 Perfect.	Fué meneſtér,	It did behove.
2 Perfect.	A ſído meneſtér,	It has behov'd.
Pluperfect.	Avía ſído meneſtér,	It had behov'd.
Future.	Será meneſtér.	It will behove.

The Verb Impersonal Plazér.

Indicative Mood.

Preſent.	Pláze,	It pleaſes.
Imperfect.	Plazía,	It did pleaſe.
1 Perfect.	Plúgo,	It did pleaſe.
2 Perfect.	A Plazído,	It has pleas'd.
Pluperfect.	Avía Plazído,	It had pleas'd.
Future.	Plazerá,	It will pleaſe.

Subjunctive Mood.

Preſent.	Pléga,	When it does pleaſe.
Imperfect.	Pluguiéra, Pluguiéſſe,	When it did pleaſe.
Perfect.	Aya Plazído,	When it has pleas'd.
Pluperfect.	Uviéra Plazído,	When it had pleas'd.
Future.	Pluguiére,	When it will pleaſe.

To form an Impersonal Paſſive, you muſt take this Particle Se, and the Third Perſon of any Verb thus: Which Particle ſo added makes a Verb Impersonal Paſſive, as

Preſ.	Se Díze,	It is ſaid or ſpoken.
Imperf.	Se Dezía,
1 Perfect.	Se Díxo,	It was ſaid or ſpoken, &c.
2 Perfect.	Se a Dícho,
Pluperf.	Se avía Dicho,
Future.	Se Dira.

Of Participles.

In Spaniſh, properly ſpeaking there is no Participle of the Preſent Tenſe Active, but the want of it is ſupply'd by the Third Perſon of the Preſent Tenſe of the Indicative Mood, and the Article El, as El que revéla, Revealing, or he that reveales.

Participles of the Preter Tenſe and Paſſive Signification end in ádo, ído, or ydo, which in the Firſt Conjugation are, form'd of the Third Perſon of the Preſent Tenſe of the Indicative Mood, by adding do, as, Revéla, reveládo: Ama, amádo: Caſtíga, caſtigádo: And in the Second and Third Conjugation of the ſame Preſent Tenſe, by changing e, into ído and ydo, as Entiénde, entendído: Lée, Leýdo, Crée, Creýdo, Pide, Pedído.

But for the Irregular (according to the Nature of the Word) without Rule, Dícho, ſaid, ſpoken, Hécho, made.

The Future Tenſe with this Verb Ha, or Eſpéra, and the Infinitive of the Verb, as El que ha, or Eſpera de revelár Eutendér, or oyr: About to reveal, about to underſtand, about to hear.

Of Adverbs.

Having ſpoken of the Four Parts of Speech declin'd, we come next to the Four undeclinable, the Firſt of which is the Adverb. Of theſe ſome are Primitives, as Si, yes, No, no. Others Derivatives, ſome of which proceed from the Feminine Gender of Adjectives, as Alta, high, Altaménte, highly, Gracioſa, pretty, or pleaſant, Gracioſaménte, prettily, or pleaſantly. The ſeveral ſorts of Adverbs are as follows.

Of Conjunctions.

A Conjunction is that which joins parts of Speech together, whereof some are Copulative, as

Y, and E, And.
Cómo, As.
También, Also.

Note, That e is little us'd in Spanish at present, but is frequent in Old Books. Others are Disjunctive, as

Ni, Neither, Nor.
O, Either, Or.
Others Causative, as Porqué, Wherefore.
Others Conditional, as Si, If.
Dado que, If so.
Others of Exception as Sino, Except, if not.
Mas, But.
Otraménte, Otherwise.
Others of other sorts as Alomenos, At least.
Aunque, Altho.
Toda via, Notwithstanding.

Of Prepositions.

Prepositions are either us'd in Composition, or not compounded. Those us'd in Composition are, a, ad, am, com, des, di, dis, en, ex, in, ob, pre, pro, re, se, sa, and su. In a, as, Aclámo, I shout to. In ad, as, Advenedizo, a Stranger in am, as ampáro, Protection. In com, as Compáro, I compare, and this Preposition always implies putting together. In des signifying the contrary of the Word it is join'd to as, Deshazér, to undo. In dis, as Disponér, to dispose. In ex, as Expuésto, expos'd. In in, as Inferír, to infer. In pre, signifying before, as Preponér, to set before. In pro, as Proponér, to propose. In re, signifying back, or again, as Réponer, to put again, Retenér, to hold back. In se, as Separar, to separate. In so, as Socorrér, to succour. In su, as Suponér, to suppose.

Others not compounded, but only set before parts of Speech, as

A, To, as A ſe, alaſe, By my Troth.
De, Of or from, as De la corte, From the Court.
Para, For. As Para mi, For me.
Por, For, by or through. As Por mi vida, By my Life.

Aquende, On this ſide.
Allende, On the other ſide.
Al deredór, or Entorno, About.

Of an Interjection.

AN Interjection declares the Paſſions of the Mind. The Spaniards uſe not ſo often Interjections or ſudden Paſſions of the Mind; Neither in their Speech or Writing, as do the French or Italian, and yet they have theſe following: Some be of

Mirth or Rejoycing.	A la gala. O fine.
Laughing.	Hi, hi, hi, or Ha, ha, ha.
Wondring.	O Jeſus, O Jeſus.
	Vala me Dios, God bleſs me.
Grieving.	Ay, ay, Alaſs.

THE

OF THE

SPANISH GRAMMAR,

CONTAINING

Some Few REMARKS upon SYNTAX.

THE Spaniſh has ſo great an Affinity with the Latin, that whoſoever underſtands the latter, will find little Difficulty in the Conſtruction of the other, and generally ſuch as are unskill'd in the Latin, do not care to overburden their Memories with Rules. I ſhall therefore only give ſome few Remarks for the preſent Eaſe of Learners, leaving the reſt to Reading and Practice.

Of Nouns and Articles.

THERE is no doubt but that all Nouns require the Article of the ſame Gender, as el Hómbre, the Man, la Muger, the Woman, lo buéno, that which is good. However, we find an Exception in Words of the Feminine Gender, viz. el A'gua, the Water, el A'lma, the Soul, and ſo in many others, but it is to be obſerv'd, that the Spaniards not uſing any Apoſtrophe, do this to avoid the ill Sound of Two Vowels meeting, and yet it is not always practis'd, for it is proper to ſay la Antiguedád, Antiquity, and ſo in others.

The Engliſh Article an is not us'd in Spaniſh, as we ſay an other Man, an other Day, they only ſay, ótro Hómbre, ótro Día, not un ótro Hómbre, or un ótro Día.

The Adjectives Gránde, Buéno, Málo, U'no, and Ciénto, looſe the laſt Syllable, when plac'd before a Subſtantive, ſo we ſay, Gran Hómbre, Buén Cavállo, Mal Carnéro, Un Pérro, Cién Chriſtiános, but if they follow the Subſtantive, they retain their laſt Syllable, as un Hómbre gránde, Carnéro málo, &c. In the Feminine Gender this does not hold, for Gránde varies, according to the Subſtantive that follows, if it begin with a Conſonant, then de is always cut off, as grán Mugér, grán Cóſa; but if the Subſtantive begins with a Vowel, eſpecially an a, then it is often indifferently us'd in good Authors, as grán Alboróto, or Gránde Alboróto, but the Firſt is the moſt approv'd. Cién is always us'd before Subſtantives of either Gender, as Cién pérlas, &c. But Buéna, Mála, U'na, never loſe their laſt Syllable, what ever Subſtantive follows, as Buéna Mugér, Mála Azeytúna, úna Arróba.

Of Pronouns.

NOS, and Vos differ from Noſótros and Voſótros, which Two laſt ſignify We, and Ye, in the common Acceptation of the Plural Number, and have the Feminine Gender Noſótras, and Voſótras. But Nos is generally us'd for a ſingle Perſon, and only by a Sovereign, as among us We is us'd. Vos is alſo apply'd to a ſingle Perſon, that is by great ones ſpeaking to inferior, or among very familiar Friends, to avoid ſaying Tu, Thou, which is too courſe, or to ſave the Reſpect of V. M.

Vos, is us'd in the ſame manner before Verbs Plural, as Vos amays, but in the other Caſes the V is cut off, as yo os daré, I will give, you, and the ſame when it follows the Verb, as Quitá os de ay, ſtand away.

E'llo and E'lla have a Dative Caſe of a different Termination, which is contrary to the general Spaniſh Rule, for they ſometimes make le and les, and theſe Two are only us'd, when they imply ſomething of Acquiſition, and denote the Perſon receiving, as Vi a Pédro, y díle, or le di ſus cártas. I ſaw Peter and gave him his Letters. Víde mis amígos y comuniquéles mis cuydádos. I ſaw my Friends and imparted my Affairs to them. Where it appears in both Places there is an Imparting, or Giving. In theſe Caſes there is no uſing of lo or los, for le or les, becauſe it would breed Confuſion, as thus, Los que perdiéron ſus haziéndas, píden a los Juézes, que les abórquen los ladrónes, They who have been robb'd require of the Judges that they hang the Thieves. Now were it ſaid, Que los ahórquen los ladrónes, there would be no deciding whether they requir'd that the Thieves ſhould be hang'd, or that the Thieves ſhould hang them. Le, and Les are us'd for the Feminine Gender, as well as de Maſculine, as Encontré tres dámas y les di de merendár, I met Three Ladies and gave them a Collation.

Mi, Ti, Si, Are us'd after Prepoſitions, a mi, to me, pára ti, for you, por ſi, by himſelf. But after con, they muſt have the Syllable go added, as con mígo, with me, Con tígo, with you, Con ſígo, with himſelf.

Me, Te, Se, Are joyn'd to Verbs, and ſtand for the Dative and Accuſative, as Díxome, he told me, Servírte, to ſerve you, Amárſe, to love himſelf.

They

They may be alſo plac'd before the Verb, provided a Nominative Caſe is before them, as yó me iré, I will be gone, Tu te irás, You will be gone, El ſe irá, He will be gone.

Se, before the Third Perſon of a Verb, ſignifies what we expreſs by it is, or they, as Se díze, it is ſaid, or reported, or they ſay.

La, le, lo, las, les, los, me, te, ſe, nos and vos, are frequently joyn'd to Verbs, as Oyréla, Oyréle, Oyrélo, Oyrélas, Oyrélos. I will hear her, him, it, them, Daréles, I will give them, &c.

When le, lo, las, les, los, are join'd to the Infinitive Mood, the laſt r of it is commonly chang'd into l, for the better Sound, as for Dezír-le, ſay Dezílle, &c.

Mio, Túyo, Súyo, Nuéſtro, Vuéſtro, and Míſmo, have the Article added to them, when they are ſpoken abſolutely, and without a Subſtantive, as lo mío, what is mine, lo túyo, what is yours, &c.

Cúyo, is an Interrogation, as Cúyo es eſto? Whoſe is this? But it is often without any Interrogation, as El hómbre cúyo es éſto, the Man whoſe this is.

Mi, Tu, Su, Plur. Mis, Tús, Sús, are us'd for Mío, Túyo, Súyo, but always before a Subſtantive, and not after it, as mi Pádre. my Father, tu Mádre, your Mother, ſu Hermáno, his Brother.

Eſte, éſſe, aquél, are all Demonſtratives, but éſte implies the thing near the Perſon ſpoken to; Aquél denotes a Diſtance from both Perſons.

The Relatives, or Interrogatives. Quál, ſometimes is Interrogatory, as Qual déllos, which of them, and ſometimes comparative, as Qual es el veráno tal el inviérno, As the Summer ſo the Winter, and ſometimes it is only Diſtributive, as Qual cóge el óro, qual la pláta, one Man gathers the Gold, another the Silver.

Que tal, differs herein from Qual, that the latter asks the particular Perſon or thing, which of them, whereas the other Queſtions the Quality of the Perſon or thing, what ſort of either.

Of Verbs.

Properly ſpeaking the Spaniſh Verbs have only theſe ſimple Tenſes the preſent, the Preterimperfect, the Preterperfect, and the Future, of the Indicative Mood, the Imperative, and the Preſent, Preterimperfect and Future of the Optative or Subjunctive, as A'mo, Amába, Amé, Amaré. A'ma tu. Yo áme, yo amára, amaría, or amáſſe. And the Preſent of the Infinitive Amár, the Gerund Amándo, and the Participle Paſſive Amádo. All the reſt are form'd by Circumlocution, putting many Words together to ſupply the Defect of ſuch Tenſes.

The Tenſes made by Circumlocution, are the Second Preterperfect, He amádo, I have lov'd, the Preterpluperfect of the Indicative Mood, Avía amádo, I had lov'd, the Preterperfect, Preterpluperfect and Second Future of the Optative or Subjunctive, Aya, Uviéſſe, or Uviére Amádo, I have, had, or ſhall love. So the Preterperfect Infinitive Avér dádo, To have given, the Participle Active, El que da, he that is giving, and the Participle of the Future Tenſe, El que ha de dar, he that is to give hereafter.

The Third Perſon of the Verb is generally us'd in ſpeaking to any Perſon, that is not a mean Servant or the like, as Hazéd me éſta mercéd, do me this favour.

Verbs Active ſometimes govern a Dative, and ſometimes an Accuſative Caſe, as Da éſto a Pédro, give this to Peter, Sigue la buéno, follow that which is good, or elſe the Article is left out, as Tráygo pàn, I bring Bread.

Of Prepoſitions.

THE Caſes to be given to ſome parts of Speech, being one Principal part of Syntax, and there being properly no Spaniſh Caſes as in Latin, therefore we will treat of the Prepoſitions, which have the ſame Effect as the Latin Caſes.

When the Noun in Speech denotes the Perſon poſſeſſing, or ſignifies whoſe a thing is, we always make uſe of the Prepoſition de, as E'ſte líbro es de Juán, this is John's Book. E'ſta léy es de Díos, this is Gods Law, unleſs we uſe the Poſitive Degree of that ſame Perſon, making it an Adjective to the thing poſſeſs'd, as E'ſta léy es Divína, this is a Divine Law.

This uſe of the Poſitive is ſo neceſſary, when the Poſſeſſion belongs to any of the Pronouns, that we muſt always ſay Eſta cáſa es mía, túya, súya, this Houſe is mine, yours, his, not de mi, de ti, or de ſi. Tho' it may be us'd, when they do not denote Poſſeſſion, as Acuérdáte de mi, Remember me, Duélete de ti, have Compaſſion on your ſelf, Dió buéna cuénta de ſi, he gave a good Account of himſelf.

The Prepoſition de is alſo apply'd to the Place from whence me come as Véngo de Palácio, I come from Court.

When the Noun denotes Acquiſition, or the Perſon for whom a thing is, we uſe the Prepoſitions, a, or pára, as Da a Juán éſta cárta, Give this Letter to John, E'ſta cárta es pára Pédro, This Letter is for Peter. Except here alſo the ſame Terminations, Me, Te, Se, Of they Pronouns Yo, Tu, Se, which tho' they Denote Acquiſition, do not admit of theſe Prepoſitions, as Dióme el dinéro, he gave me the Mony, Dióte las grácias, He return'd you Thanks, Dióſe la muérte, he kill'd himſelf.

They are alſo apply'd to the Place we are going to, whether proper or Appellative, as Vóy a Mádrid, de dónde partiré pára Róma, I am going to Madrid, whence I ſhall ſet out for Rome.

A, is alſo apply'd to the Noun Paſſive, when it is a proper Name, Pédro áma a Juán, Peter loves John; but when it is an Appellative it is ſometimes us'd and ſometimes omitted, as El Maéſtro áma a ſus Diſcípulos, the Maſter loves his Schollers, and yo cójo las Florés, I gather the Flowers.

The Prepoſition Con, before Mi, Ti, Si, requires that the Syllable go, ſhould be added to them, as Conmígo, with me Contígo, with you, Conſígo, with himſelf.

The Prepoſition Por denotes the end that moves or inclines, and the means to attain an end, as Sírvo a Diós por gozár del prémio, I ſerve God, to enjoy the Reward. Yéndo a Sevílla paſſé por Córdova, going to Sevil, I paſs'd through Cordova.

Por, Is ſometime us'd for the Adverb No, placing it before a Verb of the Infinitive Mood, as No is plac'd before the Participle, as E'ſta óbra, eſtá por Acabár, this Work is not done, inſtead of, éſta óbra no éſtá acabáda.

Of Adverbs and Conjunctions.

THERE is but little to be ſaid of theſe Two parts of Speech. As for the Adverbs, when Two of thoſe that end in mente follow one another, the Two laſt Syllables mente of the Firſt of them are always cut off, as Caminár ſegúra, y alegreménte, To travel ſafely and merrily.

A Negative Adverb joyn'd to any other Negative part of Speech does not make an Affirmative as in other Languages, for No véo a nadie, ſignifies I ſee no body, No te hálla ningúno, No body can find you; nor can the ſame Words be taken negatively without both the Negatives, for we cannot properly ſay in Spaniſh Véo a nádie, I ſee no body, but if we would avoid the Two Negatives, we muſt ſay, No véo a Perſóna algúna, I do not ſee any Perſon; and Nádie te hálla, No Man can find you.

So, No quiéro náda, Is, I will have nothing, and yet No náda, is always taken for nothing, as Fáltale un no náda, it wants as good as nothing.

No, is ſometimes an Interrogation, as No vendréys por acá, will not you come this way.

The Conjunctions También, and Tampóco, the Firſt is Affirmative, as yo también, and I too; Ni yo tampóco, nor I neither, The Firſt ſignifying as well, the Second as little.

Of Figurative Conſtruction.

What little of this ſort I find in the Spaniſh Tongue is as follows.

THE Paragoge, or adding of ſome Letter or Syllable at the end of a Word is ſcarce to be found at preſent, tho' us'd formerly, as we may ſee in Old Songs and Ballads, where they ſometimes ſay Amóre, for Amór, Cantáre, for Cantár, but theſe being out of date, it is now only found in the Verbs Vóy and Sóy, from the Verbs Ir, and Sér, which ſhould be according to the General Rule of Spaniſh Verbs Vo, and So, as they were us'd in former Ages, but now have the y added for the better Sound.

The Second is cutting off a Letter, as when we ſay, yo vía, tu vías, for yo veía, Tu veías.

Thirdly, By cutting off a Letter at the end, as Mas val prevenír, it is better to provide, for Mas válе, The ſame is ſeen in the Words Entriſtecemónos, Alegrámonos, for Entriſtecémoſnos, Alegrámoſnos, and ſo in many others.

Fourthly, Is by inverting the Order of the Letters, as very many ſay, Hazéldo, Dezíldo, Quitáldo, &c. for Hazédlo, Dezídlo, Quitádlo, &c. In the ſame manner ſome ſpeak and write Perládo, for Preládo, and ſo in other Words.

There is another Figurative Conſtruction, which depends on ſeveral Words, when any are left out and to be underſtood, as Buénos días, Good Morrow, Subintelligitur, Os de Díos, God give you, and ſo in ſeveral other Caſes, which are ſo common in moſt Languages, that there needs not any thing be ſaid in particular of them here, and in all other Reſpects the Spaniſh Syntax is ſo like the Latin, French and Italian, that it would be ſuperfluous to burden the Learner with a Multitude of Rules, which are already known to Schollars, and which others will never take the Pains to learn.

Some General Obſervations for the Framing of the Spaniſh from the Latin.

Latin Subſtantives which have their Termination in as, become Spaniſh by changing s into d, as in theſe following.

Latin.	Charitas,	Spaniſh.	Caridád.
	Majeſtas,		Mageſtád.
	Crudelitas,		Crueldád.
	Civitas,		Ciudád.
	Fidelitas,		Fidelidád.
	Securitas,		Seguridád.
	Obſcuritas,		Eſcuridád.
	Conformitas,		Conformidád.
	Calamitas,		Calamidád.
	Voluntas, &c.		Voluntád.

Moſt Latin VVords beginning with Pl, in the Spaniſh change it in Ll, as

Latin.	Plenus,	Spaniſh.	Lléno.
	Planus,		Lláno.
	Pluvia,		Llúvia.
	Plaga,		Llága.
	Plorare.		Llorár.

So the Latin F, in Spaniſh is often chang'd in H, as

Latin.	Facere,	Spaniſh.	Hazér.
	Faba,		Háva.
	Fæx,		Héz.
	Falco,		Halcón.
	Farina,		Harína.
	Fœtor,		Hedór.
	Formoſus,		Hermóſo.
	Ferrum,		Hiérro.
	Fervor.		Hervór.

Latin Subſtantives ending in io, becoming Spaniſh by adding an n, as

Latin.	Educatio,	Spaniſh.	Educación.
	Religio,		Religión.
	Electio,		Elección.

Latin Subſtantives ending in tum, in the Spaniſh change um into o, as

Latin.	Ornamentum,	Spaniſh.	Ornaménto.
	Experimentum,		Experiménto.
	Exemplum.		Exémplo.

Latin Adjectives ending in lis, in the Spaniſh caſt away is, as

Latin.	Materialis,	Spaniſh.	Materiál.
	Finalis,		Finál.
	Subtilis,		Sutíl.
	Debilis, &c.		Débil.

Latin Verbs become Spaniſh by cutting off e, in the Infinitive Mood, as

Latin.	Caſtigare,	Spaniſh.	Caſtigár.
	Amare,		Amár.
	Tenere,		Tenér.
	Perdere,		Perdér.
	Sentire,		Sentír.
	Salire.		Salír.

Latin Adjectives in us, in the Spaniſh change it into o, as

Latin.	Malus,	Spaniſh.	Málo.
	Bonus.		Buéno.

Much more might be ſaid to this Purpoſe, but theſe Rules are of no uſe to ſuch as do not underſtand Latin, and ſuch as do will eaſily perceive the Reſemblance betwixt the Two Languages by what has been already ſaid.

P. Give me my ſlaſh'd Velvet Breeches.
A. Here they are, Sir.
P. Are they clean? See there be no Stitch fallen in the Stockins.
A. That is one of the Three Things which Ganaſa ſaid, a Man carefully ſeeks after, and is vex'd, when he has found them.
P. And what are the other Two?
A. Filth in the Bed, and Horns if they be of his own Wives grafting. But theſe Stockins are whole.
P. Draw them on, give me the Black Cloth Coat, for that of Cloth Raſh is too thin for this cold Weather.
A. Will you wear Buſkins?
P. No, but Shoves and Galloches, becauſe of the Dirt: Give me firſt Water to waſh my Hands.
A. Sir, the Water is frozen in the Pot.
P. A good Sign. A. Of what, Sir? P. Of Icicles.

A. And that is cold Weather too.
P. Thaw it in the Pan of Coals, in the mean while give me the Looking Glaſs and Sciſſers, for I will trim my Beard.
A. Here is the Caſe with all things in it, and the Comb.

P. What Abundance of grey Hairs I have, I begin to grow old already.
A. Sir, Years paſs not over ones Head in vain.
P. Truly, I am not very old, but as they ſay in my Country, grey Hairs, and Horns come not by Age.
A. This Water is now in good Temper, you may waſh if you pleaſe, Sir.
P. Then give me the Baſon and Ewer and the Towel.
A. Will you wear a ſhort Cloak and Cap, or long Cloak and Hat?
P. It is no Weather now for a Cap, give me a long Cloak and a Felt Hat.
A. What Sword, Gilt, Silver'd, or Sanguin'd.
P. No, I'll have the Varniſh'd Sword, for fear it ſhould rain: See who knocks at the Door.
A. It is Don John.
P. Run, open the Door quickly.
J. God give you Good Morrow Maſter Peter.

P. Oh Maſter John, you are as welcome as a good Year: How do you, Sir?
J. Much at your Service; are you well?
P. At your Service, Sir, however I am, tho' ſomewhat indiſpos'd.
J. Why then do you riſe ſo early, if you are not well?
P. Becauſe Phyſitians ſay, It is good for ones Health, to riſe early in the Morning.
J. I wiſh them that Health, for as the Proverb ſays, theſe are the Days we ought to keep at home, or it were better ſaid, we ſhould keep them in Bed.
P. To tell you the Truth, I do it chiefly to follow my Buſineſs.
J. How goes your Buſineſs?
P. Sir, at your Service, ill enough God be prais'd.
J. How ſo, do they not diſpatch you?
P. Yes, Sir, they fret me. Boy, bring us ſomething to Breakfaſt before we go abroad.
J. I have drank a Glaſs already.
P. You ſhall drink another and it will do you no harm.
J. *No, for I am not ſo nice * as a Jew on a Friday.*

A. What will Your Worſhips have for Breakfaſt?
P. Bring ſome ſmall Paſties, and a Quarter of Roſt Kid.
J. How well your Chamber is furniſh'd Mr. Peter.

P. Sir, Tolerably as becomes a poor Gentleman.
J. Where had you theſe Tapeſtry Hangings?
P. Sir, they came from Flanders.
J. It is likely the Pictures came from thence too.

P. Some of them did, others came from Italy.
J. Truly they are of a good Hand. What did this Eſcritoir coſt you? . . . .
P. More then it is worth, Forty Ducats:
J. What Wood is it?
P. The Red is ‡ Caóba of Havána, and this is Black is Ebony, the White is Ivory.
J. Truly is is very curious, and the Fenearing is very neatly done.

D. P. Lo priméro a la Yglésia, a encomendárnos a Diós.
D. J. Eſtá muý bién, que por yr a la Yglésia, ni dar çeváda, no ſe piérde jornáda.
D. P. çiérra aquél Cófre, pon en cóbro éſſas baratíjas, lláma al áma que bárra y compónga éſte apoſénto.
Al. Téngo de yr acompañándo a v. m.

P. Here may you ſee a Table, better wrought.
J. Where was it made?
P. That and the Chairs came from Salamanca.
J. The beſt thing is yet wanting in this Lodging.
P. What is it as God ſhall bleſs you Don John?
J. That which Don John Manuel ſaid, the pretty Sound of a Womans Slipper.
P. Now I underſtand, you mean a Wife?
J. The very ſame.
P. I am of Opinion that it is much the better for being without her.
J. Good Sir, do not ſay ſo, for Loneſomeneſs is diſmal.
P. I am for the old Saying, Better alone than in Bad Company.
J. But it is not to be ſuppos'd that ſhe muſt be a Bad one.
P. And where ſhall we find a good one?
J. There are many very good.
P. 'Tis true, thoſe that are bury'd.
J. So that you mean a Woman is good, when ſhe is Bury'd.

P. Sir, I ſay every mad Man has his peculiar Madneſs, and this is mine at preſent.
J. And you will be as Abſolute in it as the King is over his Taxes.
P. They ſay a good Mule, a good Goat, and a good Woman are Three unlucky Creatures.
A. The Table is cover'd, Your Worſhips may ſit down to Breakfaſt.
P. Don John, do you ſit down at the Upper end of the Table.
J. That would be reflecting on me as an Old Man.
P Not ſo, but to do you Right.
J. Do you take your Place, Sir, and I will take mine.
P. 'Tis very well, that a Gueſt ſhall come to my Houſe to have more Command in it than my ſelf.
J. Nay, Sir, if you take it that way, I'll obey you in your Houſe, and Abroad.
P. Sir, It is my Duty to ſerve, as Reaſon ſhows. Boy give us Plates.
A. Here they are, Sir.
P. From whence did you bring theſe Pies?
A. From the cleanlieſt Paſtry woman in this City.
P. What from our fair Neighbour?
A. Yes Sir.
P. Sir, You may eat them without any Scruple, for they are made by a cleanly Woman.
J. No matter if they were not, for I never ſtick at ſmall matters.
P. You would mind it leſs, if you were as great a Lover of them as I am.
J. I like them very well, and the beſt thing I think belongs to them is that they are ſuch ready Meat, that whenſoever a Man wants, it is dreſs'd to his Hand.
P. Boy, give us Drink, for the Pepper bites.
A. Which will you have, Sir, White or Red.
P. Fill of the White, which is warmer for the Morning.

J. And it is wholeſomer than the Red.
P. I drink to you, Don John.
J. I thank you, Sir, I will pledg you.
A. Out of which Diſh, will Your Worſhip drink, out of this plain one, or this little deep one.
J. Friend Alonſo you muſt know, I am a very good Drinker, and know what I drink, therefore fill me that plain Diſh.
P. I like to drink out of this Glaſs better than out of any of the Diſhes.
J. Sir, there is no arguing againſt Fancy.
P. It is ſo Sir, This Leg of Kid will make you drink again. Bring us ſome Olives for the Third Glaſs.
J. That may be call'd a Dinner, and not a Breakfaſt.
P. Why?
J. Becauſe they ſay, whether you eat a good Meal or a Bad one you muſt drink three times.
P. There our Mother † Celeſtina ſays, the Text is vitiated, for it ſays, three times inſtead of Thirteen.
J. We have done very well, Sir, no more, for we ſhall loſe our Stomacks to our Dinner.
P. Give each of us another Glaſs of the Red and White Wine mix'd together.
J. Whither ſhall we go?
P. Firſt to the Church to commend our ſelves to God.
J. That is right, for neither going to Church, nor giving a Horſe Provender, hinder a Journey.
P. Shut that Cheſt, put up ſafe this Trumpery, call the Nurſe to ſweep and put the Room in order.
A. Shall I wait on you, Sir.

† A courteous way of obliging the Stranger to take the Upper-hand.
* Celeſtina, The Name of a famous Band, of whom there is a particular Book.

D. P. No, ſinó quèdate en cáſa, ayúda al áma y límpia tódos mis veſtídos y poné la cáſa en órden y a las ónze llévame el cavállo a Palácio.

Al. Eſtá muy bién Señór yó lo haré anſí.

D. P. Eſte mi criádo Señór Don Juán, es cómo malílla que hágo del lo que quiéro.

D. J. Y aún anda v. m. en lo çiérto pára ſér bién ſervído, que quándo hómbre tiéne múchos criados, únos por ótros nunca hazen cóſa a derechas.

D. P. El me ſirve de mayordómo, de repoſtéro, de Maéſtreſala, de guárdarópa, de páje, y de lacáyo, y a vézes de deſpenſéro.

D. J. El paréce buén híjo.

D. P. Buéno, Señór, es tan buéno que a ſer mas, no valiéra náda, ſóla úna fálta tiéne.

D. J. Qual es?

D. P. Que es grandíſſimo enemígo del água.

D. J. Eſſo harálo, por lo bién que le ſábe el víno, peró éſſa no ſe puéde llamár fálta, ſino ſóbra.

D. P. Muchácho ciérra la puérta, con la lláve, que a puérta çerráda el Diáblo ſe buélve.

Al. A'ma, tráyga un caldéro de água y úna eſcóba, regarémos y barrerémos éſte apoſénto.

Ama. Tóma priméro ésta rópa blánca que tráxo la labandéra.

Al. Aguárde, ſacaré la Memória pára vér ſi fálta álgo.

Am. Adónde la tiénes?

Al. Aqui eſtá en mi faltriquéra.

Am. Lée la pués.

Al. Memória de la rópa de mi ámo que llevó la lavandéra en diéz de Márço de 1699 Primeraménte quátro Camíſas con ſus cuéllos de lechuguílla.

Am. Aquí eſtán A. dos ſábanas, dos almohádas de cáma, dos páres de calçóncillos, tres de calçétas.

A Aquí eſtán.

Al. U'na dozéna de páres de eſcarpínes.

Am. No áy aquí mas que ócho.

Al. Pués quátro fáltan; a la labandéra pedírle he que de cuénta déllos, y ſi élla los perdió que los págue.

Am. A'nda, que válen quátro eſcarpínes viéjos y rótos?

Al. Yten, mas dos eſcofiétas y quátro tocadóres, média dozéna de pañizuélos de narízes.

Am. Aqui eſtá tódo.

Al. Dos méſas de mantéles, y diéz ſervillétas.

Am. Aquí eſtán.

Al. Tres toállas, y un frutéro, y dos cuéllos de encáje con ſus púños.

Am. Tódo eſtá aquí que náda fálta.

Al. Pués doblémos lo, y pongámos lo en el árca.

Am. Cómo me llamáys pára que os ayúde a éſto, no me llamárades pára que os ayudára al almuérzo.

Al. Allí téngo guardádos únos eſcamóchos que ſobráron a mi ámo.

Am. Quiéro priméro barrér ésta ſála y adereçárla.

Al. E'ntre tánto limpiaré yó la rópa, ſábes de la eſcobilla?

Am. Véſla allí colgáda de aquél clávo, que ſi fuéra pérro yá te uviéra mordído.

Al. O quánto pólvo tiéne ésta cápa?

Am. Sacúdela priméro con úna vára.

Al. A'ma, mas que bién héchos eſtán éſtos calçónes?

Am. Tanbién entiéndo yó de éſſo, cómo puérca de fréno.

Al. Pués que entiéndes.

Am. Lo que a mi me impórta. Si tu preguntáras por una baſquiña, úna ſáya entéra, úna rópa, un mánto, o un cuérpo, úna gorguéra, de úna toca, y cóſas ſemejántes, ſupiérate yó reſpondér.

Al. De manéra que no ſábe léer, mas de por el Líbro de ſu aldéa.

Am. Quiéres tu, que ſéa yó, cómo el embidióſo, que ſu cuidádo es en lo que no le va ni le viéne.

Al. Siémpre es virtúd ſabér, aunqué ſéan cóſas que paréçe que no nos impórtan.

Am. Bién ſé yó, que tu ſabrás hazér úna bellaquería, y éſta no es virtúd.

Al. El ſabérla hazér no es málo, el uſarla ſi.

Am. Siémpre oý dezír que quién las ſábe las táñe.

Al. No ſinó que quién ha las héchas ha las ſoſpéchas.

Am. Pués velláco que he hécho yó?

Al. No mas de hazérme regañár algúnas vézes.

Ama. No me tes tu ocaſión.

Al. Entónces múchas merçédes, quándo le dóy ocaſión, es menéſter que me perdóne, que quando no ſe la dóy, póca amiſtád me háze.

Ama. Aora Hermáno déxate de Retóricas has lo que tu ámo te mandó.

P. No, but ſtay at home, help the Nurſe and bruſh all my Cloaths, and ſet the Houſe in order, and at Eleven of the Clock bring my Horſe to Court.

A. Very well Sir, I will do it.

P. This my Servant John, is as the Don Malilla at Hombre, for I make of him what I will.

J. And ſo you are ſure to be well ſerv'd, for when a Man has many Servants, one leaves it to another, and nothing is done right.

P. He ſerves me for Steward, Butler, Sewer, Wardrobe, Keeper, Page, Footman, and ſometimes Caterer.

J. He looks like a good Lad.

P. Good, Sir, he is ſo good, that if he were better, he were good for nothing, he has but one Fault.

J. What is that?

P. That he is a Mortal Enemy to Water.

J. I ſuppoſe he is ſo, becauſe he likes the Taſte of Wine, but that is rather an Exceſs than a Defect:

P. Boy, lock the Door, for when the Devil finds the Door faſt he goes his way.

A. Nurſe, bring a Kettle of Water and a Broom, we will ſprinkle, and ſweep this Chamber.

N. Firſt take clean Linnen the Landreſs brought.

A. Stay, I'll take out the Note to ſee if any be wanting.

N. Where is it?

A. Here it is in my Pocket.

N. Read it then.

A. A Note of my Maſters Linnen, which the Landreſs had the Tenth of March, 1699. Firſt four Shirts, with their ruff Bands to them.

N. Here they are. Al. A pair of Sheets, two Pillows, two pair of Drawers, three pair of Thread Stockings.

N. Here they are.

A. A Doſen pair of Socks.

N. There are but Eight here.

A. Then there wants four, I will call the Landreſs to an account for them, and if ſhe haſt loſt them, ſhe muſt pay for them.

N. Go your ways, what are four old Ragged Socks worth?

A. Item, Two Night-Caps, and Four Night Neckcloths, half a Doſen of Handkerchiefs.

N. Here is all.

A. Two Table-cloths, and Ten Napkins.

N. Here they are.

A. Three Towels, and one † Fruit Cloath, and Two Ruff Bands wrought with their Ruffles.

N. All is here, nothing is wanting.

A. Then let us fold, and lay it up in the Cheſt.

A. As you call me to help to do this, could not you have call'd me to help you at Breakfaſt?

A. There I have ſav'd ſome Fragments which my Maſter left.

N. I will firſt ſweep this Room, and ſet it in order.

A. In the mean while I'll bruſh the Cloths. Do you know where the Bruſh is?

N. See there it hangs on the Nail, if it were a Dog it would not have bit you.

A. What a deal of Duſt there is in this Cloak?

N. Beat it out firſt with a Wand.

A. Nurſe, how well theſe Breeches are made.

N. I have as much ſtill in that, as a Sow has in a Bridle.

A. What is it, you have Skill in then?

N. That which belongs to me. If you had ask'd about an Upper-Petticoat, a Skirt, a Gown, a Veil, or a pair of Stays, a Gorget, a Womans-head, or the like, I ſhould know what Anſwer to make you.

A. So that you can read in no Book, but your own.

N. Would you have me be like the Envious Man, who troubles himſelf about what does not concern him.

A. It is always commendable to know, tho' the things be be ſuch as do not ſeem to belong to us.

N. I am ſure you know how to play a Knaviſh Trick, and that is not commendable.

A. To know how to do it is not Evil, but to uſe it.

N. I have always heard ‡ they who have Skill Play upon the Inſtrument.

A. No but they that are naught, are jealous of others.

N. Why you Knave what have I done?

A. Nothing, but make me fret and vex my ſelf ſometimes.

N. Don't you provoke me.

A. Then I thank you hartily, when I provoke you, then it is you ſhould forgive me, for when I give no Provocation, where is the Kindneſs.

N. Now Brother, leave your Rhetorick, and do what your Maſter bid you.

Al.

* A commanding Card, as Pam a Loo, that ſerves for any other.
† Fruit Cloth to cover the Fruit when it is carried to the Table.
‡ They that know how to play the Knave do it.

Al. * Si haré aunqué bién créo que no por éſſo me téngo de aſentár con el a la méſa.
Ama. Alménos eſcuſarás de que el no te aſiénte en el rábo.
Al. Yo vóy a enſillár el cavállo, a diós parédes háſta la buélta.

A. So I will, and yet I believe I ſhall not ſit down at Table with him.
N. At leaſt you will Save his laying it on your Bones.

A. I go to ſaddle the Horſe, Farewel Wa's till my Return.

Diálogo Segúndo, En el qual, ſe tráta de comprár y vendér jóyas y ótras cóſas éntre un Hidalgo llamádo Tomas, y ſu mugér Margaríta, y un Mercadér y un Platéro.

Th. ADónde queréis que vámos Señóra ?
Ma. Vámos a la platería, y Comprarémos algúnas piéças de plata.
Th. Y de allí ?
Ma. Yrémos a la lónja pára comprár algúnas cóſas.
Th. En el nómbre de Diós, entrémos en éſta tiénda.
Ma. Plégue a el, ſéa con pié derécho.
Th. A Señór, guárde Diós a v. m.
Pl. Y venga con vuéſtras merçédes.
Th. Mánde nos moſtrár, algúnas buénas piéças.
Pl. Que géneros quiére v. m. táças, cópas o járros, fuéntes, plátos, y eſcudíllas, es lo mas neceſsário.
Th. Y tanbién cópas de ſálva, y ſaléros, vinagéras.
Pl. Olá móço, táca aquí tóda éſſa pláta de el árca.
Ma. Veámos aquéllos candeléros y deſpaviladéras.
Th. Si éſtos braſeríllos de méſa eſtuviéran Sinceládos fuéran mejóres.
Pl. O'tros dízen, que la ſinceladúra es allegadéro de miérda, hablando con Perdón de vuéſtras merçédes.
Ma. No véo aquí águamaníl ningúno.
Pl: Aquí eſtá úno ſóbredorádo y ſinçeládo con ſu fuénte de la miſma labór.
Th. Yó quiſiéra tóda la baxílla de úna miſma labór, que no diferençiáran únas piéças de ótras.
Pl. Por éſſo dízen, que tántas opiniónes áy cómo cabeças: Otros dízen que la variedád es la que agráda.
Th. Es verdád peró la variedád ha de ſer de cóſas entéras porqué hazér una cápa de remiéndos, no puéde agradár a nádie.
Pl. Conçiértese v. m. conmígo en el préçio, que yo ſe la daré acabáda déntro de pócos Dias, de la hechúra que la quiſiéro.
Ma. Siémpre en las tardánças áy peligro, y válе mas † páxaro en máno que buéytre bolándo.
Th. Pués eſcója de aý v. m. les piéças que mas le agradáren.
Ma. Eſte Salpimentéro y éſta cópa con ſu ſóbre cópa, y éſte pichél, y éſta calderéta, y éſta porcelána ſéan las priméras.
Th. A cómo hémos de dár por el ‡ márco de éſtas piéças ?
Pl. Por el márco de las llánas me ha de dár v. m. a çién, reáles por las ſinçeládas, a quínze Ducádos y por las dorádas a tréynta Dueádos.
Th. Si el pedír fuéra dár, no ſe avía hécho mála haziénda óy, peró de el dícho a el hécho áy gran trécho.
Pl. Alménos no lo daré yó por lo, que v. m. me ha ofreçído háſta agóra.
Th. Eſtá tan cáro, que yo no ſé que le ofréza ſi no es úna a báxa.
Pl. E'ſſa yó la Dançaré deſpués que v. m, áya tañído ſu álta.
Th. Mi mas álta Señór, es a ſéis Ducádos la llána, y a çién reáles, la ſinçeláda, y la doráda, a véinte Ducádos.
Pl. Muý bién deſpachádo yva yó, mas me tiénen a mi de cóſta.
Th. Pués Señór tórne a Dançár a vér en que pára.

Pl. En cáda género, le quitaré a. v. m. dos Ducádos y no mas.
Th. Muý mal Dançó. v. m. no le tóco mas.
Pl. Pués yó le aſegúro a. v. m. que no lo hálle mas baráto en la cálle.
Th. Cálle, que ſi hallaré, que dónde úna puérta ſe ciérra ciénto ſe ábren.
Ma. Si ha de valér mi vóto, dezírle he.
Pl. Dígale v. m. que le ſóy muý devóto.
Ma. Pués otro tánto cómo baxó el platéro, ſúba el Señór Tómas y no ſe háble mas.

The Second Dialogue, which treats of Buying and Selling Jewels and other things, between a Gentleman call'd Thomas and his Wife Margaret, and a Shopkeeper and a Goldſmith.

Th. WHether will you have us go Madam ?
Ma. Let us go to the Goldſmiths ſhops, and we will buy ſome Pieces of Plate.
Th. And from thence ?
Ma. We will go to the Exchange to buy ſome things.
Th. In the Name of God let us go in this Shop.
Ma. I pray God it be lucky.
Th. Maſter, God ſave you.
Go. And God be in your Company.
Th. Shew us ſome good Pieces.
Go. What ſorts will you pleaſe to ſee, Taſters, Cups or Pots, Baſons, Diſhes or Parringers, theſe are moſt for uſe.
Th. And Cups with Covers, and Salt-ſellers, and Cruets.
Go. Here young Man take out all the Plate in the Cheſt.
Ma. Let us ſee thoſe Candleſticks and Snuffers.
T. If thoſe Chafindiſhes for the Table were engrav'd they were better.
G. Others ſay, that the Graving only ſerves to gather Dirt, with Reſpect to your Worſhips.
M. I ſee no Enver here.
G. Here is one Gilt, and grav'd with the Baſon of the ſame Work.
T. I would have all a Cupbord of Plate of one ſort of work, that no Piece might differ from another.
G. Therefore they ſay, ſo many Men ſo many Minds, others ſay Variety is pleaſing.
T. It is true, but that Variety muſt be in entire things for to make a Cloak of ſeveral Patches, can pleaſe no Body.

G. Let us agree upon the Price, I'll get it for you in a few Days, of what Faſhion you pleaſe.
M. Delays are always dangerous, and a Bird in Hand is worth Two in the Buſh.
T. Then chuſe what you like beſt here.
M. This Salt and Pepper Box, and this Cup with a Cover, and this Pitcher, and this little Silver Kettle, and this Porrenger, in the firſt Place.
Th. What muſt we give a (‡) Mark for theſe Pieces?
G. You muſt give me an Hundred Royals a Mark for the Plain, Fifteen Ducats for thoſe that are engrav'd, and Thirty for the Gilt.
Th. If Asking were giving, you had made no ill Days Work of it, but Saying and Doing are Two Things.
G. At leaſt I'll not give it for what you have offer'd me yet.
Th. You are ſo deer that I know not what to offer you, but an (a) Abatement.
G. I'll Dance that when Your Worſhip has play'd the Alt (b).
Th. My higheſt is Six Ducats, the Plain an Hundred Royals the engrav'd, and the Gilt Twenty Ducats.
G. I ſhould make a good Bargain of that, they coſt me more.
Th. Then, Sir, Dance again, and let us ſee what will come of it.
G. I will abate Two Ducats in every ſort, and no more.

Th. You Danc'd very Ill, I'll play no more to you.
G. Then I aſſure Your Worſhip you will not find cheaper in the Street.
Th. Do not talk ſo, for I ſhall find it, for where one Door ſhuts an Hundred open (c).
Ma. If my Word may be of any Weight, I'll ſpeak.
G. Speak Madam, for I have a great Reſpect for you.
Ma. Then as much as the Goldſmith abated, ſo much let Maſter Thomas riſe, and let there be no more Words.

Pl. Porqué ſu palábra de v. m. no buélva atrás.
Th. No quería v. m. mas, óra péſelo, peſár málo le dé Diós al Diablo.
Pl. L'éven lo a cáſa que allá lo peſarémos.
Th. Móço cárga con tódo y lléva lo a cáſa.
Pl. Han de bolvérſe luégo vuéſtras merçédes?
Th. No hatta de aquí a dos horas, que vámos a comprár ótras coſas.
Pl. Si v. m. es Servído que le acompañe, hazérlo he.
Ma. Guárde Diós a v. m. que no querémos mas compañía.
Th. En ningúna cóſa gáſto el Dinéro, de mejór gána que en pláta.
Ma. Lo que ſe gáſta en ſpláta no es gaſtár, ſinó trocár piéças chícas por piéças grándes.
Th. Y también porqué cábe en élla lo que dízen que (a) no cábe en un ſáco que es hónra y provécho.
Ma. Si, porqué ſi hómbre ſe quiére Servír con vídrio o China, o Bárro, mas cuélta lo que ſe quiébra éntre año que la hechúra de la Pláta.
Th. Y con úna baxílla que Hómbre cómpra úna vez, tiéne pára Híjos Niétos, y Biſniétos.
Ma. Aóra vámos a la Joyería.
Th. E'ſſe es un camíno que yó hágo de muý mála gána.
Ma. Porqué razón?
Th. Porqué éſtas jóyas ſon cómo las donzéllas, que miéntras eſtán encerrádas ſon de múcho valór, y en ſacándolas fuéra, le piérden tódo y no válen náda.
Ma. Si peró, lo que ſe úſa no ſe eſcúſa.
Th. (b) Al mal úſo quebrárle la piérna.
Ma. No queráis Señór ponér vos, (c) puértas al cámpo ni corregír el múndo, que ansí le hallaſteys y ansí le havéis de dexár.
Th. (d) O'ra pués córra el río por do ſuéle, pués ſe arrendó la rénta con éſtas condiçiónes.
Ma. Entrémos en ésta tiénda que es la mas ríca.
Mi. Que mánda v. m. Señór cavalléro, que ha meneſtér?
Th. Yó ningúna cóſa, ésta Señóra, múchas.
Mi. Pués pída ſu merçéd, que tódo ſe le dará aquí a muý buén précio.
Ma. Muéſtre me acá algúnos tocádos, guirnaldíllas, rapóſos, rándas, deſhiládos, tócas de tódas ſuértes, y también vénga la Olánda delgáda, Cambráy, y ótras ſuértes de liénços.
Mi. E'ntre v. m. que tódo lo verá aquí.
Ma. Todo ésto es óbra tóſca, mas prima la quiéro.
Mi. Pués en ésta cáxa verá v. m. el primór del múndo, tódo es óbra de Milán.
Th. O'bra de Milan véeme y no me tángas.
Ma. Náda de ésto me conténta.
Mi. E'pántome cómo ſe caſó v. m. ſiéndo tan mal contentadíza.
Th. Fué porqué vído al Nóbio de nóche, y cómo dízen entónçes tódos los gátos ſon párdos.
Ma. Muéſtreme ótra mejór óbra ſi tiéne, y déxeſe de preguntár (e) quántos áños téngo.
Mi. Aóra ésta es la última pruéva, ve aquí v. m. óbra de argentería, ve allí de aljófar, eſtótra de abalório, y ésta de pérlas, eſcója cómo Péras en Tabáque.

Ma. Por ciérto en ruín háto, póco ay que eſcogér.
Mi. A ésto lláma v. m. ruín, créo, que es de peór Condición que el Philóſopho, Demócrito, que no halló cóſa en el múndo que no tuviéſſe fálta.
Th. E'ſto ſin Demócrito lo dígo yó, que no ay cóſa perféta en el Múndo.
Mi. E'ſto verificárſe ha, en còſas naturáles, que en las de el árte puéde avér perfeción, cáda úna en ſu género.
Th. Pués que penſáis vos que es el árte, ſinó imitadór de la naturaléca, y ſi en la naturaléça no ay Perfeçión ménos la avrá en el árte ſu imitadór.
Mi. Yó Señór no ſóy Philóſopho, ni quiéro contendér con v. m. mis Mercaderías querría que tuviéſſen ſu Perfeçión en el préçio.
Ma. Si no le tiénen en ſu valór, no le puéden tenér en el préçio.
Mi. Aóra Señóra, véa v. m. lo que mas le conténta, y tómelo, que no téngo ótra cóſa mejór.
Ma. E'ſte tocádo, éſte cuéllo, éſta gargantílla de Pérlas, éſte regalíllo, y éste avaníllo, éſtos dos páres de guantes de Flóres, y ésta pretína, me parécen bién, tódo lo demás no.

Go. Madam, your VVord ſhall not fall in vain.
Th. You could deſire no more, weigh it then, and God give the Devil Ill Luck.
Go. Carry it home and we will weigh it there.
Th. Young Man, take it all up, and carry it home.
Go. Do you go back preſently?
Th. Not theſe Two Hours, for we are going to buy other things.
Go. If you pleaſe I ſhould wait on you, I'll do it.
Ma. God keep you, we will have no more Company.
Th. There is nothing I am ſo well pleas'd to lay out Money on as upon Plate.
Ma. VVhat is laid out in Plate, is not ſpent, it is only changing of ſome Pieces for great ones.
Th. And becauſe it is capable of that which they ſay can't be in the ſame Bag, that is Honour and Profit.
Ma. It is ſo, for if a Man will make uſe of Glaſs, China or Earthen VVare, there is more broken in one Year, than pays for the Faſhion of the Plate.
Th. And a Cupbord a Man buys once, ſerves for his Children, Grand-Children, and Great Grand-Children.
Ma. Now let us go to the Milleners.
Th. That is a Place I don't much Care to go to.
Ma. VVhat is the Reaſon?
Th. Becauſe Milleners VVare is like Maids, who while they are kept up are of much Value, but as ſoon as they are carry'd Abroad they loſe all, and are worth nothing.
Ma. Yes, but there is no being out of the Faſhion.
Th. Bad Cuſtoms or Faſhions ſhould have their Legs broke.
Ma. I would not have you Sir, pretend to hedge in the Cuckoo, or to mend the VVorld, for as you found it, ſo you muſt leave it.
Th. VVhy then let the River run as it was wont, ſince the Farm was taken upon theſe Conditions.
Ma. Let us go into this Shop, which is the beſt ſtockt.
Mi. VVhat is your VVill, Sir, what do you lack?
Th. I want nothing, but this Lady wants ſeveral things.
Mi, Then let her Name them, and ſhe ſhall have all things at reaſonable Rates.
Ma. Shew me ſome VVomens Heads, high Heads, white Crape, Laces, cut VVork, all ſorts of Head-Dreſſes, as alſo fine Holland, Cambrick and other ſorts of Linnen.

Mi. Be pleas'd to walk in, and you ſhall ſee all here.
Ma. All this is Courſe, I would ſee finer.
Mi. Then in this Box you will ſee the Rarity of the World, it is all Milaneſe Work.
Th. Milaneſe Work is a meer Noli me tangere.
Ma. I like none of this.
Mi. Madam, I wonder how you marry'd being ſo hard to pleaſe.
Th. It was becauſe ſhe ſaw the Bridegroom by Night, and as they ſay, then all Cats are grey.
Ma. Shew me ſome better work, if you have any, and ask no Queſtions.
Mi. This is the laſt Trial, here is VVork garniſh'd with Silver, this with Seed Pearl, this with Bugles, and this with Pearl, take your Choice, as you would among Pears in a Basket.
Ma. Truly there is little to chooſe among ſuch bad Cattle.
Mi. Do you call this bad, I beliеve you are of a worſe Diſpoſition then the Philoſopher Democritus, who found nothing in the World, without a Fault.
Th. I ſay the ſame without Democritus, that there is nothing perfect in the VVorld.
Mi. That is verify'd in natural things, for in the things of Art every one may have a Perfection in its kind.
Th. Why do you think that Art does any more than imitate Nature, and if in Nature there is no Perfection, much leſs will there be any in Art, which intimates it.
Mi. Sir, I am no Philoſopher, nor will I contend with Your VVorſhip, I wiſh my Goods had their Perfection in the Price.
Ma. If they have it not in their Value, they cannot have it in their Price.
Mi. Well, Madam, ſee what you like and take it, for I have no better.
Ma. This Dreſs, this Band, this Pearl Necklace, this Muff, and this Fan, theſe two pair perfum'd Gloves, and this Girdle I like of, the reſt I do not.

Th. Muchácho córre, llámа al platéro que vénga a peſár la pláta y por ſu Dinéro.

Th. VVhat does all this come to?
Mi. All comes to Three Hundred Royals.
Th. May he ly Three Hundred Years on one ſide that gives it.
Mi. Then that the Curſe may not light on you, Two Hundred and Four ſcore.
Th. I dont underſtand that Reckning.
Mi. Twiſe an Hundred and Forty.
Ma. VVell ſaid, I'll not give one Croſs more than Two Hundred and Fifty.
Mi. Madam, to loſe with you is gain, ſince you will have it ſo, I'll not make another VVord.
Th. VVhat need you ſay any more, ſince what you have ſayd has prov'd your Harveſt.
Mi. Truly, Sir, this Harveſt has yeilded me no great Crop.

Th. If you had Sow'd well, you had reap'd more.
Mi. I have ſeveral other curious Commodities, you have not yet ſeen, Madam.
Ma. What are they?
Mi. Little Strings of Beads, Jewels, Silver Ribbons, Baſtard Brocards, Borders, Hoods, wrought with Gold, Bands Frames to ſtarch Ruffs, Net Ruffs, wrought Smocks, Pearl and Amber Necklaces, all ſorts of VVaſhes and Perfumes, ſee what pleaſes you Madam.
Ma. VVe will come another Day, more at Leaſure to ſee all that.
Th. Your Trade ſeems to me like the Turners, to wheadle Children, and ſuck the Mony out of their Pockets.
Mi. VVhy is my Madam Margaret a Boy?
Th. It is enough that ſhe is wheedled.
Mi. By my Troth he muſt be cunning enough, who can put upon her.
Th. She'll take care to put upon herſelf.
Mi. How?
Th. Giving Mony for theſe Toys, which ſhine and yet are not all Gold, and when ſhe gets home, it will appear ſhe has got as good as nothing, like an empty Diſh cover'd over.
Mi. VVhat is Mony made for, but to make a Shew with it.
Th. I know this, does not ſhine tho' it glitters.
Ma. Sir, I have already advis'd you, not to ſtrive againſt the Stream, but ſince like other, Men you are marry'd, éen do as other Men do, and do not affect to be ſingular, for any Man that is ſingular, is not above an Inch from being mad; theſe are the Conſequences of Matrimony.
Th. It is like the Beetles Help, who leaves his burden when another comes to his Aſſiſtance (c).
Ma. VVell, Sir, That Quarrel muſt be decided at home. Let us go.
Th. Let us go, Madam, take your Mony Maſter Millener.
Me. I am very well ſatisfy'd, and kiſs your Hands, ſee if there any thing elſe I can ſerve you in.
Th. God bleſs us, and may we never ſee one another more.
Me. Truly, Sir, I am not ſo ungrateful, but that I ſhould be glad to ſee Your VVorſhip every Day.
Th. I believe you would rather ſee my Purſe than me.
Me. I am not ſo covetous as you think me.
Th. I do not ſay you are, but I dare lay a VVager, you had rather have four Royals than Two.
Me. Sir, you may be taken up for a Conjurer.
Th. What I ſee with my Eyes I can gueſs at by Finger.
Ma. God be with you Mr. Millener.
Me. Lady I kiſs your Hands.
Ma. Now let us go to the Exchange to buy Silks.
Th. VVhat would you buy Madam?
Ma. VVhat Velvet, Satin, Damask, Tafata, Pluſh, Gorgram, Chamlet, Sarge, to cloath you and my ſelf.
Th. VVe muſt take another Day for that; It is now late, let us go to Dinner, and to Morrow we will go to buy it.
Ma. Let us go then, Tho' I had rather it were all done to Day, than to be forc'd to come abroad again, to Morrow.
Th. Go, go, you like a little VValking well enough, why would you make me believe the (d) the Moon is made of a Green Cheeſe?
Ma. Be not malitious, for you'll never thrive.
Th. Boy, run call the Goldſmith, to come weigh the Plate, and take his Mony.

Diálogo Tercéro, De un combíte, entre çínco Cavalléros Amígos, llamádos Guzmán, Rodrígo, Don Lorénço, Mendoça, y Oſório, un Maéſtreſála, y un Páje, en el qual ſe trát a, de cóſas perteneçiéntes a un combíte, con ótras Pláticas, y Dichos agúdos.

G. OLá, eſtá ay algún Páje?
P. Señór.
G. Sábes a caſa de Don Rodrigo?
P. Si Señór.
G. Pués vé allá, díle que le Béſo las mános, y que ſi le paréce óra de que nos veámos.

P. Aquí eſtá un criádo de el Señór Don Lorénço.
G. E'ntre.
Cr. Don Lorénço mi Señór, béſa a v m las mános y embía a ſabér ſi eſtá en cáſa, porqué tiéne un negócio que tratár con v. m.
G. Que béſo a ſu merçéd las mános, y que yó fuéra a la ſúya, a beſarſelas ſinó tuviéra úna ocupación forçóſa que eſperár, la qual tanbién tóca a ſu merçéd, que ſi viniére, ſerá el bién venído y ſe tratará de tódo.

Cr. Béſo a v. m. las mános.
G. Andá con Diós. Olá dezíd al maeſtreſála que hága ponér éſſas méſas, que vernán yá los convidádos.

M. Señór v. m cómo ſe quiére ſervír oy, a la Italiána, o a la Françéza, o a la Ingléſa, o a la Flaménça, o a la Tudéſca?

G. De tódos éſſos eſtrémos me ſacád un médio, no quiéro tántas çeremónias, como el Italiáno, ni quiéro tánta curioſidád cómo el Françés, ni quiéro tánta abundáncia cómo el Inglés, ni quiéro que la comída ſéa tan lárga cómo el Flaménco, ni tan húmeda cómo el Tudéſco, mas de tódos éſtos eſtrémos, componéme un médio a a la Eſpañóla.
M. Anſí ſe hará cómo v. m. lo mánda.
G. Vuéſtro mayór cuidádo ſéa que la comida ſéa caliénte y la bevída fría.
M. Que vínos quiére v. m.
G. De tódos géneros, Blánco, Tínto, Halóque, Claréte, Cándia, Ribadávia, ſan Martín, Tóro, y Sídra, porqué áya de tódo.
P. Aquí viéne el Séñor Don Rodrígo.
G. O Señór, v. m. y los buénos áños
R. Béſo a v. m. las mános.
G. Cómo éſta, v. m. paréçe que coxéa.
R. Díme un Gólpe al apeár del Cavállo en éſta eſpinílla.

G. En óra mála ſéa, veámos ſi es álgo.
R. No Señór, ſinó que es cómo dízen dolór de códo, dolór de eſpóſo, duéle múcho y dúra póco.

G. Mas vále anſí.
R. Cómo tiéne, v. m. a mi Señóra Dóña María y a tóda ſu cáſa?
G. A Servíçio de v. m. aunqué élla, por no avérme enbídia díxo, que pués yó comía con mis Amígos, élla ſe quería yr a comér con ſus amígas.
R. Hízo ſu merçéd muý diſcretaménte, en pagárle a. v. m. en la míſma monéda.
M. Tódos éſtos Señóres conbidádos eſtán aquí, y la comída, a púnto, quándo vuéſſas merçédes fuéren ſervídos, ſe podrán aſentár.
G. Señór Don Lorénço, v. m. tiéne las máñas del Réy que adónde no eſtá no le hállan.
L. Y v. m. quiére pareçérſe a Alçína, de quién dize Orlando, que por engáño, traý los Hómbres a gozár de ſus regálos.
G. Peró, no ſerán vuéſſas merçédes convertídos en animáles, cómo élla hazía.
L. No me aſſegúro, que déxe de bolvérſe algúno en çórra.

R. De buén víno quién quiéra ſe cáça úna en el áño.
G. Cáda úno ſu álma en ſu pálma, qual el tiémpo tal ſéa el tiénto. E'a Señóres tómen ſíllas v. s. mercédes y ſiéntenſe.

The Third Dialogue, of an Entertainment, between Five Gentlemen Friends, call'd Guſman, Roderick, Don Lorenço, Mendoça, Oſorio, a Gentleman Sewer, and a Page, which treats of all things belonging to a Feaſt, with other Diſcourſe and witty Expreſſions.

G. WHO is there, is ever a Page there?
P. Sir.
G. Do you know where D. Roderick lives?
P. Yes, Sir.
G. Then go thither and tell him I kiſs his Hands, and deſire to know whether he thinks it time we ſhould ſee one another.
P. Here is a Servant of Don Lorenço.
G. Let him come in.
S. Don Lorenço my Maſter kiſſes your Hands, Sir, and ſends me to know whether you are at home, for he has ſome Buſineſs to communicate to you.
G. Tell him I kiſs his Hands, and would have gone my ſelf to wait on him, but that I have ſome Affairs which oblige me to ſtay at home, and which concern him, and therefore if he pleaſes to come, he ſhall be welcome, and we will diſcourſe of all our Buſineſs.
S. Sir, I kiſs your Hands?
G. God be with you. Who is there? Bid the Gentleman Sewer ſee the Tables cover'd, for the Gueſts will be coming.
V. Sir, how will you be ſerv'd to Day, after the Italian, after the French, after the Engliſh, after the Flemiſh, or after the German Faſhion?
G. Let me have a mean, out of all thoſe Extremes, for I will not have ſo much Ceremony as the Italian, nor ſo much Curioſity as the French, nor ſuch Abundance as the Engliſh, nor ſo long a Meal as the Flemmings, nor ſo Wet as the German, but of all theſe Extremes, make me a Mean after the Spaniſh Faſhion.
V. It ſhall be as Your Worſhip orders.
G. Let it be your chiefeſt Care that the Meat be hot and the Drink be cold.
V. What Wines will Your Worſhip have?
G. Of all ſorts, White, Red, Pale, Claret, Candia (a) Ribadavia, (b) S. Martin, (c) Toro and Cider, that there may be of all ſorts.
P. Here comes Don Roderick.
G. Oh, Sir, you are as welcome as the good Year.
R. Sir, I kiſs your Hands.
G. How do you Sir, you ſeem to go lame.
R. I hit my ſelf a Blow on the ſhin, as I alighted from my Horſe.
G. In ill time, let us ſee whether the Hurt be conſiderable.
R. No Sir, it is (as they ſay) like the Pain of a Blow on the Elbow, or the Grief for the Loſs of a Husband, it ſmarts much, and is ſoon over.
G. Beſt of all.
R. How does my Lady Mary, and all your Family.

G. At your Service, but ſhe told me that to prevent envying my Happineſs, ſince I feaſted with my Friends, ſhe would go feaſt with hers.
R. She did very diſcreetly to pay you in your own Coin.

V. All the Gentlemen that are invited are here, and Dinner is ready, when Your Worſhips pleaſe, you may ſit down.
G. Don Lorenço you are like the King, who cannot be found where he is not.
L. And you will be like Alcina of whom Orlando ſays, that ſhe us'd Arts to draw in Men to enjoy her Charms.
G. But you ſhall not be turn'd into Beaſts, as ſhe us'd to do.
L. I am not very ſure, but that ſome one of us may be converted into a Fox.
R. Any Man catches a Fox once a Year with good Wine.
G. Every Man is his own Maſter, and does as Occaſion offers. Come Gentlemen take your Chairs and ſit down.
L. Firſt give us Leave a while to admire the Curioſity of the Table.

R. No

L. Hága v. m. pára ſi, que lo miſmo hará cáda úno.
R. No ſe qual ſéa mejór úſo, éſte que uſámos en Eſpaña o el que ſe úſa en Inglatérra.
G. Que es el úſo de Inglatérra?
R. Comér priméro lo cozído, que lo aſſádo, noſótros hazémos al revés.
L. Según réglas de Mediçína, priméro ſe déven comér los manjáres que ſon mas dúros de Digeſtión.
G. Y eſtá éſſo en razón pára que ſe vénga a hazér la Digeſtión en un tiémpo.
L. Pués que ſéa mas dúro de Digeſtión, lo aſſádo que lo cozído, es cóſa clára.
O. Yó cómo ſóy mas Golóſo, hállo ótra razón.
L. Qual es?
O. Que tóda cóſa aſſáda, es mas ſabróſa que la cozída, y aſſí, yó lo querría al princípio porqué ſóbre buén cimiénto buén edifício ſe háze.
M. (b) Pués yó aunqué cállo, piédras apáño.
R. A mda v. m. diſcréto, que Obéja que bála bocádo piérde.

G. Ami me paréçe que ándan yá en ſéco éſtos m olínos.
L. De la bóca me lo quitó v. m.
G. Pués ſi yó lo quité, júſto es que yó lo pónga. Olá dádnos de bevér, cáda úno pída lo que mas gúſto le diére, que de tódo áy.
R. Páge, yó ſóy muý devóto de aquél Sánto que partió la cápa con el póbre.
P. A buén entendedór pócas palábras, de lo de Sant Martín quiére v. m.
R. O cómo éres diſcréto, Diós me de ſiémpre contiénda con quién me entiénda.
L. Pués yó un tiémpo fuí toréro, y me holgáva ſiémpre con (d) Tóros brávos.
G. Señóres yó bríndo a quién toſſiére.
O. Válame Diós y que reſfriádos que eſtámos tódos, no ſe tóſſe mas en un Sermón de quaréſma.
R. E'ſſa gráçia, dízen que tenémos los Eſpañóles, que ſómos cómo mónas, Amígos de hazér lo que vémos hazér a ótros.
L. Anſí díze un refrán, ſi no hágo lo que véo, tódo me méo.

G. Cáda úno áſga de ſu perdíz, y la aderéçe cómo mejór le paréçiére, ay eſtán Limónes, Límas, Naránjas, Pimiénta, y tódo lo demás.
R. La perdiz, dízen los Médicos, que ſe a de comér éntre tres Compañéros pára que no hága mal.
L. Tiénen razón que han de ſér el Hómbre, un Gáto, y un Pérro.
O. Vuéſtras mercédes no han notádo la variedád de aſſádos que aquí nos han traído.
R. Que eſtá debáxo de aquélla enramáda?
G. U'na Cabéça de javalí.
R. Entónces rámos de Tavérna ſon aquéllos.

L. A'ntes al contrário que el rámo en la Tabérna lláma a los Borráchos al víno, y aquéllos lláman al míſmo víno, aſsí cómo la Piédra ymán al azéro.
O. A Señór Mendóza, partíd déſſe Xigóte con vuéſtros Amígos.

R. A Jugler cannot ſhow more Tricks than there is Variety in theſe (a) Napkins.
O. Here I ſee a Gally, which wants nothing but the Slaves and Oars.
M. And here is ſuch a Horſe that I queſtion whether the Trojan Hors were ſo well ſhap'd.
L. Hercules's Shield, has fallen to my Lot.
R. And what is this here?
M. To me it looks like one of the Pyramides of Egypt.
O. Either it is Mauſolus's Tomb, or the Tower of Babel.
G. Leave that, Gentlemen, and ſit down if you pleaſe.
R. A Man cannot chuſe but look at the Sallet made like a Caſtle.
L. As I hope to live the Caſtle of Milán looks no better.
G. If we ſtand to gaze at every thing, we ſhall idle away our time. Every one draw his Chair, for this is no Table for Complements.
O. Among Friends none ought to be us'd.
G. I am the greateſt Enemy in the World to Ceremonies.
R. I like none but thoſe the Church uſes.

G. Here, Plates, Take this D. Lorénço.
L. Sir, ſerve your ſelf, and every one will do the ſame.
R. I know not which is the beſt Faſhion, this we uſe in Spain, or that which is us'd in England.
G. How is the Engliſh Faſhion?
R. To eat the Boil'd Meat before the Roſt, we do quite contrary.
L. According to the Rules of Phiſick, thoſe Meats ought to be eaten Firſt, which are hardeſt of Digeſtion.
G. And that ſtands with Reaſon, that the Digeſtion may be made together.
L. Then that Roſtmeat is harder of Digeſtion than Boil'd is Demonſtration.
O. I who am more of an Epicure, have another Reaſon.
L. What is it?
O. That all Roſt-Meat is more palatable than the Boil'd and therefore I would have it Firſt, becauſe a good Stincture is rais'd on a good Foundation.
M. Tho I ſay little, I think the more.
R. You are in the Right, for the Sheep that bleats looſes a Mouthful.
G. Me thinks the Mill's grind dry.
L. You took the Word out of my Mouth.
G. If I took it out, it is but Reaſon I ſhould reſtore it Here give us to Drink, every one call for what he likes beſt, for here are all ſorts.
R. Page, I have great Devotion to that (c) Saint who gave part of his Cloak to a Poor Man.
P. A Word to the Wiſe is enough, you would have that of Saint Martin.
R. You are very cunning, may I always have to do with thoſe that underſtand me.
L. I once us'd to ride at Buls, and always took Pleaſure in fierce (d) Buls.
G. Gentlemen, I drink to him that ſhall Cough.
O. God bleſs me, what Colds we have all got, there is no more Coughing at a Lenten Sermon.
R. They ſays we Spaniards have that Faculty, that we are like Apes, and love to do as we ſee others do.
L. So ſays the Proverb, If I do not what I ſee done, I bepiſs my ſelfs
G. Every one lay hold of his Partridge, and dreſs him as he likes beſt, there are Lemons and Oranges, Pepper, and every thing elſe.
R. A Partridge, as Phyſitians ſay, is to be eaten between Three Companions, that it may not do harm
L. They are in the Right, that is, between a Man, a Cat and a Dog.
O. You have not obſerv'd the Variety of Roaſt-Meats we have here before us.
R. What is under thoſe Green Boughs?
G. A Wild Boars-Head.
R. Then thoſe are Tavern Buſhes.
L. Rather quite contrary, for the Tavern Buſh calls Drunkards to the Wine, and theſe boughs call upon the Wine it ſelf, as the Loadſtone draws the Steel.
O. Maſter Mendóza deal about ſome of that minc'd Meat, among your Friends.

(a) Napkins make up in ſeveral Shapes, formerly us'd.
(b) Verbatim. Tho' I ſay, nothing, I gather Stones, like one who makes no Anſwer, but picks up Stones to throw at another.
(c) Saint Martin gave a Piece of his Cloak to a Poor Man, and the Wine of St. Martin, is of the beſt in Spain.
(d) He alludes to Wine of Tóro, which is a Bull, as alſo a Towns Name.

M. Señór el mío murió súpito.
R. Paréçe que havéis reſpondído, un grán Adeſéſio.
O Pués aunqué lo paréçe, no lo es, que a ſu provécho ha habládo el Señór Mendoza.
R. Pués, ſi no nos lo declára, no ſaldrémos de dúda.

M. Señór, es el cáſo, que dos Compañéros llegáron a úna Vénta y cómo no uviéſſe ótra cóſa que cenár, que úna Gallína aſſáda, el úno déllos que tenía buéna hámbre, y éra hombre aſtúto, díxo al ótro Compañéro, entantó que yó apáro ésta Gallína, contáme de que murió vuéſtro Pádre. El ótro ſe començó a enternecér, y con lágrimas le relató un proçéſo bién lárgo de la enfermedád de ſu Pádre, y cómo avía muérto, en lo qual tardó tánto, que quándo acordó yá el ótro ſe avía comído, cáſi tóda la Gallína. El hallándoſe burládo, quíſo eſquitárſe y díxole, Compañéro, pués yó os he contádo la muérte de mi Pádre, contáme vos, la del vuéſtro. El Compañéro, por no perdér la párte que le quedáva y concluír préſto razónes, reſpondío, Señór, el mío murió súpito: Con la qual Repuéſta el ótro quedó muý burládo y el le ayudó a deſpachár lo que faltáva.

R. Pués aquí no córre eſſe riéſgo.
M. No, peró yó ſóy cómo el Cuclíllo, que no cánto bién háſta que téngo el Eſtómago lléno.
L. Con Liçénçia del Señór Guzmán, quiéro embiár ésta péllа de manjár blánco a un Amígo.
G. Con mi Liçénçia no yrá ſóla, ſi no la acompáña v. m. con aquél pávo, o éſte Faiſán, o el Francolín.
R. Por vída de Don Lorenço es Amígo o Amíga?

L. Queréis que confiéſſe ſin torménto.
G. Y quándo os le den ántes Mártir que Confeſſór.

O. O que reverénda que viéne nuéſtre Mádre la O'lla.
R. Y bién adornáda de tódas ſus Pertenénçias.
M. Yo deſéo ſavér, dónde o porqué la llamáron Olla Podrída?

L. Metaforicaménte, porqué aſsí cómo en un muladár ſe púdren múchas cóſas diferéntes, y de tódas ſe háze la baſúra, aſsí la ólla que es compuéſta de múchas cóſas ſe viéne a hazér un guizádo o Potáje.
M. Tan buéna Metáfora fué éſſa cómo la del que llamó, Réy al que guárda los Puércos.
O. Por mi paſſa Tiémpo yó me quiéro ponér acontár de quántas cóſas eſtá compuéſta ſu mercéd de nuéſtra O'lla, Carnéro, Váca, Toçíno.
D. L. E'ſſas ſon las tres Poténcias de la ólla cómo las del Alma, Memória, Entendimiénto, Voluntád.
O. Luégo ſe ſígue Repóllo, Návos, Cevóllas, A'jos.
D. L. E'ſſas ſon las quátro Virtúdes Cardináles.
O. Cabéças y piés de áves, Culántro Vérde, Alcarabéa, Comínos, tódas Eſpécias, las demas Yérbas yó no las conóſco, ótro las cuénte.
D. R. Lo que yó contaré deſpués, ſerá lo bién que me ha ſabído.
D. L. Del Marqués Chapín Vitélo Italiáno, que fué úno de los mas Valiéntes Soldádos que ha tenído aquélla Nación, ſe cuénta que quándo fué a Eſpáña, le diéron tánto gúſto éſtas O'llas, que núnca quería comér en ſu Cáſa, ſinó que yéndo por la calle, ſi olía en Cáſa de algún Labradór ríco, adónde ſe comía algúna ólla déſtas, ſe entráva allá y ſe aſentáva a comér con el.
D. R. Devíalo de hazér por comér a cóſta agéna.
L. No, que ántes que ſaliéſſe mandáva a ſu Mayordómo pagáſſe tóda la cóſta de la O'lla.
M. Páge, míra cómo pónes eſſe Pláto no derríbes el Saléro.

L. Si, ſi, guárda, que es el aguéro de los Mendózas.
R. Ya tódos ſómos Mendózas en éſſo.

L. Eſſe raſtro nos quedó de la gentilidád.

M. Hémos víſto eſperiéncias muý Verdadéras.
O. Créo en Diós y no en Pútas viéjas.
M. E'ſſas ſon de las que yó me procúro ſiémpre guardár.
R. O Señór Guzmán, pára que es éſto que ſe trác agóra?

G. Dízen que pára comér.
R. Si, peró éra meneſtér hazér nnévos Eſtómagos, en que echáll
O. Mandárlos hazér de barro a truéco de poco Dinéro.

M. E'ſtas Tórtas reáles, ſon cómo cuérpo que no ocúpa lugár.

M. Sir, mine dy'd ſuddenly.
R. Methinks your Anſwer it nothing to the Purpoſe.
O. Yet tho' it ſounds ſo, it is no ſuch thing, for Mr. Mendóza has ſpoken for his own Intereſt.
R. However, if he does not explain it, we ſhall be never the wiſer.
M. Then thus it is, Sir, Two Companions came to an Inn, and finding nothing for Supper but a Roaſted Foul, one of them, who was ſharp ſet and cunning, ſaid to his Companion, Whilſt I dreſs this Foul, do you tell me what Diſtemper your Father dy'd of. The other was mov'd and ſhedding ſome Tears, began to tell a long Story of his Fathers Sickneſs, and the manner of his Death, which took up ſo much time, that when he bethought himſelf the other had almoſt eaten up the Foul. He perceiving he had been put upon, thought to be quit, and ſaid to his Companion, ſince I have told you, how my Father Dy'd, do you tell me what end yours made. His Companion for fear of loſing his Share of what remain'd, and to uſe few Words anſwer'd. Sir, my Father Dy'd ſuddenly. Which Anſwer diſappointed the other, and he help'd him to make an end of what remain'd.
R. But here is no ſuch Danger.
M. No, but I am like the Cuckow, and cannot ſing well till my Belly is full.
L. With your Leave Maſter Gúzman, I will ſend this Ball of (a) White Meat to a Friend.
G. With my Leave it ſhall not go alone, unleſs you ſend along with it that Turky, or this Feaſant, or this Godwit.
R. As you hope to live Don Lorenço, is it a he Friend or ſhe Friend?
L. will you have me confeſs without the Rack?
G. Nay, tho' you be put upon it rather prove a Martyr than a Confeſſor.
O. How ſtately our old Motherly Diſh the (b) O'lla looks.
R. And well adorn'd with all her Appurtenances.
M. I would be glad to know, how or for what Reaſon it was call'd, (c) O'lla Podrída?
L. Metaphorically, becauſe as on a Dung-Hill many different things rot together, and all of them become one Heap of Dirt: Even ſo the Pot which is a Compoſition of many things becomes one Diſh of Meat, or Soupe.
M. That Metaphor was as Good as his who call'd a Swine-herd a King.
O. To paſs the time I will reckon up how many Ingredients go to the making up of our Worſhipful O'lla or Pot. There is Muton, Beef, Bacon.
L. Thoſe are the Three Faculties of the Pot, like the Three Faculties of the Soul, the Will, Memory, and Underſtanding.
O. Next follow Cabbage, Turneps, Onyons, Garlick.
L. Theſe are the Four Cardinal Vertues.
O. The Heads and Feet of Foul, green Coriander, Caroways, Cumin-ſeed, all ſorts of Spice, as for other Herbs, I know them not, let another ſpeak of them.
R. All I ſhall ſay of it, will be how well it has pleas'd me.

L. It is ſaid, of the Marques Chapin Vitelli, who was one of the braveſt Soldiers that Nation ever bred, that when he came into Spain, he was ſo taken with theſe O'llas, that he would never Dine at home, but that as he went along the Street, if he hapned to ſmell one of theſe O'llas in ſome Rich Farmers Houſe, he would go in and ſit down to Dinner with him.
R. Perhaps he did it to Dine Free-coſt.
L. No, for before he went out of the Houſe, he order'd his Steward to pay the whole Coſt of the Olla.
M. Page, take heed how you ſet down that Diſh, leaſt you overthrow the Salt.
L. Yes, yes, take heed, for it is the Superſtition of the (d) Mendózas.
R. We are all Mendózas in that point.
L. That is one of the Remains of Paganiſm, which we ſtill retain.
M. We have ſeen very evident Proofs of it.
O. I believe in God, and not in Old Whores Tales.
M. I always endeavour to keep clear of them.
R. O Maſter Guzman, what is all this for that is now brought.
G. They ſay, it is to be eaten.
R. Yes, but we want freſh Stomacks for it.
O. Get them tho' they be but of Earthen Ware for Cheapneſs.
M. Theſe puſt paſt Tartes are like a Body that takes up no room.

L. Yo

(a) Made of the Brawn of Fouls diſſolv'd with Milk, Sugar and Spice, and then made into Bals very delicious.
(b) Olla, or Olla Podridaa, is all ſorts of Foul and Butchers-Meat ſtew'd together a very good Diſh.
(c) A Rotten Pot, which conſiſts of ſeveral ſorts of Meat, cloſe ſtew'd together.
(d) Spilling of Salt a general Superſtition, and more particularly in that Family.

L. Yo téngo de provár ésta pepitória.
R. Yó con él Manjár reál me acomódo.
G. No áy quién prueve esótros guisádos, éstos torrésnos lampreádos, aquél adobádo, el carnéro vérde, las albóndigas, ni lo démas.
T. Tódo ésso es cómo Pédro por demás.
O. O cómo allá vóy no hágo méngua.
G. A'lçalo pués Muchácho, desembaráça y tráe aquélla frúta de Sartén.
P. Aquí ésta Señór, y la Melója y tódo.
R. E'sso allá a los Aguados, que la borrácha no quiére pássa.

G. Traé pués la frúta de Póstre, Camuéças, Péras, Azeitúnas, Nuézes, Avellánas, y la cája de Mermélada.
L. Hásta quándo hémos de comér?
R. Hásta enfermár, cómo díze el refrán.
L. Y después ayunár hásta sanár.
O. Levánta ésta mésa Páge, que es yá gúla tánto comér.

M. Yó he perdído la Gána, cómo si me la quitáran con la máno.
L. El mejór Remédio, que halláron los Filósofos, contra la Hámbre, fué éste.
R. E'sta Filosofía álgo es gruésa de hiláça.
O. Mejór se podrá dezír verdád apuráda que yá sabéis lo que es.
L. Ya se que verdádes apurádas son necedádes.
O. Mas púlido lo quería yó dezír.
R. Cómo?
O. Indiscreçiónes.
D. L. Tánto monta cortár, cómo desatár, cómo díxo Alexándro.
D. R. Olá Páje, tráe únos náipes entretengámos el tiémpo.

M. El tahúr, chíca ocasión ha menestér pára bolvér al juégo.
D. L. A mi me paréçe que sóla úna.
M. Qual es?
D. L. Tenér Dinéros.
M. Ni al tahúr faltó que jugár, ni al Golóso que comér, ni al enduradór que endurár, ni al borrácho que bevér.
D. R. Aquí están los Náipes, que jugarémos?
D. L. Inguémos Ganapiérde.
M. Es juégo de múcha fléma.
D. L. Pués séa al Triúnfo.
M. Quéde pára los viéjos.
D. L. A los çiéntos.
M. Desvanéçeseme la Cabéça, de estár siémpre contándo.
M. Pára que hémos de estár gastándo tiémpo, sinó lo que se a de empeñár, véndase, cómo dízen.
D. R. Si, porqué haziénda hécha, no da priéssa.
D. L. Y mas quándo le gánan al Hómbre su Dinéro, le quítan préssto de cuidá do.
M. He aquí están los Náipes, juguémos.
O. O'ra por quitár tódos de contiénda yó quiéro dar un Médio y séa éste, la priméra.
M, Muy bién avéis dícho, que es Médio éntre los estrémos.

D. L. Yó entiéndo que se llamó Priméra, porqué tiéne el priméro lugár éntre los juégos de Náypes.
D. R. A'lto, que ha de sér el tánto?
M. Quatró reales y diés y séis de sáca.
D. L. Pués barajá éssos Náipes bién.
O. Yó álço por máno, figúra úvo de sér, no querría yó ỳr hécho figúra sin blánca.
D. R. Yó un ás alçé.
D. L. Yó un quátro.
M. Yó un séis, con que sóy máno.
O. Véngan las Cártas que yó las dóy, úna, dos, tres, quátro. Ú'na, dos, tres, quátro.
M. Pásso.
D. R. Pásso.
D. L. Passo.
O. Enbído un tánto.
M. No le quiéro.
D. R. No le quiéro.
D. L. Yó por fuérça avré de querér, echád Cártas.
M. Echádme quátro Cártas, he aquí mi tánto.
D. R. He aquí el mío, cáda úno méta el súyo.
M. Buélvo a passár.
D. R. Yó tanbién.

The Fourth Dialogue, between Two

Friends, the one call'd Móra, the other Aguilár, and a Mulettier, and an Hoſteſs. Which treats of things belonging to Travellers, with very pleaſant Sayings and Jeſts.

M. SO ho, Peter have you brought my Mule?
P. Yes, Sir, here is the Mule with the black Muzzle.
M. A Mule with a black Muzzle is never good?
P. Why, Sir?
M. Becauſe (a) neither a Mule with a Black Muzzle, nor a Maid that has paſs'd the Sea, nor a Servant call'd Peter in ones Houſe, nor a Neigbour Abbot, nor a Bench at the Door, is ever good.
P. I prômiſe Your Worſhip, ſhe is better then that which dragg'd (b) the Curate when he ſaid, Dominus providebit.
M. Is ſhe old?
P. I did not ſee her foal'd, but I believe her Dam was older.
M. Does ſhe kick?
P. She never gives one alone.
M. They are always by Pairs, does ſhe travel well?
P. All the ways ſhe goes ſhe leaves behind her.
M. By my troth, ſhe has ſuch rare Qualities, that I begin to be in Love with her.
P. She has one above all the reſt, for ſhe is a great Aſtrologer.
M. How ſo?
P. She knows better then a Clock when it is Noon, and preſently ſhe asks for Provender, and if they give her none, ſhe ſets up her Throat, and will not ſtir a Foot from the Place.
M. There is a good Remedy for that, which is to intreat her with the Spur.
P. She has a very ſhort Memory.
M. How?
P. Tho' you ſtrike the Spur a handful deep into her, as ſoon as ſhe has gone Two Steps ſhe forgets it.
M. Bring her, I care not, for Sancho has met with his Steed, and if ſhe is a falſe Jade, I am as Knaviſh a Rider, and we ſhall underſtand one another to a Hair.
P. If you travel cautiouſly, you may make what you will of her, for ſhe plays her Pranks with thoſe that forget themſelves.
M. Saddle her, pull her Girts tight, put on her Crupper and Breaſt-plate, ſhorten the Stirrups, and I'll deal with her.
P. I will put on new Stirrup Leathers for more Security.
M. Put on the Bridle, make the Bit faſt, ſhorten the Headſtall, look if ſhe be well ſhod of all Four Feet.
P. On the Forefeet ſhe has good Shoes and Nails, on the Hinder-Feet ſhe wears her own Hoof.
M. Put on the Pillion and the Portemanteau.
A. So Companion, ſhall we get away from hence to Day?
M. What are you come already, and a Horſeback?
A. You are longer in fitting out than a Bride.
M. Is your Mule gentle?
A. As gentle as a Lamb, don't you ſee ſhe endures a Mail.

M. De

(a) Theſe things in Spaniſh Rime, and are Obſervations peculiar to Spain.
(b) A Curate falling off his Mule, and hanging in the Stirrup was dragg'd a long, till a Laborer in the Field took him out, and he took no care to help himſelf but only ſaid Dominus providebit.
(c) A Proverb anſwerable to ours, Set a Thief to catch a Thief, or Diamant cut Diamant.

P. A Señór v. m. a cáſo va a Madrid.
C. Si voy, porqué lo dezís ?
P. Pués Cagaxón pára quién va a Madrid ?
M. Que boníto es Pédro ſi le laváſſe.

P. A'ntes, deſpués de lavádo no válgo náda.
A. Quánto aurémos andádo Pédro ?
P. Núnca buélvo a mirár atrás, por no ſér cómo la Mugér de Lot.
A. Quánto nos fálta de aquí al primér Puéblo ?
P. Légua y Miérda.
M. La légua andarémos noſótros, eſſótra vos la paſſaréis.

A. Pués porqué ſe páſſe ſin ſentír, cuénta un cuénto Pédro.
P. De Dinéros pára mi le contára yó de buéna gána.

M. God defend me from ſtill VVater, for I'll keep my ſelf from the Boiſterous.
A. It is enough that yours has a Black Muzzle.
M. You hardly know thoſe you never ſaw, but in Faith this Mule has taken her Degrees at Salamanca.
A. In what Faculty?
M. In the Faculty of Knavery, ſhe is Batchelor of Arts at Kicking, Licentiate in the Laws of Inns, and Doctor in Aſtrology and Mathematicks.
A. That makes her always look up towards Heaven.
M. She does it to gaze on the Stars, Planets and Signs, and their Courſes.
A. Let us go, for we have a long Journey.
M. How many Leagues do you think to travel to Day?
A. I would willingly go Twelve.
M. Then in the Name of God, Peter hold this Stirrup.
A. Is your Name Peter, Friend ?
M. At your Service, Sir.
A. Then God do no more Harm to Peter, than that he knows how to do himſelf.
P. There is no Cauſe why God ſhould bleſs your Health, Sir.
A. I know Men ought not to joke upon their Friends.
M. One Friend may play upon another.
A I will not fall out with you Peter, for a Muletier is cunninger than the Devil.
M. Why what do you think, Peter wants to make him a Devil?
P. But a Years Apprentiſhip, and a Fleſh-hook.
A. VVhy a Fleſh-hook ?
P. To pull Your VVorſhips out of the Kettle, when you go thither.
M. VVe are not to go to Hell.
P. You are not to go, but you will be carry'd.
M. Come behind me therefore Evil Spirit, Curſed Devil.
A. Friend Peter, what is an Old Whore made of?
P. Of a Young Whore.
No (b) ſhe is not, but of be ſo, and of Dill and of a Turd do you bite it, and of the Duſt of the Traſhing Floor, or of the ſame you are made of.
A. I ſee him juſt over againſt me, and he has Shoes of Packthred, and goes a Foot.
M. Peter, hark what he ſays to you, don't you Anſwer ?
P. I cannot hear, for I am Deaf of one of my Teeth.
M. VVhat has the Biter been bit ?
P. I don't feel this Hurt much, for it was an oukward uphand Stroke, but beware of the downright Back-ſtroke, I ſhall return.
A. Peter I gueſs you are he that was call'd of (d) Urdemalas, or the Contriver of Miſchief.
P. Then every one look to himſelf, for I ſhall contrive ſome this Journey.
A. Peter, there comes a Traveller, banter him.
P. Hey Brother, which way go you ?
T. VVhither ?
P. To the Whore that bore you.
A. Good, now for his Companion, that is behind.
P. Sir, is the Mule yours ?
T. VVhat Mule ?
P. That whoſe Arſe you may kiſs.
A. Let not this Gentleman, who looks ſo great go ſcotfree.
P. Sir, are you going to Madrid ?
T. Yes, I am, why do you ask?
P. Then a Turd for him that goes to Madrid.
M. VVhat a pretty Fellow Peter is, if he were waſh'd clean.
P. Nay, if I were waſh'd clean, I were good for nothing.
A. How far have we travell'd Peter ?
P. I never look back, becauſe I would not be like Lots Wife.

A. How far have we from hence to the next Town ?
P. (e) A League and a Turd.
M. VVe will ride the League, and you ſhall ſwallow the other.
A. Then to divert it, tell us a Tale, Peter.
P. (f) I would rather tell Money for my ſelf.

A. No,

(a) Raillery us'd by Travellers in Spain.
(b) Theſe are all double Entenders and loſe their Grace in Engliſh.
(c) Alluding to the Muletier, who runs a Foot.
(d) Urdemalas, Is the Name of a Town, and ſignifies the Contriver of Miſchief, and taken here by Alluſion in this Senſe.
(e) A naſty wilful Miſtake of Miérda for Médias, half a League.
(f) Still playing upon VVords, for Cuénto, is a Tale, or Story, and Cuénto in reckning, ſignifies a Million, ſo that it ſignifies, I would rather tell a Million of Money of my own.

A. No, ſinó algún acaeçído que te avíno por éſſos camínos.

P. Entónces contárles hé úno que me ſuçedío el viáje paſſádo, haziéndo éſte Camíno con unbidálgo.
M. No léa muý lárgo que me dormiré.
P. Si ſe durmiére la mohína tendrá cuydádo de deſpertárle.

M. Vos le havéis levantádo mil fálſos Teſtimónios, m'rád quan bién camína y quan manſa va?
P. (a) Al freír lo verá.
A. Ea, dexémos éſſo, váya el cuénto.
P. Pócos días ha, yó víne éſte camíno con úno de los mayóres habladóres que he conoçído en mi vída y cómo el hablár múcho, y el mentír ſon tan pariéntes, dezia las mas terríbles mentíras, que ſe puéden imaginár. Pués cómo el me preguntaſſe un día que me parecía de ſu buéna Converſaçion, yó le reſpondí que muý bién, peró que quándo contáſſe algún cuénto, no ſe alargáſſe y paſaſſe tánto, que dáva que murmurár a quántos le oýan. El me díxo pués ſéa éſta la manéra, quándo lleguémos a las poſadas, ſiéntate tu apár de mi, y ſi me viéres contár algó que te parézca que vóy fuéra de camíno, tírame de la hálda, entonçes yó entenderé, y me deterné. Con éſte conçiérto llegámos aquélla nóche a úna vénta, dónde acáſo avían llegádo tanbién múchos Cavalléros, y cómo ſe aſentaſſen a çenár y mi ámo éntre éllos, yó me púſe a ſu ládo conforme al conciérto, y cómo es coſtúmbre cáda úno començó a contár las maravíllas que avía víſto por el Múndo. Llegó la vez al buéno de mi ámo, el qual díxo que avía eſtádo en tiérra de Japón, y que éntre ótras cóſas Maravilloſas que allí avía víſto fué úna Igléſia que tenía mil piés de lárgo. A éſte tiémpo yó que le víde yr tan deſmandádo y cómo eſtáva alérta, tírole rézio de la hálda. El luégo me entendío, y díxo; y úno en ancho los Cavalléros ſe començáron a mirár únos a ótras y a ſonreýrſe háſta que úno déllos díxo, Válame Diós Señór, y pára que ſervía éſſa Igléſia tan lárga y angóſta, de mil piés de lárgo y úno en áncho. El replicó, Agradézcan vuéſtras mercédes que me tiráron de la fálda a tiémpo, que ſi no, yó les vóto a Diós que yó la quadrára. Fué entónçes tánta la ríſa de tódos que a mi ámo le convíno aquélla nóche ſalírſe de la vénta, porqué éntre tódos quedó por refrán quándo algúno contáva álgo que pareçía mentíra, Le dezía el terçéro, quadréla v. m. que hárto lárga eſtá.

M. De úna cóſa me eſpánto yó Pedró.
P. Qual es?
M. Cómo pudíſte durár tan lárgo tiémpo con tu competidór en la Facultád.
A. Si, porqué éſſe es tu enemigo el que es de tu Oficio.
P. Es verdád que múchas vézes le quíſe dexár por éſſo, y ſe lo dezía que no quería mas caminár con el, porqué éra tocádo de mi própria enfermedád y no me dexáva hazér báſa.

A. Y que reſpondió a éſſo?
P. Luégo me prometía con juraménto, que callaría tóda úna jornáda pára que yó hablaſſe.
A. Y cumplíalo?
P. Tan impoſſible le éra a el podérlo cumplír cómo a v. m. digerír éſſe pélo de áſno, que ha comído.
M. Compañéro pagádo os han vuéſtro travájo.
A. No tenéis razón Pédro, anſí yó os véa zárco a podér de núbes.
P. A'ntes ciégue, que mal véa.
A. Anſí yó os véa con mítra de ſiéte palmos.

P. Anſí yó le véa a el, (e) Pápahigos de ſu Múla.
A. E'chote úna púlla con ſu pulloncíllo, que tu Mugér te hága çiérvo y te llámen tódos cuclíllo.
P. (f) E'chote úna púlla venída ſóbre mar, que los diéntes ſe te cáygan y no puédas meár.
M. Piquémos Compañéro que ſe va haziéndo tárde.
A. Que Hóra ſerá Pédro?
P. La de ayér a éſtas Hóras puntualménte.
A. E'ſſo tanbién lo dixéra mi Múla, ſi ſupiéra hablár.
P. Sóy yó Relóx, que me pregúnta que Hóra es?
A. A lo ménos (d) badájo, que móna tánto.

A. No, but tell us, ſomething that has happen'd to you on the Road.
P. Then I'll tell you a thing that happen'd to me the laſt Journey, I travell'd this way with a Gentleman.
M. Let it not be too long, for I ſhall fall aſleep.
P. If you fall aſleep, the Mule with the Black Muzzle will take care to wake you.
M. You have told a Thouſand Lyes of her, ſee how well ſhe goes, and how quiet ſhe is.
P. (a) You will ſee that when you come to fry.
A. VVell let us leave this, forward with the Tale.
P. Not long ſince, I travell'd this way with one of the greateſt Talkers that ever I knew in my Life, and much Talking and Lying being near of kin, he told the moſt Horrible Lies that can be imagin'd. He hapning one Day to ask me how I lik'd his Diſcourſe, I anſwer'd, very well, but that I would adviſe him, when he told any Tale not to ſtretch ſo much, becauſe it gave all that hear'd him Occaſion to rail at him behind his back. If ſo, ſaid he, let us manage it thus, VVhen we come to an Inn, do you ſit down by me, and if you hear me tell any Story that you think extravagant pull me by the Skirt, and I ſhall underſtand you, and check my ſelf. Being thus agreed we came that Night to an Inn, where there were ſeveral Gentlemen, and when they ſat down to Supper, and my Maſter among them, I took my Place by his ſide, as had been agreed, and as the Cuſtom is every one began to tell what ſtrange things he had ſeen in his Travels. My good Maſter's Turn being come, he ſaid, He had been in Japan, where among other VVonders he ſaw a Church a Thouſand Foot in Length. Now I perceiving he had laſh'd out, and being upon the VVatch pull'd him hard by the Skirt. He preſently underſtood me, and ſaid, and one Foot in Breadth. The Gentlemen began to look at one another, and to ſmile, till one of them ſaid. In the Name of God, Sir, what uſe did they put that Church to, which was ſo long and narrow, a Thouſand Foot in Length, and but one in Breadth? He replied, Thank him, that pull'd me by the Skirt in time, for if he had not, I vow to God, I had made it Square. This put them into ſuch a Fit of Laughing, that my Maſter was fain that Night to get him out of the Inn, for it became a By-word among them, when one told any thing that look'd like a Lie, the Third Man ſaid to him, Make it Square, for it is long enough.
M. I wonder at one thing Peter:
P. VVhat is it?
M. How you could hold out ſo long with a Competitor in your own Faculty?
A. Right, for Two of a Trade can never agree.
P. I muſt own I was ſeveral times about leaving him for that Reaſon, and told him, I would not travel any more with him, becauſe he was troubled with my Diſtemper, and would not let me win a (b) Trick.
A. And what Anſwer did he make you?
P. He preſently ſwore to, he would be ſilent for a whole Days Journey, that I might talk.
A. And was he as good as his Word?
P. It was as impoſſible for him to perform it, as for your VVorſhip to digeſt the (c) Aſſes Hair you have eaten.
M. You are well paid for your Pains, Comrade.
A. You are in the wrong Peter, as I hope to ſee your Eyes blew again with Pearls.
P. I wiſh you may be blind rather than weak-ſighted.
A. May I live to ſee you wear a Miter ſeven Hands high (h).
P. May I ſee you kiſs your Mule under the Tail.
A. One flirt at you with a young one at its Tail, may your Wife make you a Stag, and every Body call you Cuckow.
P. One Flirt for you, which came from beyond Sea, may your Teeth drop out, and may you not be able to piſs.
M. Let us ſpur on Companion, for it grows late.
A. What a Clock may it be, Peter?
P. Juſt the ſame it was yeſterday at this time.
A. My Mule might have ſaid as much, if ſhe could ſpeak?
P. Am I a Clock that you ask me what time a Day it is.
A. At leaſt you are a Clapper, which amounts to the ſame.

P. Y

(a) A Collier Sold Coals to a VVoman, and putting down his Coals, put up her Frying Pan, the VVoman asking if they were good Coals, he anſwer'd, Alfreýr lo verá, that is, She would ſee when ſhe came to try any thing.
(b) As at Cards.
(c) Calling him Aſs by Craft, meaning he had ſwallow'd a great deal of Nonſenſe.
(d) This is properly call'd Coróça, being made of Paſsbord like a Miter, and Painted VVorm by Offenders carry'd on an Aſs about the Streets, like our Carting.
(e) This is Spaniſh Rebaldry like what we uſe upon the VVater.
(f) Badájo, a Clapper of a Bell, Metaphorically a Blockhead.
(g) Pápahigo, is properly a ſort of Cloak with a Hood for Rainy VVeather, and this alludes to the Miter, but Papár is to devour or catch in the Mouth and Higos, here are the Hemorroids, ſo that it ſignifies to clap his Mouth to his Mules Fundament.

P. Y ſi dóy adónde dáre?
A. En la cabéça del púto de tu Pádre.
P. Mas çérca eſta la ſúya y ſonará bién, pués eſtá huéca.

M. Bién camína de andadúra vuéſtra Múla.
A. Y la vuéſtra ha bién deportante.
M. Sinó la convirtiéſſe algúnas vézes en tróte, que paréçe al de la Mádre.
A. Entrémos en éſta vénta a dár ceváda, y comér un bocádo.

P. Un bocádo no mas, mas piénſo yó comér de un ciénto.
M. No os ſabréis paſſár un día ſin comér Pédro?
P. Par diós nuéſtro amo, cómo díze el Bizcaíno, trípas llévan a piés que no piés a trípas.
A. Yo también dígo que pan y víno ánden Camíno que no móço garrído.
P. Paz ſéa en éſta cáſa, quién eſtá acá Huéſpeda?
V. Quién eſtá allá, quién lláma?
P. A'y Poſáda Señóra?
V. Si Señór, éntren y ſéan muý bién venídos, que tódo recádo áy.
P. Que aurá que comér?
V. A'y Conéjos, áy Perdíçes, áy Póllos, áy Gallínas, áy Gánços, áy A'nades, áy Carnéro, áy Váca, áy Cabríto, áy Menúdo de Puérco.
P. Bién díxe yó, que en ſu cáſa de v. m. no podía faltár (c) Puérco.
V. Ni en la ſúya faltará Velláco, miéntras el eſtuviére déntro.

P. No en verdád, Señóra, ſinó que me dixéron que los Días paſſados avía v. m. reñído bravaméntе con la limpiéça.
V. También me dixéron a mi, que avía el deſterrádo la Verguénça de ſu cáſa.
M. Huélgome Pédro que as topádo con lo que avías meneſter.
P. Y aún élla me ha meneſtér a mi.
V. Yó pór çiérto, ſinó es pára ponérle en (d) Peralvíllo con dóze y la Maéſtra, no ſe pára que?
P. Aóra Señóra no nos digámos mas, calláte, y callémos que ſéndas nos tenémos.
V. E'a acábe habladór de Ventája, pída lo que ha meneſtér.

P. Déme héno, y Pája, y Cebáda, pára las Múlas.
V. Quánto quiére?
P. Dos Harnéros de Héno y un Zelemín de Cebáda.
V. Muý póco es pára tres Béſtias.
P. Aquí no áy mas que dos, qual es la ótra?
V. La ótra ſóys vos y mas Tragóna que eſſótras dos.

P. Si ſóy, mas no de Páxa ni Cebáda, porqué es muý dúra de Digeſtión.
V. Mas dúro es un Garróte y ſuéle ablandár las Coſtíllas a un Vellaco.
M. Bién eſtá, no páſſe mas adelánte Señóra Huéſpeda, quánto pónen de aquí a la çiudád?
V. Señór çínco Léguas.
M. Podrémos las caminár de aquí a la Nóche?
V. Cómo picáren?
M. A'y algún río en el Camíno, o algún mal páſſo?
V. Por do quiéra, áy úna légua de mal Camíno.

M. Ay adónde herrár?
V. El camíno no, las Múlas ſi Señór, mil pártes áy dónde puéden herrár.
A. Señóra huéſpeda cúya es éſta vénta?
V. De un Cavalléro de la çiudád.
A. Quánto págan por élla de arrendamiénto en un Año?
V. Mas que élla vále, quiniéntos Ducádos.
M. De éſſa ſuérte, buéna máña ſe an meneſtér dar a hurtár pára facár la cóſta.
P. E'ſſa no fálta, el Gáto por Liébre, la cárne de Múla por váca, el víno paſſádo por A'gua, tódo va déſta manéra.

V. Mála páſqua de Diós al Velláco y mal San Juán, quándo ha viſto el éſſo en mi Vénta?
P. Víſtolo no, guſtádolo ſi.
V. Vos mentís cómo Velláco, que núnca tal.

P. If I ſtrike where ſhall I hit?
A. On the Scoundrel your Fathers Head.
P. Your Head is nearer, and it will ſound well, becauſe it is hollow.
M. Your Mule paces well.
A. And yours ambles well.
M. If ſhe did not change it ſometimes into a Trot, which is like the Dam.
A. Let us put into this Inn, to bait our Mules and eat a Bit.
P. But one Bit, I deſign to eat above an Hundred.
M. Can't you live a Day without eating Peter?
P. By the Lord, Maſter, as the (a) Biskainer ſays, the Belly carries the Feet, and not the Feet the Belly.
A. And I ſay, (b) that Bread and Wine go through with the Journey, and not the luſty young Fellow.
P. Peace be in this Houſe, who is here Landlady?
H. Who is there, who cals?
P. Have you any Lodging, Miſtriſs?
H. Yes, Sir, come in, and welcome, for here is good Entertainment.
P. What is there to eat?
H. There are Rabbets, there are Patridges, there are Chickens, Pullets, Geeſe, Ducks, there is Mutton, there is Beef, Kid, and Hogs-Harſlet.
P. I was in the Right when I ſaid, there could be not want of Swine in your Houſe, Miſtreſs.
H. Nor will there be any want of a Knave in your Houſe, when you are at home.
P. No truly, Miſtriſs, but I was told you had a great falling out with Cleanlineſs a while a go.
H. And I was told that you had baniſh'd Shame out of your Houſe.
M. I am glad Peter that you have met with your Match.
A. And ſhe needs me to match her.
H. Who I, what to do, unleſs it be to tie you to a Stake to be ſhot to Death, like a Rogue.
P. Well, Miſtriſs, let us ſay no more, hold your Peace, and let us be huſh'd, for we have both enough.
H. Well then, give over Prate apace, and ask for what you want.
P. Give me Hay and Straw, and Barley for the Mules.
H. How much will you have?
P. Two Sieves full of Hay, and a Peck of Barley.
H. That is very little for Three Beaſts.
P. Here are but Two, which is the other?
H. You are the other, and a greater Devourer than thoſe Two.
P. I am ſo, but not of Straw or Barley, for it is very hard of Digeſtion.
H. A Cudgel is harder, and yet it uſes to ſoften a Knaves Ribs.
M. Enough, pray have done, Landlady, how far do they reckon it from hence to the City?
H. Five Leagues, Sir.
M. May we ride them betwixt this and Night?
H. According as you ſpur on.
M. Is there any River in the way or any bad Paſſage?
H. Which way ſoever you go, there is a League of bad Way.
M. (e) Is there any Place to ſhoe a Horſe.
H. You can't miſs the way, but there are many Places where you may ſhoe your Horſes.
A. Landlady, whoſe is this Inn?
H. A Gentleman's in the City.
A. How much Rent do you pay a Year?
H. More than it is worth, Five Hundred Ducats.
M. If ſo you had need be dexterous at Cheating to quit Coſt.
P. There is no want of that, they ſell a Cat for a Hare, Mules Fleſh for Beef, Wine poach'd in Water, and ſo all other things.
H. God grant the Knave an ill Eaſter, and an Ill Mid-Summer, when did you ſee that in my Inn?
P. I never ſaw, but I have taſted it.
H. You lie like a Rogue, there was never any ſuch thing.

P. Aóra

(a) A Biskainer travelling a Foot, and being faint for want of Food, went into an Inn, and fill'd his Belly, after which he went on couragiouſly, and therefore ſaid, the Belly carries the Feet, and not the Feet the Belly.
(b) Youth and Strength will not carry a Man through without Eating and Drinking.
(c) Puérco, Is either a Swine, or Naſtineſs to which he alludes.
(d) Peralvíllo, Is the Place where Highway-Men uſe to be ſhot to Death with Arrows, which are commonly Twelve in Number, and la Maéſtra, is that which goes through the Heart.
(e) Herrár, Is to ſhoe, and Errár to err, both pronounc'd alike, and therefore they play upon the Words.

P. Aóra eſtémos a cuénta huéſpeda, no démos de comér al Diablo, vénga acá, no ſe acuérda el ótro Día, quánda yó víne por aquí con ún Cavalléro que le pidió le diéſſe un pedáço de cárne de aquél·lo que le avía dádo ótro Día ántes quando avía paſsádo por aquí, porqué dezía que le avía ſavído muý bién, lo qual oyéndo aquél niño chiquíto, díxo caro nos coſtarla, ſi cáda Día ſe nos avía de morír un Rocín.

V. Es Verdád que aquéllo fué aquél Roçín que ſe nos murió, peró eſtáva tan górdo y tan líndo que éra mejór que cárne de váca.

M. Señóra huéſpeda, aunqué mas líndo ſéa, no nos de del agóra.

V. No Señór que yá ſe acabó, háſta aóra avía de durár?

M. Veámos el víno que tal es.

V. El víno es tal, que bálta a llevár al Ciélo al que acoſtumbráre a bevérlo.

P. Ola nuéſtra ámа, no báſta ventéra ſinó hereje?

V. Lo que yó dígo es verdád y lo provaré, que el buén víno, lléva los Hómbres al Ciélo.

M. De que manéra?

V. El buén víno cría buéna ſángre, la buéna ſángre engéndra buéna Condición, la buéna Condición para buénas óbras, las buénas óbras, llévan a los Hómbres al Ciélo.

M. E'lla ha provádo ſu Intencion baſtanteménte.

A. Peró no ſe podrá dezír ellío por élte víno.

V. Porqué.

A. Porqué éſto mas paréçe Vinágre y A'gua.

V. A'gua! No por vída de mi A'nima, que no tiéne mas de la que le echó el de lo álto.

M. Pués Diós no le víno a echár A'gua, que ſin A'gua lo crió.

P. Bién ésta v. m. en el cuénto; el de lo álto es ſu marído, que eſtá en lo álto de la Caſa, y déſde allí, écha A'gua en el Víno, por úna cebratána.

A. Con vos me entiérren Pédro, que ſabéys de cuénta.

M. Yó entendía que llamáva a Diós, el de lo álto.

A. En tódas las cóſas áy engáño.

P. Sinó es en la rópa viéja.

V. Por ciérto que tiénen razón, que eſtá yá el Múndo muý perdído, por éſſo nos hémos recogído mi marído y yó a ésta vénta, por acabár en buéna vída.

M. E'ſta llamáys buéna vída huéſpeda?

P. Si Señór, que peór éra la de los de Sodóma y Gomórra.

V. No le paréçe a v. m. que es buéna vída, eſtar héchos Hermitaños en élte deſiérto? Que mas hiziéron los Pádres del Yérmo?

P. Y tan virtuóſos, que de lín ó ína, a quántos páſſan les quitán lo que llévan.

V. Quitár, núnca Diós tal quiéra, reçebír lo que nos dan con cortesía, éſſo ſi.

P. Es el cáſo, que lláman cortesía a la gançúa, con que ábren las vicáças.

V. El Diablo trúxo a élte móço a mi Cáſa, véte con tódos los Diáblos, Eſpíritu de Contradición.

P. Mal me quiéren mis comádres, porqué les dígo las verdádes.

M. Aóra Pédro, hazé cuénta con la huéſpeda, y vámos de aquí, que es tárde.

P. Que ſe déve de tódo huéſpeda?

V. Eſpéreſe, contaré, dos de Pája, y de Pája dos, tres de çebáda, çínco de Víno, úno de carne y dos de toçíno, véynte Reáles en tódo.

P. Cuénta hécha, Múla muérta, eſcudéro yos a pié. Pués a mi me quiére dar papílla Señóra huéſpeda, no ſábe, que quándo élla nació, yá yó comía pan con cortéça: Eſpere haré yó la mía.

V. Hazé, veámos.

P. Tres y dos ſon çínco, dos de blánco, y tres de tínto, y ótros tres de eſtópas y péz, úno de la ólla y dos de la Chólla, y Médio de la Cebólla, ócho ſon en tódos.

V. Málos años pára vos, pagádme aquí, ſinó, por el Síglo de mi Pádre que os aráñe éſſa cára.

P. Quitádo ſe ha el Gáto la rópa de la Hypocreſía, Señóra Hermitaña ténga Paciénçia, y no tánta codícia.

P. Come, Landlady; let us diſcourſe the Matter ſeriouſly let us not humour the Devil, by making a Noiſe, don't you remember the other Day, when I came this way with a Gentleman, who deſir'd you to give him a Piece of Meat, of the ſame, you had given him the other Day before, when he paſs'd this way, becauſe he ſaid he lik'd it very well, which that little Child hearing, ſaid, It would coſt us dear, if a Nag were to Die every Day.

H. It is true, It was then that Nag that Dy'd, but he was ſo Fat and ſo Fair, that he was better than Beef.

M. Good Landlady, tho' he be never ſo Fat, do not give us any of it now.

H. No, Sir, for it is all ſpent, do you think it could laſt till now?

M. Let us ſee what ſort of Wine you have.

H. The Wine is ſo good that it will carry a Man to Heaven, that uſes to Drink it.

P. How now, Miſtreſs, is it not enough to be an Inn-Keeper, but you muſt be a Heretick too?

H. VVhat I ſay is true, and I'll prove it, that good Wine carries Men to Heaven.

M. How ſo?

H Good VVine breeds good Blood, good Blood makes good Conditions, good Conditions produce good VVorks, and good Works carry Men to Heaven.

M. She has made out her Deſign effectually.

A. But that cannot be ſaid of this Wine.

H. Why?

A. Becauſe this is more like Vinegar and VVater.

H Water! No, by my Soul, it has no more in it, than he above put into it.

M. God never came to put VVater into it, for he made it without VVater.

P. Sir, I find you underſtand much of the matter. He above is her Husband, who is on the Top of the Houſe, and from thence puts Water into the Wine, with a long Pipe or Trunk.

A. May I Live and Die with you Peter, for you underſtand Buſineſs.

M. I thought ſhe had meant God by him above.

A. There is a Cheat in all things.

P. Unleſs it be in an Old Garment.

H Indeed you are in the Right, for the VVorld is very bad, and therefore my Husband and I have retir'd to this Inn that living well we may make a good end.

M. Do you call this a good Life, Landlady?

P. Yes, Sir, for that of Sodom and Gomorra was worſe.

H. Dont you think it is a good Life to be like Anchorites in this Deſert, what more did the Fathers in the VVilderneſs.

P. And ſo virtuous, that they rob all Paſſengers of what they have by way of Alms.

M. VVell, Peter, reckon with the Hoſteſs, and let us begon, for it is late.

P. Hoſteſs, what is owing in the whole?

H. Stay, and I'll reckon, Two for Straw, and for Straw Two Three for Barley, Five for VVine, one for Meat, and Two for Bacon, Twenty Royals in all.

P. VVhen the Reckoning is made, and the Mule Dead, Serving-Man get you home a Foot. VVhy, good Miſtreſs Hoſteſs, will you feed me with Pap? Don't you know that when you were born I could eat Cruſt? Now ſtay and I'll reckon.

H. Do ſo, let us ſee.

P. (a) Three and Two make Five, Two of VVhite, and Two of Red, and Three more for Tewe and Pitch, one for the Pot, and Two for the Head, and half a one for the Onion, make Eight in all.

H. A Miſchief on you, pay me, or by my Fathers Soul I'll ſcratch your Face for you.

P. The Cat has caſt off the (b) Garment of Hypocriſy, Miſtriſs Anchorite have Patience, and be not ſo coveteous.

V. No

(a) This is all a Piece of Spaniſh Banter.

(b) The Cat faining her ſelf an Anchorite, put on an Hermits VVeed, and many Beaſts and Creatures came to her for Ghoſtly Counſel, at laſt came the Mice, whom when ſhe ſpied, ſhe flung off the Garment, and fell upon them.

P. Sóbre buén haz de pája tía.
V. No, ſíno por ſus ójos bellídos lo harán.
P. Quéde con Diós tía, y el la hága buéna Hermitáña.

V. Ándad con Diós híjo, y el os hága mejór de lo que ſóys.

Diálogo Quínto éntre dos Amígos Yngléſes y dos Eſpañóles, que ſe Juntáron en la Lónja de Lóndres, en el qual ſe trátan múchas cóſas curióſas, y de gúſto, ſon los Yngleſes Egídio y Guillérmo, los Eſpañoles Diégo y Alónſo.

E. QUE hazéis Guillérmo ?
G. Yá lo véis Egídio.
E. Cómo eſtáys tan oçióſo ?
G. Quia nemo me conduxit.
E. Pués yó os combído a un ráto de buéna Converſaçión.
G. Adónde ?
E. Venídos conmígo, no yréys adónde yó os lleváre ?
G. Si me lo dezís priméro, porqué yr hómbre, ſin ſabér adónde, ſería neçedád.
E. Luégo no hazéis confiánça de mi ?
G. Si hágo, mas no ſabéis que no tódos los humóres ſon únos, y que podrá ſer, lo que a vos os da gúſto, enfadárme a mi.

E. Si, peró yó conózco yá vuéſtro humór, y me acomódo con el.
G. Con tódo éſſo, dezídme adónde me lleváys.
E. Vámos a la lónja, adónde me eſtán eſperándo dos Amígos Eſpañóles, muý diſcrétos, guſtaréis de ſu buéna Converſación.

G. Háblan Inglés ?
E. Un poquíto, peró pués vos entendéis bién el Eſpañol, y yó tanbién no impórta.
G Huélgome de yr, aunqué no ſéa, mas de por aprendér algúnas buénas fráſis Eſpañólas.
E. E'ſſas ſé yó que las tiénen buénas, porqué ſon de Tolédo dónde es el prímor de la Léngua Eſpañóla.
G. Son por ventúra aquéllos, que ſe ándan allí paſſeándo.
E. Los própios, vámos allá, Diós guárde a vuéſtras mercédes.
D. Y vénga con vuéſtas merçédes.
E. Páſſe adelánte la Converſaçion de que ſe tratáva aóra.
D. No paréze ſinó que la entendíſtes, que reſpondíſtes a élla ſin dáros el pié.
A. Tratávamos de las ſalutaciónes, que ſe úſan en Inglatérra y de las que ſe úſan en Eſpáña.
G. Quáles ſon mejóres ?
A. Ciérto en éſto, adónde quiéra, áy abúſos, quándo díze el Eſpañól Diós os guárde, en óra buéna eſtéys, Diós os de ſalúd, y el Inglés buénos días, buénas tárdes y ótras ſemejántes, yó apruévolas por buéna Salutaciónes.

G. Pués el múndo las repruéva, y tiéne por tóſcos a los que las úſan.
A. Y aún por éſſo ſe díze, que ánda el múndo al revéz, y no áy mejór ſeñál de que ello es buéno, de vér que el múndo lo repruéba.
G. De las demás Salutaciónes que os paréce ?
A. De las demás dígo, que quándo el Yngléſ pregúnta a ótro, cómo eſtáys, díze úna gran neçedad, y quándo el Eſpañól díze béſo os las mános, díze úna gran mentíra.
G. Meneſtér es que déys razón, de vuéſtra nuéva Opinión.
A. Aóra dezíme por vuéſtra vída, no os paréçe neçedad, al que vos véys buéno preguntárle cómo eſtá ?

H. Don't tell me a Tale of a Cock and a Bull, but pay me or I will pull off the Hairs of your Beard one by one.

P. God be with you Aunt, and may he make you a good Anchorite.
H. Farewel Son, and God make thee better than thou art.

The Firſt Dialogue between Two Engliſh Friends, and Two Spaniards, who met upon the Exchange in London: Which treats of ſeveral curious and diverting Matters. The Engliſh-Men are Giles and William, the Spaniards James and Alonſo.

G. WHat are you doing William ?
W. You ſee what I do Giles.
G. VVhy are you ſo idle ?
W. Becauſe no Body has hir'd me.
G. Then I invite you to a little good Chat.
W. VVhither ?
G. Come along with me, wont you go where I ſhall carry you ?
W. If you tell me firſt, for it were folly for a Man to go he knows not whither.
G. Then you dare not truſt me ?
W. Yes I dare, but don't you know, that all Humours do not agree, and it may ſo fall out that what pleaſes you may diſpleaſe me.
G. Yes, but I know your Humour, and I ſute my ſelf to it

W. However, tell me whither you are carrying me.
G. Let us go to the Exchange, where Two Spaniards my Friends and very diſcreet Men expect me, and you will be pleas'd with their Diſcourſe.
W. Can they ſpeak Engliſh ?
G. A very little, but ſince you underſtand Spaniſh well, and I too, it is no matter.
W. I am willing to go, tho' it be but to learn ſome good Spaniſh Phraſes.
G. Thoſe I know they have, and good ones, becauſe they are of Toledo, where the Prime Spaniſh is ſpoken.
W. Are thoſe they who are walking there ?
G. The very ſame, let us go thither. God ſave you Gentlemen
J. You are welcome Gentlemen,
G. Go on with the Diſcourſe you were upon.
J. It looks as if you had heard it, for you Anſwer'd to it pat without giving you the Cue.
A. We were talking of the manner of Saluting us'd in England, and of that which is us'd in Spain.
W. VVhich is the beſt ?
A. Indeed in this particular, there are Abuſes on both ſides, when the Spaniard ſays God keep you, a good Hour to you, God give you Health: And the Engliſhman good Morrow, or a good Evening, and the like, I look upon them as a good Salutations.
W. But the VVorld condemns them, and looks upon thoſe who uſe them as Clownish Perſons,
A. And therefore we ſay, the VVorld goes the wrong way, and there is no better Token of its being good, than the VVorlds condemning of it.
W. VVhat do you think of other Salutations.
A. Of the reſt I ſay, that when the Engliſhman asks another, how do you do, he talks Nonſence, and when the Spaniard ſays, I kiſs your Hands, he tels a great Lie.
W. You muſt give a Reaſon of your new Opinion.
A. Tell me pray now, don't you think it a folly to ask him that you ſee in Health how he does?

(a) As believing but Six Royals her Due.

246

G. Tenéys razón, peró podría tenér algún mal ſecréto que no ſe éche de vér.

A. Entónçes que remediáis vos, con preguntárle cómo eſtá. No ſería mejór, rogár a Diós, que le de ſalúd, cómo háze el ótro.

G. Aóra dezíd lo del Eſpañól.

A. El Eſpañól díço, que dizé mas mentíras éntre áño en éſte cáſo, que reáles da por Diós, porqué dezír al que encuéntra, béſo las mános a v. m. ſi habla de preſénte, bién vémos, que miénte, pués no ſe las béſa, ſi de futúro tár bién, porqué bién ſabémos, que quándo el ótro quiſiéſſe dárſelas, por muy amígo que fuéſſe, no ſe las querría el beſár.

G. Si peró paréce que es úna manéra de reconcimiénto de ſuperioridád al que ſe díze.

A. Aſſí es, peró éſſe reconocimiénto no éſta mas que en la lengua porqué el refrán díze, mános béſa hómbre que querría vér cortádas.

G. Yó os diré lo que ſucedió al propóſito, a un Cavalléro viéjo Eſpañól, con ótro móço, y fué, que cómo el móço por buéna criánça, le díxo al viéjo, ſupplíco a v m. me de las mános, que ſe las quiéro beſár, El viéjo confiádo en ſu ançianía, las alargó pára que ſe las beſaſſe, el ótro yá arrepentído ſe las aſió con las ſúyas y con muy buén donaire le díxo, Señór yó y v. m. a ótros dos.

G. El móço andúvo diſcréto en hazérlo aſſí, y el viéjo néçio, porqué bién ſabémos, que palábras de buéna criánça no obligan.

D. Aſſí es verdád, que éſſa çeremónia de beſár la máno, ſólo la déve el vaſállo al Señór.

A. Eſſa ſóla Sálva guárda tiéne nuéſtra coſtúmbre, que con dezír, béſo a v. m. las mános, paréçe que es dezír, reconóſco a v. m. por mi Señór, y yó por vuéſtro vaſállo.

E. Y que os paréçe de éſta coſtúmbre, que tenémos en Inglatérra de aſírnos las mános únos a ótros?

A. Dos mános aſídas, ſiémpre fué ſímbolo de amiſtád, peró dár los tirónes, que aquí ſe dán úno a ótro, téngolo por póca gravedád, y no ſé ſi díga por liviandád.

E. Antes paréçe que aquéllo es por mas Confirmación de la amiſtád.

A. Eſſa Confirmación ha de ſér con óbras, y no con ademánes ni tirónes, quánto mas que déve de avér múchos que con la máno aſída y tirándo, le déven de eſtár con el coraçón matándo.

G. Que dezís de la ótra de beſár los hómbres a las mugéres publicaménte.

A. Eſſa coſtúmbre túvo ſu princípio en Róma, en el tiémpo que éſſa floreçía, aunqué ſe inventó a diferénte propóſito del que aóra ſe úſa.

G. A que fin la inventáron?

A. Los Romános aborreçían tánto el Víno en las mugéres, que tenían léy, que condenáva a muérte a la que lo bevía, y porqué no lo pudiéſſen havér eſcondídaménte, tenían liçéncia ſus pariéntes de beſárlas pára que por el olfáto conoçiéſſen, ſi lo avián bevído.

G. Si aóra ſe uviéſſen de matár tódas las que lo béven, yó véo que quedáramos ſin mugéres.

E. No créo, que fuéra muy gran pérdida, ſegún nos ſon cáuſa de máles.

G. Yó pára mi téngo, que la mayór cáuſa de la diſſoluçión en algúnas mugéres de Inglatérra es éſta coſtúmbre de beſallas en público, porqué con éſto piérden la verguénça y al tocamiénto del béſo, les éntra un veréno que las inficióna.

A. Antes que ſe introduxéſſe éſta coſtúmbre en Róma, cuénta Tito Lívio, que deſterráron délla a un Senadór, perſóna de múcha cuénta, ſólo porqué beſó a ſu mugér delánte de úna híja ſúya.

G. De un eſtrémo viniéron a dár en ótro eſtrémo.

E. En Eſpaña no ſe úſa beſár los hómbres a las mugéres?

D. Si béſan los marídos a ſus mugéres, y éſto allá detrás de ſiéte parédes, dónde aún la luz no los puéda vér.

G Es porqué los Eſpañóles ſon demaſiadaménte celóſos.

A. No, ſinó, porqué ſómos tan trabiéſſos, que no hémos menéſtér éſſe apétito, pára hazér mil málos recádos, que ſería ſi tubiéſſemos éſſa Ocaſión.

G. Yó créo, que ántes cauſaría haſtío, y no andarían los hómbres tan golóſos, porqué vedamiénto es cáuſa del apetíto.

A. No es fuégo el de la concupicéncia, que ſe ahóga por echárle múcha matéria, ántes es cómo la hydropeſía, que miéntras mas el enférmo béve mas ſed tiéne.

D. Eſpecialménte éntre los Eſpañóles, que por ſér de Complexión coléricos, eſtá Vénus en ſu púnto.

G. Yó entiéndo éſſo al contrário, porqué Vénus conſíſte mas en humedád que en calór, pór lo quál entiéndo que mas áptos ſon pára ſemejánte exerçiçio los húmedos de Complexión, que los Coléricos que ſon de ſu naturaléza ſécos.

G. You are in the right, but he may have ſome private ayling, which does not appear.

A. Then what is he the better for your Asking him, tow he does, were it no better to pray to God, to give him Health as the other does.

W. Now tell that of the Spaniard.

A. The Spaniard I ſay in this Caſe tells more Lies in a Year, than he gives Reyals for Godſake, for to ſay to one, he meets, I kiſs your Hands, Sir, if he means the time preſent, we plainly ſee, he lies for he does not kiſs them: If of the time to come, the ſame, for we well know that if the other would give him his Hands to kiſs, tho' he were never ſo great a Friend, he would not kiſs them.

W. Yes, but it looks like a ſort of Acknowledgment of Superiority to him, it is ſaid to.

A. It is ſo, but this Acknowledgment is only in the Tongue: for the Proverb ſays, a Man kiſſes thoſe Hands, he would gladly ſee cut off.

J. I'll tell you a Paſſage that happen'd to this purpoſe, to an Ancient Spaniſh Gentleman with a Young one: And it was, that the Young Man to ſhow his Breeding ſaid to the Old Man, I entreat you, Sir, give me your Hands that I may kiſs them. The Old Man relying on his Age, held them out to him to kiſs, the other repenting, took hold of them with his Hands, and very pleaſantly ſaid to him, Sir, you and I will anſwer any Two.

W. The Young Man did very diſcreetly, the Old Man was a Fool, for we all know that Words of Compliment do not bind.

J. That is true, for the Ceremony of kiſſing the Hand, is only due from the Vaſſal to his Lord.

A. That is all that can be ſaid for our Cuſtom, for by Saying, Sir, I kiſs your Hands, it ſeems to imply, Sir, I own you for my Lord, and my ſelf for your Vaſſal.

G. And what do you think of the Coſtom, we have in England of ſhaking Hands.

A. Two Hands graſping one another, were always a Token of Friendſhip, but to ſhake them, as here they do one another, I look upon it as want of Gravity, and I know not whether I may not call it Lightneſs.

G. That That rather ſeems to be a greater Confirmation of Friendſhip.

A. That Confirmation ought to be in Actions, and not in Geſtures, nor tugging, and the rather, becauſe there are many who graſp and ſhake Hands, and in their Heart would kill one another.

W. What ſay you of that other Cuſtom, of Men kiſſing the Women publickly.

A. That Cuſtom firſt began in Rome, in its flouriſhing times, tho' it was invented for a different purpoſe, than it is now us'd.

W. For what purpoſe was it invented?

A. The Romans were ſo averſe to Womens drinking of Wine, that they had a Law which condemn'd any Woman to Death that drank it, and that they might not drink it in private, their kindred had Liberty to kiſs them, that they might diſcover by the Smell, whether they had drank any.

W. If all that drink it now were to be put to Death, I perceive we ſhould have no Women left.

G. I do not think it would be any great Loſs, conſidering how much Miſchief they are the Cauſe of.

W. I am of Opinion that the kiſſing of Women in publick in England, is the greateſt Cauſe of their Lewdneſs, becauſe by it they loſe their Modeſty, and with the Touch of the Kiſs a Poiſon enters, which infects them.

A. Before this Cuſtom was brought up in Rome, Livy tells us that they baniſh'd a Senator, a Perſon of great Note, only becauſe he kiſs'd his Wife before his own Daughter.

W. They fell from one Extreme into another.

G. Is it not the Faſhion in Spain, for Men to kiſs Women.

J. Yes, the Husbands kiſs their Wives, and that is ſo privately that the very Light may not ſee them.

W. That is becauſe the Spaniards are too jealous.

A. No, but becauſe we are ſo wamon, that we need not that Allurement to commit a Thouſand Faults, then what would it be if we had that Incentive.

G. I rather believe, it would give them a Loathing, and Men would not ſeek it ſo greedily, becauſe the Prohibition inflames the Deſire.

A. The Fire of Concupiſcence, is not of that Nature, as to be ſtifl'd by throwing on it of much matter, but rather like the Dropſy, that the more the Sick Perſon drinks, the more Thirſty he is.

J. Eſpecially among Spaniards, who being of a Cholerick Conſtitution, Vénus is in her full Force.

G. I take that quite the contrary, becauſe Vénus conſiſt rather in Moiſture than in Heat, wherefore I look upon thoſe that are of a moiſt Conſtitution to be fitter for that Exerciſe than the Cholerick, who are naturally dry.

A. Si

A. Si peró la humedád ſin calór, ſeriá cómo la tiérra ſin el Sol, que no es ſufiçiénte de ſi miſma a produzír coſa algúna.

D. Por éſſo, los Poétas, caſáron a Vénus con Vulcáno Diós del fuégo.

E. Mas ni Vulcáno ni Vénus ſin Céres y Báco no válen un (a) Cáco

G. Pués yó pára mi téngo, que en las tiérras mas frías, eſtá mas reconçentrádo el calór natural, y por éſſo con mayór aptitúd, en los que bíven en las tales regiones.

A. No es éſſe calór reconçentrádo, que ésta enel coraçón, el que es cauſa déſte fuégo, ſinó el que eſta en la ſángre y pártes exterióres.

G. Si peró no me negaréis, que el calór de la ſangre no proçéde del, del hígado.

A. Aſsí es verdád, peró no óbra éſte eféto en ſu Orígen y fuénte, ſinó quándo ſe ha derramádo por las vénas, y cómo la virtúd eſparzida, es mas fláca que quándo eſtá unída, ſi quándo lo eſtá es acometído el calór de ſu contrário el frío, y éſto con fuérça y vehemência, vénce y resfría de ſuérte que no puéde obrár ni hazér ſu éfeto.

D. Aſsí es, y la eſperiéncia de éſto ſe vée en los Cabrónes, que es animál luxurioſíſſimo, y en llevándole a tiérras frías, o no puéde bivír, o piérde múcho de ſu Poténcia.

G. Los Fáunos o Semicápras, que los Antíguos llamávan Médios dióſes cuéntan los Autóres, y Poétas, que éran en eſtrémo luxurióſos.

E. Es verdád, que úvo o áy táles hómbres en el Múndo llamádos Fáunos?

A. En la Vída de San Páblo primér Hermitaño ſe cuénta, que en aquél deſiérto dónde el hazía ſu Penitença, la hazía también Sánto António, el qual cómo por Revelación ſupiéſſe cómo eſtava allí cérca San Páblo, le fué a viſitár y en el camíno encontró con úno, el qual de la çínta pára arríba, tenía fórma perféta de hómbre, ſalvo que la cabéça tenía lléna de Corneçuélos pequéños, y de médio pára abájo éra Cabrón con muy lárgas Vedíjas, y piés de lo miſmo.

E. Habláva algúna cóſa?

A. Sí, que el Sánto le habló, y le preguntó quién éra, y el en un Lenguáje muy bárbaro, peró tal que el Sánto le púdo entendér, le reſpondió, que éra úno de los abitadóres de aquél deſiérto, a quién la çiéga gentilidád adoráva por dióſes, peró que éran Criatúras mortáles, y díxo mas al Sánto, que ſu gréy y génte le embiáva a el por embaxadór a rogárle al Sánto, que rógaſſe por tódos, al común Diós de tódas las gentes, que bién ſabían que avía baxádo del çiélo y héchoſe hómbre por redimír a los hómbres, y con éſto ſe fué por aquél deſiérto, con tánta ligeréza que en muy brevé eſpaçio, le perdió de viſta el Santo.

D. Yó he leýdo también, que al Emperadór Conſtantíno Mágno, le traxéron déſſos deſiértos, ótro vívo, y lo eſtúvo múchos Días, y deſpués de muérto, ſalado, le traxéron por múchas pártes del Múndo, pára que tódos le viéſſen.

G. Bolviéndo a nuéſtra priméra Plática, que os paréçe déſta ciudád de Londres?

A. A mi me paréçe, en veráno tiénda, y en inviérno contiénda.

G. Cómo ſe entiénde éſſo?

A. Dígo que paréçe, en veráno tiénda, porqué en aquél tiémpo, tódos los Señóres, Cavalléros, y Hidálgos, ſe sálen fuéra délla, y ſe ván a ſus aldéas a paſſár el veráno, quedándo en élla sólos los Oficiáles con ſus tiéndas abiértas.

G. Y porqué lo demás?

A. En inviérno ſon los terminos, y cómo acúden de tódo el Réyno a élla a ſus pléitos, eſtá hécha tóda contiénda o pléito, peró últra déſto es úna de las mejóres ciudádes del Múndo a lo que yó entiéndo.

G. Que dezís de tóda la Tiérra en generál?

A. Que es fertiliſſima y abundánte, de tódas las cóſas que élla produze, eſpeçiál de ganádos, que déven de ſér los mas gruéſſos y mejóres de el Múndo.

G. Y también de ſemíllas es muy fértil.

A. Aſsí es verdád, peró cómo no puéde avér cóſa perfeta en éſte Múndo, yá que en éſſo es abundánte, le fáltan ótras cóſas neçeſſárias, a la Vída Humána, que élla por la frialdád de ſu ſítio, no puéde produzír, y ansí tiéne neçeſſidád, de comunicación con ótros réynos.

A. Yes, but Moiſture without Heat would be like the Earth without the Sun, which is not ſufficient of it ſelf to produce any thing.

J. Therefore the Poets Marry'd Venus with Vulcan, the God of Fire.

G. But neither Venus nor Vulcan, without Ceres and Bachus are worth a doit.

W. For my part I am of Opinion that in the Coldeſt Countries, the Natural Heat is more united in its Center, and therefore there is a greater Diſpoſition in thoſe that live in ſuch Countries.

A. It is not that Heat, that is in the Heart, which is the Cauſe of this Fire, but that which is in the Blood and exterior Parts

W. Yes, but you cannot deny, but that the Heat of the Blood proceeds from the Heat of the Liver.

A. That is true, but it does not produce this Effect in its Origin and Source, but when it has ſpred it ſelf through all the Veins, and Virtue diſpers'd being weaker than when united; if when it is ſo, the Heat is ſet upon by his oppoſite the Cold, and that with Force and Vehemency, it overcomes and cools ſo effectually, that it cannot produce its Effect.

J. It is ſo, and the Experience of it, is ſeen in He goats, which is a moſt luxurious Beaſt, and when carry'd into cold Countries, either it cannot live, or loſes much of its Vigour.

W. The Faunes or half Goats, which the Ancients call'd Demi-Gods, Authors and Poets ſay, were wonderful Leacherous.

G. It is true, that there were or are any ſuch Men in the World as they call'd Faunes?

A. In the Life of St. Paul the Firſt Hermit, they write that in the ſame Deſert where he did penance, St. Anthony did the ſame, who knowing by Revelation that St. Paul, was not far off, he went to viſit him, and by the way met with one, who from the waſte upwards had the perfect Shape of a Man, only that his Head was full of little Horns, and from the Middle downwards he was a He-Goat, with very long Hair, and Feet accordingly.

G. Could he ſpeak?

A. Yes, for St. Anthony ſpoke to him, and ask'd him, who he was, and he in a very Barbarous Language yet ſuch as the Holy Man could underſtand, anſwer'd him, That he was one of the Inhabitants of that Deſert, whom the blind Gentiles worſhipp'd as Gods, but that they were Mortal Creatures, and further told the Saint that his People and Nation ſent him as their Ambaſſador, to deſire the Holy Man, to pray for them all to the Common God of all Nations, for they knew very well, that he came down from Heaven, and was made Man to redeem Mankind. This ſaid, he went away along the Deſert ſo ſwiftly, that the Holy Man ſoon loſt ſight of him.

J. I have read too, that they brought the Emperor Conſtantine the Great, another alive out of thoſe Deſerts, and he liv'd, and afterwards being dead and ſalted, they carry'd him thorow many parts of the World, that all Men might ſee him.

W. To return to our Firſt Diſcourſe, what do you think of the City of London?

A. In Summer to me it looks like a Shop, and in Winter a Debate.

W. How is this to be underſtood?

A. I ſay it looks like a Shop in Summer, becauſe at that time, all the Noble Men, Knights and Gentlemen, leave it, and go to their Country-Houſes, to ſpend the Summer, and only the Tradeſmen remain with their Shops open.

W. And why the reſt?

A. The Terms are in Winter, and People reſorting to it from all parts of the Kingdom to their Law-Sutes, it is nothing but Strife and Contention, but laying this aſide; it is one of the beſt Cities in the World, in my Opinion.

W. What ſay you of the whole Country in general?

A. That it is moſt fruitful, and abounding in all things it produces, eſpecially Cattle, which I look upon as the largeſt and beſt in the World.

W. It is alſo very fruitful in Grain.

A. It is very true, but as there cannot be any thing perfect in this World, ſo tho' it abounds in theſe things, yet it wants other things, neceſſary for Humane Life, which it cannot produce by reaſon of the Coldneſs of its Situation, and therefore ſtands in need of Trade with other Nations.

(a) Cáco, Is a made Word for Rhimes ſake, and ſignifies nothing:

G. Que cósas son éssas, que dezís que le fáltan, que yó créo que no ay cósa en el Múndo, que en élla no se halle.

A Es ássi verdád. peró es comunicádo de ótros réynos, que bién véys vos, que en élla no se cría O'ro ni Pláta, no se cóje Vino, ni Azéite, Açúcar, Séda, Espeçería, ni Frútas de las Regaladas, cómo son Cídras, Limónes, Límas, Naránjas, Granádas, Alméndras, y ótros mil géneros déllas, muý neçessários para el regálo de las géntes, y cómo dígo déstas pócas cósas, pudiéra dezír de ótras múchas que déxo.

G. Si, peró tenémos ótras, que sírven en lugár déssas cósas, y ansí no las echámos ménos, cómo çervéza por víno, mantéca por Azéite, y ótras semejántes.

A. Con tódo esso, sería inposíble podér passár ésto Réyno sin comunicación con ótro. Lo que no tiéne España, que sóla éntre tódas las Provínçias del Múndo, podría passar sin Comunicación con ótra, por produzír, déntro de sí tódas las cósas necessárias, a la Vída Humána.

G Pués, bién os podré yó dezír úna cósa, que España no produze.

A. Qual es?

G. Especería, qué al fin lo traéis de la India.

A. Tenéys razón, que éssa sóla le fálta a España, peró, cómo vos dixístés, tanbién se cria en élla, con que se podría suplír éssa fálta.

G. Que es?

A. En lugár de Pimiénta, se cría úna Yérua que llamámos Pimiénto, cúya simiénte es de tánta fuérça, y de el própio efécto que la Pimiénta, que viéne de Indias, en lugár de Clávos, úsan múchos de los A'jos, y sino fuésse por un mal olorzíllo que tiénen, son mas sabrósos que essótros, de Açafrán gran Cantidád se cóje en España, Gengíbre de pócos días acá, se a començádo a plantár en élla, y se da bién.

G. Dezíme aóra, que os paréce, del tráto de nuéstra génte?

A. Generalménte hablándo, tóda la Génte Inglésa, es benína, y amoróla, afáble, alégre, y Amígos de Regozíjos, y Fiéstas, agénos de tóda Melancolía, cómo aquéllos, en quién predomína el humór sanguíno; peró fuéra désto, he notádo en tódos en general tan insaciáble Avarícia, que desdóra tódas sus Virtúdes.

G. Y de las Mugéres que dezís?

A. Las Mugéres generalménte hablándo, piénso que són las mas hermósas del Múndo, porqué tiénen tódas tres grácias particuláres, para sérlo, que son en estrémo Bláncas, Colorádas, y Rúbias, y la que con éstas grácias que son generáles a tódas, aciérta a tenér buénas faiciónes, es acabáda en hermosúra: Peró tanbién os dígo con la mísma generalidád, que tiénen tres fáltas.

G. Quáles son por vída vuéstra?

A. No las quisiéra dezír, por no caér, en desgrácia con ellas.

G. Yo sálgo por fiadór que no cairéis.

A. Tenéis razón, que quién núnca subió, no puéde caér, peró las tres fáltas son, pequéños O'jos, grándes Bócas, no buéna téz en los Róstros, y désto es la cáusa el áyre tan frío y sutíl, que córre en éstas pártes, que se les cúrte y por ésto es buéna la Invençión de las Mascarillas, aunqué yó entiéndo que no déve de bastár.

G. Vos lo avéys disputádo muy bién, y yó os quédo muy aficionádo Servidór, y assí os suplíco, que el tiémpo que estuviéredeys en esta tiérra os sirvais de mi.

A. Yó os dóy múchas grácias, por el Ofreçimiénto, y quédo yó no ménos a vuéstro servício, y porqué se va haziéndo tárde, nos vámos recogiendo a las posádas que yá es óra.

G. Béso a vuéstas merçédes las mános.

D. Yo las de vuéstas merçédes.

W. What things are those you say, it wants, for I believe there is not any thing in the World, but may be found in it.

A. That is true, but it is brought from other Countries, for you see it produces neither Gold nor Silver, nor Wine, Oil, Sugar, Silk, Spice, nor the most delicate sorts of Fruit, as Citrons, sweet and sower Lemons, Orenges, Pomegranats, Almonds, and a Thousand other sorts of them, very necessary for the Delight of Man, and as I mention these few things, I could speak of many more which I omit.

W. Yes, but we have others, which serve instead of those things and so we have no miss of them, as Beer for Wine, Butter for Oil, and the like.

A. Yet this Kingdom could not possibly subsist without Commerce with others, which is not so with Spain for that alone of all the Countries in the World, could subsist without Commerce with any other, because it produces within its self, all things necessary for Human Life.

W. Yet I can tell you one thing, which Spain affords not.

A. what is it?

W. Spice for you fetch it from the Indies.

A. You are in the right, for Spain wants nothing but that, yet as you said, there grows that in it, which may supply this Want.

W. What is it?

A. Instead of Pepper there grows a Plant, which we call Pimiénto, that is Guinea-Pepper, whose Seed is as strong, and has the very same Effect, as the Pepper that comes from the Indies. Instead of Cloves, many use Garlick, and if it were not for a little Ill Smell they have, they are more savory then the other. Abundance of Saffron grows in Spain. Ginger has been planted of late, and it thrives well.

W. Tell me now, what do you think of our Behaviour.

A. Generally Speaking, all the English are Courteous and Loving, Affable, Merry, and Lovers of Sports and Feasts, free from all Melancholly, as those in whom the Sanguin Humour is predominant; but on the other Hand I have observ'd such an insatiable Avarice in them all as Sullies all their other Virtues.

W. And what do you say of the Women?

A. The VVomen generally speaking, I think the bewtifullest in the VVorld, for they have all the Three special Graces, which make them so, they are VVonderful VVhite, Red and Fair, and she that besides these Graces, which are general to all, happens to have good Features, is Beautiful in Perfection; but I must also tell you as generally, that they have Three Faults.

W. VVhat are they I pray you?

A. I would not willingly tell them least I incur their Displeasure.

W. I will be bound for you that you shall not.

A. You are in the Right, for he who never got up can never fall, but the Three Faults are little Eyes, great Mouths, and no smooth Skin on the Face, and the Cause of it is the Cold and sharp VVind that blows in these parts, which tans them, and therefore Masks were well invented, tho' I think they have not all the Success that could be wish'd.

W. You have laid it down very well, and I am much your Affectionate Servant, and therefore intreat you that whilst you are in this Country, you command me.

A. I give you many Thanks, for your Offer, and I am no less at your Service, and since it grows late, let us draw towards our Lodgings, for it is time.

W. I kiss your Hands, Gentlemen.

J. And I yours, Gentlemen.

Diálogo Sexto, éntre un Sargénto y un Cábo de Esquádra, y un Soldádo, en el qual se tráta, de las cósas pertenecientes á la Miliçia, y de las calidádes que déve tenér un buén Soldádo, con múchos dichos graçiosos y buénos quéntos.

Sa. ADónde camína Señór Soldádo?
So. AO Señór Sargénto házia la tabla, si v. m. no mánda ótra cósa.
Sa. Lléva múchos Dinéros que jugár?
So. Mi Pága enterita cómo la reçebí, que no he osádo gastár un Real, por no quirárselo al juégo.
Sa. Ésso es de buénos Cofrádes, ántes fálta pára el cuérpo que para el juégo.
So. A que Féria puédo yó ýr, en que mas gáne, pués aventúro con quátro Ducados ganár quatro-ciéntos.
Sa Y si el dádo díze mal, allá ván Roçín y Mançánas.
So. Señór o ríco pinjádo, o muérto descalabrádo.
Sa. Ésta es la cuénta de los perdídos.
So. Cuérpo de tal Señór, que híjos o Mugér téngo yó que mantenér?
Sa. Si peró ne fuéra mejór vestírse que jugár el Dinéro?

So. Yó he hécho mi cuénca, y he menestér Camísas, Jubón, Sáyo, Calçónes, Médias, y çapátos, y Sombréro, y en quátro Ducádos, no áy pára tódo, pués comprár úno nuévo, y traér lo ótro viéjo, no paréçe bién, quiéro jugár, quiçá ganaré pára comprárlo tódo.
Sa. Y si los piérde, quedárse ha sin lo úno y lo ótro.
So. Señór, préso por mil, préso por mil y quiniéntos, tódo es estár préso, diré entonçes, Desnúdo naçí, y Desnúdo me hállo y Desnúdo moriré.
Sa. Dígame, sabe quándo entrámos de guárdia?
So. E'sta nóche le tóca a la Compañía.
Sa. Con que A'rmas sírve con Pica, o Arcabúz?
So. Con un Mosquéte de siéte pálmos.
Sa. Pués cómo díze, que no sacó mas que quátro Ducádos teniéndo siéte de pága.
So. U'no me descontáron de pólvora y cuérda los contadóres, ótro he dádo a mi Camaráda pára la despénsa désta semána, y ótro que se me quitó de los Socórros.
Sa. Jústa está la cuénta.
So. Es cómo la del tríllo, cáda piédra en su agujéro.

Sa. Quántos son de Camaráda?
So. Tres y conmígo quátro.
Sa. Tántos piés tiéne un Gáto.
So. çínco con Rábo.
Sa. Tiénen buén Aloxamiénto?
So. Tal séa la salúd del aposentadór que nos le dió

Sa. Cómo, no es buéno?
So. Peór es úna çáhurda de lechónes.
Sa. Tiénen Huéspeda hermósa?
So. Hermósa Señór Sargénto, yó piénso que los Diáblos son Serafínes en su comparaçion.
Sa. Buéno es el encareçimiénto, que tálle tiéne?

So E'lla es mas viéja que Matusalén, mas arrugáda que úna Pássa, mas súzia que úna Mósca, mas Séca que un Palo, diénte y Muéla, cómo por la máno, la bóca Sumída, cómo O'jo de Cúlo, los O'jos el úno Tuérto, y el ótro que no se le sacarán con un Garaváto, finalménte tóda élla es un retráto de la Embídia.
Sa. E'lla tal será único remédio cóntra luxúria.
So. Pués es lo buéno, que con tódas éstas graçias se aféita y repíca.
Sa. Y v. m. no le háze el amór?
So. Amór, o que bóto a tal, no la acométa un Tígre.

Sa. A'nde, que pára un lávadiéntes no será mála.

So. Mas me los quiéro traér súzios que no mal lavádos.
Sa. Mas yó créo, que es cómo dízen, quién díze mal de la Yégua, ésse la lléva.
So. Par diéz, no sóy sinó cómo la Zórra, que quándo no púdo alcançár las úvas. díxo úvas de Párra, ansí cómo así no las avía gána.

The Sixth Dialogue, between a Sergeant, a Corporal, and a Soldier, which speaks of Martial Affairs, and the Qualities requisite to make a good Soldier, with many Witty Expressions and pretty Tales.

Sa. WHither are you going Master Soldier?
So. Towards the Gaming Table Master Sergeant, unless you have any other Service to command me.
Sa. Have you much Mony to play away?
So. My whole Pay as I receiv'd it, for I durst not spend one Royal, least I should take away so much from Play.
Sa. That is like a good Companion, let the Body want rather the Play.
So. What Fair can I go to, where I may get more, for with Four Dukats, I have a Chance to win Four Hundred.
Sa. If the Die runs Ill, there (a) goes Horse and Apples.
So. Sir, either Hang rich, or Die with a Broken Head.
Sa. This is a Saying of Rakes.
So. Ads bobs, Sir, what Children or Wife have I to keep?

Sa. Ay, but were it not better to cloath your self, then to play away your Money?
So. I have made my Reckning, I want Shirts, Doublet, Coat, Breeches, Stockings, Shooes, and Hat, and Four Dukats is not enough for all this, then to buy one thing new, and wear another old, is not handsome, I will Play, perhaps I may win to buy all.
Sa. And if you loose, you must go without one or other.
So. Sir, over Shoes over Boots, I can but be in, and then will I say, Naked I was Born, Naked I am, and Naked I shall Dye.
Sa. Tell me, do you know when we are to Mount the Guard?
So. It is the Companies Turn to Night.
Sa. What Arms do you carry a Pike or Musket?
So. A Musket Seven Spans long.
Sa. Then why did you say, you had but Four Ducats, when your Pay is Seven?
So. One Ducat was stopp'd by the Paymaster for Pouder and Match, another I gave to my Comerade for this Week's Expences, and the other was deducted for Subsistance.
Sa. The Reckoning is very right.
So. As smooth as a Threshing Floor, every Stone in its Hole.
Sa. How many of you Comrade together?
So. Three, and I make Four.
Sa. So many Feet has a Cat.
So Five with the Tail.
Sa Have you good Quarters?
So. I wish the Quartermaster who provided them may thrive accordingly.
Sa. How so, are they not good?
So. A Pig sty is worse.
Sa. Have you a handsome Landlady?
So. Handsome Master Sergeant, I believe the Devils are Seraphims compar'd with her.
Sa. You have said the most of it. What sort of Figure does she make?
So. She is as Old as Mathusalem, as full of Wrinkles as a Raisin, as Nasty as a (b) Fly, as Lean as a Rake, as for Teeth or Grinders she has no more than my Hand, her Mouth sunk in like an Arse Hole, her Eyes one of them Blind, the other cannot be pull'd out with a long Hook. In short, she is the very Picture of Envy.
Sa She must needs be an Antidote against Treachery.
So. But the best of it is that notwithstanding all these good Qualities she Paints and Dresses.
Sa. And do you not make Love to her?
So. Love, I vow to God, a Tiger would not venture upon her.
Sa. Go your ways she is good enough to wash your Teeth, and spit out again.
So. I had rather they should be foul than ill wash'd.
Sa. I am apt to believe, it is as they say, he that discommends the Mare carries her away.
So. By my hand I am rather like the Fox, who when he could not reach the Grapes, said, However I had no Stommack to Grapes.

Sa. Here

(a) A Horse laden with Apples passing a River, was carried away, and so both lost.
(b) Flies that feed on Filth, and breed out of Corruption.

Sa. Aquí viéne el Cábo de Eſquádra. Veámos que nuévas tráe. De dónde viéne Señór Cabo de Eſquádra.

Ca. De la bandéra.

Sa. Quéda allí el Alférez?

C. No Señór, que eſtá en cáſa de el Capitán.

So. Al Capitán y Alférez déxo yó aóra en cáſa del Maéſtre de Cámpo.

Sa. Que nuévas áy por allá?

Ca. Nuévas ciértas pócas, Mentíras Infinítas.

Sa. Que ſe díze aóra en el cuérpo de Guárdia?

Ca. Unos dízen, que nos embarcarémos pára corrér la cóſta, ótros que que darémos aquí de preſídio, ótros que yrémos a Irlanda, no áy quién lo entiénda

Sa. Tódo éſſo es adivinár, cáda úno lo que deſéa, o le eſtá bién.

Ca. Cómo dezía el ótro Capitán, los Soldádos ſon Profétas del Diablo.

Sa. Y tenía razón, porqué aſsí cómo el Diáblo no ſabe lo por venír, ſinó que lo conjetúra, aſsí hazen éllos: Y entre mil Conjetúras que házen, algúna han de açertár.

Ca. Tanbién ſe ſuéna que el Réy, árma pára ir cóntra Ynglatérra.

So. A'rme en hóra buéna, que pára éſſo ſómos Soldádos.

Ca. Tiéne razón, que nuéſto ofício pára la guérra es, que no pára la Páz.

Sa. Señór Cábo de Eſquádra, váya dígale al atambór que tóque a recogér la Guárdia.

Ca. Yó vóy aguárdeme aquí v. m.

So. Señór Sargénto déxeme yr a jugár un ráto ántes que ſe méta la Guardia.

Sa. Tánto le péſa éſſe Dinéro, que tal priéſſa tiéne por echárlo de ſi.

So. Yó mas querría doblállo.

Sa. No ſábe cómo díze un refrán, ſi quiéres tenér Dinéros tenéllos.

So. De que ſírve tenér pócos, o Cæſar o náda.

Sa. Váya con Diós, y párelo a buén Púnto.

So. Diós me líbre de un Azár.

Sa. Y a mi de vellácos en quadrílla, y villá nos en Gavílla, de Móça Adivína, y de viéja Latína, de Lódos al caminár, y de lárga enfermedád, de Párafo de Legíſta, de Infra de Canoníſta, de Etçétera de Eſcriváno, y de Réçipe de Médico, de razón de díz que peró y ſinó, y de Senténçia de conqué.

Ca. Yá tóca la cája a recogér.

Sa. Vámos éntre tánto a buſcár al Sargénto Mayór, pára que me de el nómbre.

Ca. El eſtará en caſa del Generál.

Sa. Vámos allá, que tódo es camíno, es meneſtér que ésta nóche áya muy buéna guárdia.

Ca. Porqué áy algúna ſoſpécha?

Sa. A'y nuévas de Enemígos, y aſsí es neçeſſário doblár las Póſtas y Reforçárlas, y ponér dos o tres Centinélas perdídas y que la Rónda y Contra rónda viſíten amenúdo.

Ca. Pída v. m. al Sargénto Mayór, que nos den léña hárta, pára que áya buéna Lúmbre en el Cuérpo de Guárdia.

Sa. Ansí ſerá, y tódas las A'rmas eſtarán muy a púnto, que hómbre aperçevído, médio combatído.

Ca. Meneſtér ſerá dar a los Soldádos Pólvora, Cuérda, y Bálas.

Sa. Tódo ſe les dará y órden a los coſelétes que no les fálte piéça.

Ca. Qual es la mejór A'rma de las que uſámos en la Guerra?

Sa. La Píca es la Réyna de las A'rmas.

Ca. Póco valdrían las Pícas, ſino ſe guarneciéſſen con la Arcabuçería, que dáña al Enemígo déſde afuéra.

Sa. Ménos valdría la arcabuzería, ſi deſpués de dáda la Cárga, no tuviéſſe adónde reparárſe de la Cavallería Enemíga, y de tódos los demás que le procuráren dañár.

Ca. Si, peró bién vémos que Mayór dáño ſe le haze al Enemígo con la Arcabuzería, y Moſquetería, que con las Pícas.

Sa. Tódo éſſe Dáño es póco en Comparaçión del que ſe reçíbe al desbarate de un Eſquadrón o Exérçito, el qual le ſiguiría luégo con la Cavallería, ſi las Pícas que es una murálla fuérte, no le puſiéſſen a la defénſa.

Ca. Por éſſo compáran a un Eſquadrón bién formádo, al Cuérpo Humáno dónde los bráços, y Piérnas, que ſon los que óbran ſon los Arcabuzéros y las Pícas, que eſtán ſiémpre fírmes, y es de dó viéne virtúd a tódas las pártes del Eſquadrón, el Cuérpo y Coraçón.

Sa. Here comes the Corporal, let us ſee what News he brings. Whence come you Mr. Corporal?

Co. From the Colours.

Sa. Is the Enſign there?

Co. No Sir, he is at the Captains Houſe.

So. I left the Captain and Enſign but now at the Colonels.

Sa. What News is there?

Co. Very little true News, but Abundance of Lyes.

Sa. What do they ſay now upon the Guard?

Co. Some ſay, we ſhall imbark to ſcour the Coaſt, others that we ſhall ſtay here in Garriſon, others that we ſhall go for Ireland, no Man can made Head or Tail of it.

Sa. All that is but gueſſing, as every Man would have it, or as is for his Conveniency.

Co. As a certain Captain ſaid, Soldiers are the Devils Prophets.

Sa. He was in the right, for as the Devil does not know, what is to come, but gueſſes at it, ſo do they: And among a Thouſand Conjectures they make, ſome one muſt hit right.

Co. It is alſo reported that the King is arming to invade England.

So. Let him Arm in Gods Name, for that is the Buſineſs of us Soldiers.

Co. You are in the right, for our Buſineſs is War and not Peace.

Sa. Corporal, go bid the Drum beat to the Guard.

Co. I go, ſtay for me here.

So. Mr. Sergeant, let me go play a while before the Guard mounts.

Sa. Is your Money ſo heavy, that you are in ſuch haſte to be rid of it?

So. I had rather double it.

Sa. Don't you know the Proverb ſays, if you will have Money keep it.

So. What ſignifies a little. I'll be Cæſar or nothing.

Sa. Go in Gods Name, and ſet it upon a good Chance.

So. God keep me from a Nick.

Sa. (a) And me from a pack of Knaves, and a Gang of Clowns, from a Fortunetelling Maid, and an Old Woman that ſpeaks Latin, from Dirty Travelling, and from long Sickneſs; from a Lawyers Pleadings, from a Canoniſts References, from a Scriveners & cæteras; from a Phiſitians Recipes; from they ſay, but and if and from a Sentence with a Proviſo.

Co. The Drum beats to Guard.

Sa. Let us go ſeek out the Major, that he may give me the Word.

Co. It is likely he is at the Generals.

Sa. Let us go thither, for it is all in our way, it is requiſite there be a good Guard to Night.

Co. Why, is there any thing to fear?

Sa. There is News of the Enemy, and therefore it is neceſſary to double the Guards, and to place Two or Three Sentinels Perdue, and that the Rounds and Counter-Round go about thick.

Co. Sir, do you deſire the Major, to order us Wood enough, that there may be a good Fire upon the Corps de Gard.

Sa. It ſhall be ſo, and all the Arms ſhall to be very ready, for fore warn'd fore arm'd.

Co. The Soldiers muſt have Powder, Match, and Bullets given them.

Sa. All ſhall be given them, and Orders to the Men in Armour that they want no Piece of it.

Co. Which is the beſt Weapon we uſe in War?

Sa. The Pike is the Queen of Weapons.

Co. Pikes would be worth little, were not they lin'd with Shot, which does the Enemy harm at a Diſtance.

Sa. The Shot would be worth leſs, if after Firing their Vollies, they had not ſomething to cover them from the Enemies Horſe, and from all others, that ſhould endeavour to hurt them.

Co. Yes, but we plainly ſee there is more harm done by the Musketiers and Firelocks than by the Pikes.

S. All that Dammage is inconſiderable if compar'd with what is receiv'd, when a Battallion, or Army is routed, which would be ſoon done by the Horſe, did not the Pikes like a ſtrong Wall interpoſe to defend them.

C. Therefore it is that a Battallion well drawn up is compar'd, to a Mans Body, where the Arms and Legs which are thoſe that Act are the Musketiers, and the Pikes which always ſtand faſt and give Strength to all parts of the Batallion are compar'd to the Body and Heart.

Sa. Aſsí

(a) A Prayer to be deliver'd from all Trouble, as Knaves and Clowns, Talkative Wenches, impertinent Old Women, bad Ways, Diſeaſes, Law-Sutes of all ſorts, Phyſick, impertinent Talk, and any ſort of Sentence.

Sa. Así es, y aún si miráis la fórma de un Esquadrón de los Ordinários formádo, con sus mangas, hallaréis en el, la mísma forma del Cuérpo Humano.

Ca. Que pártes se requiére que ténga un buén Soldádo.

Sa. Múchas, y múchos escriviéron de élla matéria, peró las mas neçessárias y ordinarias, yó las diré. El Soldádo, quánto a lo primêro, déve sér muy honrôso, porqué Soldádo sin hónra sería de ningún provécho, pués élla es la espuéla que le ha de hazér obrár lo que no bástan prémios, ni ruégos, ni amenázas de sus Oficiáles.

Ca. Por ésso, déve el Soldádo traér, siémpre escríta en la frénte aquélla coplílla que díze, por la hónra pon la vída, y pon las dos, hónra y vída por tu Diós.

S. Lo Segúndo déve sér el Soldádo valiénte no temerôso ni cobárde.

C. El Soldádo cobárde mas própiaménte se podría llamár espantájo, al qual quándo los páxaros le piérden úna vez el miédo, asiéntan encíma del, o cómo el Réy de las Ránas.

S. Cómo es ésso del Réy de las Ránas?

C. Dízen, que (a) en tiémpo de Maricastáña, las Ránas desseáron tenér Réy cómo tódas las demás Naçiónes, y pidiéron a Jupiter que éra Réy de los dióses que les diésse Réy, el qual viéndo su neçedád quíso burlár déllas, y díxoles que pára un día señalado les daría Réy. Ellas le esperávan con grande alegría, y venído aquél día, saliéron tódas, de sus cásas, muy compuéstas, cómo convenía pára reçebír a su Réy y pusiéronse en la superfície del água esperando. En este tiémpo Jupiter arrojó desde el çiélo, un gran madéro, y dió con el, en la lagúna dónde, éllas estávan, tan gran gólpe, y hízo tan gran ruído que éllas fuéron tódas turbádas, y asombrádas, y únas por aquí, y otras por allí, cáda úna huyó a su cása, sin osár llegár, a hazér a su Réy el devido acatamiénto, ni salír fuéra en múchos días. Quedóse el madéro nadándo encíma del água, y éllas con tánto temór de vér cósa tan grânde, que ninguna osáva salír fuéra de su cása, y allí morían de hambre, hásta que póco a póco fué saliéndo la mas esforçáda, y siguiéndola las demás, cáda día yvan perdiéndo mas el temór, y se yvan llegándo çérca de su Réy, viéndole a el tan mánso y que no se movía, ni les dezía mála palábra. Al fin tánto continuáron y (cómo la múcha conversación es cáusa de menosprécio) se llegáron a su Réy y viéndo tódas lo que éra, saltáron encíma del, y començáron a chirriár y dar grándes risádas, haziéndo búrla de su Réy, y de su temor passádo. Bolviéron pués, a insistír a Júpiter que en tódo cáso les diésse Réy no tan mánso, sinó que fuésse justiciéro. Júpiter viéndo su néçia porfía les embió por Réy a la Ciguéña, la qual Réyna hatta óy éntre éllas, çebándose y comiéndolas cada día, en péna de su lóca petición, pués pudiéndo vivír líbres quisiéron mas hazér se éslavas y mas un Réy cruél, que manso y benígno.

Sa. No ha estádo málo el cuénto, y mejór es la moralidád.

Ca. Dexémos ésso aóra, y prosíga v. m. adelánte con su plática del buén Soldado.

Sa Lo tercéro que ha de tenér ha de sér gran sufridór de trabájos, y pára ésto déve ser de rézia Complexión.

Ca. Y al que ésso no tuviére, el Diablo le trúxo a la Guérra, cómo dizen de el móço vergonçóso, que el Diáblo le trájo a Palaçio.

Sa. Déve tanbién ser muy obediénte a sus Oficiáles, y que hága de buéna gána y sin mostrár mal Róstro lo que le ordenáren siéndo del Servício de su Principe.

Ca. Quítenle a la Milícia la obediénçia en los Soldádos, y bolvérse ha en Confusión Babilónica.

Sa. Otras múchas particularidádes, ha de tenér el buén Soldádo, que yó no quiéro tratar aóra, quién las quisiére vér, léa quátro o çínco tratádos que ándan déllo en Léngua Española, úno del Capitán Martín de Eguilúz y ótro de Escaláute, ótro de Don Fernándo de Córdova, y ótro de Don Bernardíno de Mendóza, que allí lo verá bién pintádo.

Ca. Aquí buélve nuéstro Mosquetérro; muy cabizbájo viéne, perdído déve de avér.

Sa. A Señór Soldádo úna palábra.

So. Déxeme v. m. Señór Sargénto, bástame mi mála ventúra.

Sa. Que ha sído, perdióse tóda el Armáda?

So. No topára yó aquí aóra con el vellâco que éste juégo inventó?

Sa. Que le quería dezír?

So. Reniégo del Diáblo, sinó le avía de hazér mas tajadas que púntos se han echádo en los dádos des pués que el los invénto.

Sa. E'sso me paréce echár la cúlpa del ásno a la albárda, quién le mandó a v. m. jugár?

S. It is so, and further if you observe the shape of a Battallion as usually drawn up with its Pelotons, you will find in it the very shape of a Human Body.

C. What parts are requisite to make a good Soldier?

S. Many, and many have writ on that Subject, but the most necessary and obvious I will tell you. A Soldier in the first Place must have a great deal of Honour, because a Soldier without Honour would be useless, for that is the Spur which pricks him on to do that, which neither rewards, nor intreaties, nor threats of his Officers, would prevail with him to do.

C. Therefore a Soldier ought always to have those Lines written on his Forehead, which say, lay down your Life, for your Honour, and both Life and Honour for your God.

Sa. Secondly, a Soldier must be valiant, and not fearful or a Coward.

Co A Cowardly Soldier might better be call'd a Scarcrow, which when once the Birds have learnt no to fear, they sit upon it, or else he is like the King of the Frogs.

Sa. How is that of the King of Frogs?

Co. They say, that in old times, when the Beasts could speak, the Frogs desir'd to have a King, as other Nations had, and they desir'd Jove, who was King of the Gods, to give them a King, who perceiving their Folly, thought to make Sport with them, and told them that by a Day appointed, he would give them a King. They expected it, with much Joy, and when the Day was come, they all came out of their Houses, in great Order as was fit to receive their King, and waited on the Superficies of the Water. Then Jove cast a great Log of Wood down from Heaven into the Water, where they were, which made such a Splash and Noise, that they were all in a fright and amaz'd, and some fled one way, and some another, to their Houses, without daring to draw near to pay their Respects to their King, or to come abroad for several Days. The Log lay swimming in the Water, and they so full of fear, to see such a great thing, that none of them durst come out of their Houses, and were ready to starve in them, till by Degrees the Boldest ventur'd out, and the rest following, they daily grew less and less afraid, and began to draw near to their King, seing him so tame, and that he said not a hard Word to them. In short, they went on so long, and much Familiarity breeding Contempt, came up to their King, and then perceiving what he was, they all leapt upon him, and began to croak and laugh out, scoffing at their King. This done, they again press'd Jove to give them a King by all means, and not so tame; but that would execute Justice. Jove perceiving their Foolish Importunity gave them the Storck for a King, who still reigns over them, feeding on, and eating them up daily, to punish them for their mad Request, because being free, they rather chose to be Slaves, and that to a cruel King before a mild and meek one.

Sa. The Tale is not amiss, and the Moral is better.

Co. Let us leave that at present, and do you go on with your Discourse, concerning a good Soldier.

Sa. In the Third Place he must endure much Fatigue, and to this Purpose ought to be of a strong Constitution.

Co. And the Devil brought him to the War, who wants that Quality, as they say of a Modest Youth, that the Devil carried him to Court.

Sa. He must also be very obedient to his Officers, and fulfill all their Commands willingly, and without shewing any Dislike, when they are for his Princes Service.

Co. Deprive Martial Discipline of Obedience in Soldiers, and it will be like the Confusion of Babel.

Sa. A good Soldier is to have many other Qualifications, which I will not now speak of, whosoever desires to see them, may read four or five Treatises, there are of it in Spanish, one writ by Captain Martin de Eguilúz, another by Escalánte, another by Don Fernando de Córdova, and another by Don Bernardíno de Mendoza, where he will find all punctually set down.

Co. Here comes our Musketter again, he bangs down his Head, I suppose he has lost.

Sa. Mr. Soldier a Word with you.

So. Let me alone Mr. Sergeant, my Ill Luck is Plague enough to me.

Sa. What is the matter, is the whole Cargo lost?

So. I would I could find the Knave that invented this Game.

Sa. What would you say to him?

So. I renounce the Devil if I would not cut him into more Bits, than there have been Casts thrown on the Dice, since he invented them.

Sa. That to me looks like laying the Fault of the Ass on the Pack-Saddle. Who bid you play, Sir?

So El
